Volatility — Temporary Market Peculiarity Can Be Conquered

The greatest asset belonging to the sight-unseen marketplace is instant liquidity. Of course, this could only be accomplished by the acceptance of third party grading. And now that the main grading services (PCGS, NGC, and ANACS) are firmly entrenched throughout the industry (other, newer services are trying to get a foothold; PCI and HALLMARK), it is clear that possibly, just one ingredient is still missing. The one missing element is consistency. There is a lack of consistent Bidding which causes the volatility that is seen almost on a weekly basis. While instant liquidity is most encouraging to the ultimate buyers of certified coins, it is dramatically bewildering to those very same buyers when they see the high Bids of instant liquidity disappear overnight (or sooner).

Inconsistent Bidding by marketmakers is the main reason Bid prices fluctuate so spectacularly. One week, a Bid may be $1000, and the following week only $700. If there are no sellers at a number below $1000, it may well be that the value of the specific coin has not dropped; however, the sight-unseen Bid will fall. Thus, the instant liquidity of this coin has declined sharply. This is difficult to understand for the part-time numismatic enthusiast. It is this person who becomes discouraged and disappears from our industry without a full understanding of the sight-unseen marketplace. And if something is not done to help alleviate the dramatic swings, the coin business will lose more potential customers to other methods of investments or collectibles. It appears to the many supporters of numismatics, that this industry is not gaining the new followers that it needs due to the immense volatility that takes place.

This market is not for the faint-hearted. In order to satisfy one's motives for buying and selling coins on a sight-unseen basis, one must realize that there will be market cycles of sensational proportions. The knowledgeable full-time dealer or investor (collector) is more attuned to the vagaries of sight-unseen trading. They profit from this experience and grasp fully the notion that there will be market cycles; they may take profits at the top of these cycles by selling coins, or, by purchasing specific issues at market bottoms. Your customer might become resentful if they have to sell coins at the bottom of a market cycle in order to raise cash. Occasionally, dealers have to do this in order to keep their inventories turning, but they certainly don't want their customers to be in this position.

Although there are times when you can buy and sell coins in a short period of time and make substantial profits, the primary axiom which dealers should remind their customers to follow is, "to buy coins for the long term"; if certain issues happen to increase substantially in a short period of time, then go ahead and take profits. Otherwise, you must be prepared to hold on for a suitable amount of time.

Dealers do not want their customers to have to sell coins at the bottom of the market. It is most unfortunate to see them in a position where they have to sell coins to raise cash, whereas, if they just had some surplus buying power, they could hold on until the time was "right". Coin dealers are in this business for good reason; they feel numismatics is a good place to profit from your "buying power", however, it is not a place to put your rent money and expect to make it multiply overnight.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin ("N.C.I. Grading Guide") which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDn Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

The Emperor and the King Hold Court at PCGS.

Introducing our Canadian Coin Grading Service

Nearly four years ago, the Professional Coin Grading Service was established to meet the urgent need for standardized, third-party grading in the rare coin industry.

Since 1986, PCGS has graded 1,628,961 U.S. coins with a cumulative declared market value of $1,756,781,783 through a network of 490 authorized PCGS dealers throughout the United States and Canada.

Now PCGS is proud to announce a new service tailored to meet the needs of the Canadian coin market.

Over the past 18 months, PCGS has enlisted the expertise of many of the leading Canadian numismatists on the continent (including Walt Armitage, Sandy Campbell and Charles Moore) to diligently assemble a representative grading set of Canadian Coins.

With all systems in place, our new Canadian coin grading service is now on-line for the certification and authentication of Canadian coins, including the Maritime Provinces of New Foundland, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

In addition, each Canadian coin submitted to PCGS is graded by a minimum of three members of our expert Canadian coin grading staff before the final grade is assigned. PCGS employs the same 70-point grading scale utilized in the grading of U.S. coins, and designates Mint State, Specimen, Proof-like and Proof Striking on Canadian coins. Each coin is also encapsulated in our new state-of-the-art NumisCap™ coin holder, as well.

The Emperor of Canadian Coins. The 1911 George V Silver Dollar. One of two known specimens. Valued at $750,000. Graded SPECIMEN-65. The first Canadian coin graded by PCGS.

For the first time ever, PCGS can offer the investors and collectors of Canadian coins the same advantages that have revolutionized the U.S. rare coin market: The unparalleled PCGS guarantee of grade and authenticity, coin safety, consumer protection, improved liquidity, and the highest standards in the industry.

Perhaps that's why PCGS was selected to grade the two most famous and highly valued Canadian numismatic rarities in existence: The Emperor and the King of Canadian coins.

Shouldn't your Canadian coins be graded by the Professional Coin Grading Service, too? For more information about all of our services, write or call today.

The King of Canadian Coins: The 1921 George V Silver Half Dollar. One of the finest among approximately 12 known specimens. Valued at more than $100,000. Graded SPECIMEN-65 by PCGS.

The Emperor and the King displayed in the new PCGS NumisCap™ numismatic capsule.

FUN Show Bids Decline As Sight-Unseen Buyers Wait For Leadership

Despite the fact that many Bid levels fell at the beginning of the FUN Show, prices eventually stabilized and the market was fairly active. The main cause of these lower prices was the removal of the current high Bids by the leading marketmakers. They seemed to be jockeying for position as they either lowered drastically, or removed their Bids altogether. This created a slight panic among other dealers, who then followed the lead and lowered their Bids. In some cases, the top Bidders who removed their Bids, then sold coins into the marketplace, thus causing a more delicate situation.

Regardless, after this initial downturn in the market, most marketmakers began to slowly post competitive Bids once again; they realized that the lower Bids were not going to buy them enough coins. Back in December, the dealers who took the time to speculate on where the market would be as the new year began, may have had an advantage over the other dealers who expected too much out of the FUN Show. Hindsight shows us that the dealers who anticipated strong prices at FUN were probably disappointed; while those dealers who expected to use this show as a yardstick for the first quarter of the year seemed to have a more consistent show. Many dealers felt that the market was active and they made money, but they had to concentrate on business and plod through the crowded bourse room.

Being the first show of the year, FUN attracts every major dealer in the country; in other words, if you expect to be counted among the "society of coin dealers", you would have to attend to see just what 1990 holds in store. At such a massive gathering of the nation's top dealers, coupled with all the inventory they could carry with them, it is easy to see why prices for the generic coins would slip slightly. Yet, after realizing that common Morgan Dollars were not going to go below $92 in MS-64 and $270 in MS-65, prices firmed and the whole market appeared to consolidate at least, that was the view of dealers with a long-term perspective.

Again, most dealers may not have felt this way while attending the show but it is apparent in retrospect this week. In fact the charts are actually filled with an ample amount of plus signs as dealers found they could not fill want lists at bargain-hunting prices. Using Morgan Dollars as a barometer, some dealers were looking for common MS-64s and MS-65s to break through the $90 and $250 levels, respectively. Now that the market has shown a resistance at these prices, it seems to have strengthened the entire market as we write this report. What may be just as encouraging is the fact that for the many issues which are unchanged this week the simple fact that they did not fall is displaying added potency.

One of the weaker areas at the show was the lesser grades of U.S. Gold. It seemed like everybody had ample stocks of the common issues and there were no large orders; thus, in order to sell coins in this category, you had to discount appropriately. Some dealers chose to leave their coins in stock boxes and just take them home and wait for better days. It looks like prices have moved slightly higher on several issues, although a few minuses are still apparent.

Overall, the FUN Show was very active if you were willing to work hard and turn merchandise. You had to be willing to deal at current levels and not sit around and hope for better days. This week seems to be a continuation of the durability found toward the end of the show. The market is vigilant and if the positive attitudes persist among the marketmakers then the next few weeks may show more improvement, consequently readying everyone for the Long Beach Convention.

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (NCI Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a lower grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Certified Market Gathers Steam As Dealers Anticipate Healthy Long Beach Convention

This past week has seen a resurgence in Bidding activity for most major series. Leadership appears to have been reestablished and many marketmakers are offering very competitive Bids. Whether they are anticipating a stronger market at the Long Beach Show or the possible existence of a new Wall Street fund (yes, there is still hope of a new fund), or, they are actually seeing more business in their stores and offices, it seems like many dealers are jumping on the bandwagon. The most active areas are Commems, Dollars, & Type; and even Gold has its share of plus signs.

Most grades are enjoying this strength, however, along with this positive market summary comes a new problem area. As the prices move higher in one grade, it would seem like the next higher grade would move up almost in like proportion. We touched on this slightly in early December when referring to the 1943-D Walker in MS-63. Because of an extreme need for the MS-63 specimen to complete "short sets of Walkers", the MS-64 coin was actually being Bid at less than the MS-63. Well, logic dictates that as the quality of a coin increases, the value must increase also. However, this may not be the case all the time; supply and demand are the true dictators of value and logic can sometimes be thrown "out the window".

Nevertheless, this current dilemma is considerably different from the previous example in that the Bid prices in MS-66 are now moving higher, yet, the 67 columns are not advancing as rapidly. The reason, in many cases, is that there are no active Bids for coins in the highest grades. This occurs (or doesn't) for two reasons. First, if there have been no coins graded in the 67 grade, dealers find little use in Bidding for a non-existent coin. By the way, this has not always been the case. For a long period of time in 1989, several dealers were actively Bidding for non-existent coins, in hopes of being first on the list of potential buyers if one were to be graded.

Second, even if one or two specimens have been graded within a specific issue, many dealers will not bother Bidding for it because they feel it is a waste of energy. Most coins of this quality and rarity usually command a strong price over any sight-unseen Bid and most buyers of these rare specimens would rather view the coin before putting their money on the table. Inasmuch as Bids are sparse for this type of material, these Bids remain somewhat inactive. Regardless, in these excessively rare issues, logic does dictate that the higher grade must be more valuable than the grade just below. In summary, just because you are not seeing a lot of plus signs in the 67 columns corresponding with the active 66 issues, it does not mean that these coins are not in demand. Yet, it does seem strange to see a 66 coin Bid within 10% of a 67 when in all actuality, the 67 is probably worth one-and-a-half to two times what a 66 is worth. Then again, remember what the Bluesheet represents: "the highest sight-unseen Bids currently on the market".

One of the market indicators which dealers have come to rely upon is the Dollar series. As long as the generic issues in MS-63, 64, and 65 are stable or higher, most dealers are confident that the market is in an upward cycle. This is the situation that we find ourselves in this week as MS-63s are relatively steady, MS-64s are the same, and MS-65s are higher (as compared to last week). MS-65 Morgan Dollars are up to $290 Bid with several buyers willing to take sizable quantities at these levels. Furthermore, since prices have strengthened this week, the Ask prices have increased markedly also. Instead of nice tight spreads of $5-$10 a coin, we are now seeing some spreads of up to $50 as dealers anticipate a higher market.

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin ('N C I Grading Guide' which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Long Beach — Center of Attention Another Southern California Auction Season

The sight-unseen market in certified coins is relatively stable this week, leading many dealers to speculate (and hope) that it will continue steady into the Long Beach show. This is probably a safe bet, since nearly every major dealer in the country is already in Southern California. We could blame this on our recent unseasonably mild weather, but think it more likely that they have come to enjoy the smorgasbord of numismatic delights that will be available during the next two weeks. At any rate, it is always a good sign when the teletype market is relatively steady while so many dealers are away from their machines.

Many of the minus signs that are appearing this week are the result of dealers pulling their Bids before travelling to the West Coast. While this may be inconvenient for anyone wishing to use the high Bid as a selling guide, it makes a certain amount of sense for the dealers. During Long Beach, they will be surrounded by more coins than they could possibly inspect during the week—but you can be sure that they will find the time to inspect all of the coins that they must buy, and that the sales will be sight-seen.

The teletype players still seated at their keyboards certainly have lots to talk about, with the scheduled start of sight-unseen trading on NGC certified coins this week on one of the major trading networks. Since the logistics of the new listings require most dealers to slightly modify their Bid structure, there has been a real bustle of activity. Once the period of adjustment to the new system has passed, NGC coins should enjoy the additional liquidity. It remains a fact of numismatic life that the slabbing of a coin must be more than simple grading; customers now expect some type of trading activity to be attached.

ANACS recognized this only after giving up their early lead in the grading business, and now must find some way of reconciling their hobby inclination with the marketing demands of the new numismatic consumer. These must be exciting times in Colorado Springs.

The Long Beach Numismatic, Philatelic & Baseball Card Exposition (as it is now formally known), has become a magnet for major numismatic auctions. Sales by Bowers & Merena, Superior Galleries, Heritage, Pacific Coast (CertSale), and George Kolbe insure that something to interest every numismatist will be crossing the block. As Long Beach's influence on Philately and Baseball cards grows as we are sure it will, we can expect to see growing auction activity in those related collectibles as well.

The current crop of auctions include a growing number of certified coins; perhaps there is no better measure of the influence of certified coins on the numismatic market. We have noticed that the slabs sold at auction do tend to be the super-premium or the ultra-rare pieces. We suspect that this is a natural by-product of the slabbing revolution. Most collectors who submit a number of coins for certification, with every intention of keeping them all in their collection, simply cannot resist selling a piece that hits the jackpot. As long as the market maintains the super high premiums for the highest graded pieces, it is hard not to resist such highly profitable sales. For the investors who purchase high-grade slabs with the intention of selling them into a rising market, we might point out that this requires a rising market. Buying low and selling high is no secret, but judging numismatic market bottoms and pre-tops is a tricky deal in such a volatile market.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of requested fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of requested fee.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Memo from: HALLMARK GRADING SERVICE

To: Discriminating coin buyers everywhere

We are mighty proud of the fine network of rare coin dealers who are authorized submission centers for HALLMARK, the connoisseur's grading service.

Contact any dealer in the list below, and your coins, each encapsulated in a beautiful HALLMARK "slab," will be back in your possession quickly. As we go to press our turnaround time is only 10 working days!

Bids Plus & Minus; Market Mainly Plusing; Long Beach Always A " + "

New subscribers to the Bluesheet will probably be confused by this week's headline; this is only fair in a week of confusing market signals. The "problem" here is simply that many Bids minus just before major shows as travelling dealers remove their Bids. In an up market, Bids may minus while the coin values are rising; and rising they are, as prices realized from several auctions indicate. This seeming contradiction will come as no surprise to long time dealers.

The reasons are obvious enough; the travelling dealer has no opportunity to respond to teletype actions. It is easier to buy the coins sight-seen at the show than perhaps get caught with a sight-unseen Bid that is no longer appropriate; who needs to buy two coins to fill one want list? Many dealers, however, leave their Bids active, so a minus sign this week may be basically meaningless (the High-Bidder is travelling) or significant (the Bid price really is dropping). This suggests that wholesalers may be better off attending shows than trying to work through the teletype systems during major events.

Some of the drops in this Bluesheet's Morgan dollar charts really are substantial: 1879-O, MS65, $4800 to $4250; 1893-S, MS63, $48,500 to $42,500; 1887/6-O, MS63, $2500 to $2000; and the 1900-O/CC, MS63, $230 to $190. So, are dollars weak? Well, an 1895 graded by NGC as a Pr-66 (which Bids at $38,500) sold this week at auction for $68,750; that sounds pretty strong to us. And we could provide hundreds of similar examples. The market is strong, and auctions are busy breaking records. So no, in many cases, the value of the coins has not dropped — the market is steady to rising; but if you insist upon selling your coins today to the highest visible sight-unseen Bidder, then yes, unfortunately, the price has really dropped that much. And please remember, that the purpose of the Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter is to report that highest sight-unseen Bid; sight-seen sales really do command a substantial premium.

Certified coins have been realizing very strong prices at the auction preceding the Long Beach show. At Bowers & Merena's Gore & Long Auction, certified highlights included:

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23 a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719 632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Long Beach Sets the Standard (AGAIN) Sale of Superior Galleries Announced

Long Beach was abuzz with rumors of the largest numismatic fund offering ever, with the amount $100+ million and Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith receiving prominent mention. As the Bluesheet went to press, Bruce P. McNall, Chairman of Numismatic Fine Arts Inc., announced the purchase of a majority of the stock of Superior Galleries; the Goldberg team will remain with Superior Galleries and, according to the rumors, help direct the Fund.

The center of the numismatic universe was Southern California during the last two weeks, as two major shows and four auctions brought dealers all the action they could have hoped for. The Long Beach Expo was the star of course, and it has now added a major bourse for baseball cards (where slabbing has just begun!) to its already legendary coin and stamp offerings. Many dealers reported their best Long Beach ever, and that takes some action!

Certified coin Bids were generally firm to higher during the show, but, of course, transactions on rare coins continued well above Bid levels as sight-seen trading dominated dealer activity. The four auctions, by Bowers & Merena, Superior Galleries, Pacific Coast Auction, and Heritage together provided bidders with more than $20 million worth of rare coins and currencies. Truly something for every numismatist, from every area of numismatics.

Pacific Coast's CERTSALE IX witnessed several price records, as an 1852 Pattern Gold Dollar, J-141 in PCGS Pr-63, brought $40,800. A rare 1808 Quarter Eagle, PCGS-61, realized $56,100, and a 1907 High-Relief Double Eagle in NGC-65 was hammered down at $40,800.

Heritage Numismatic Auctions' Long Beach sessions included many superlative certified coins. See box for sale highlights:

DENOMINATION	CERTIFIED GRADE	PRICE REALIZED
1889 3-Cent Nickel	NGC PR-65	$ 1,485
1885 Nickel	PCGS PR-66	$ 3,767
1902-S Barber Dime	NGC-66	$ 6,875
1874 Seated Half, Arrows	PCGS PR-64	$ 7,425
1939 Walking Lib Half	PCGS PR-66	$ 1,925
1892-S Morgan Dollar	PCGS-66	$126,500
1893-S Morgan Dollar	PCGS-65	$176,000
1894-O Morgan Dollar	PCGS-65	$ 42,900
1927-S Peace Dollar	NGC-65	$ 12,100
1867 $3 Gold	NGC-63	$ 7,425
1891 Eagle	PCGS PR-64	$ 26,400

Long Beach also reveled in the main social event of the numismatic year, as Iraj Sayah hosted 1500+ guests at his Second Annual International Numismatic Friendship Party—his gracious way of thanking the numismatic community on behalf of himself and UNIGOLD. The international flavor of the evening was again provided by non-stop entertainment and superlative cuisine. Iraj's announcement of his intention to allow other dealers computer access to his certified inventory (joining the systems offered by Heritage, Ruffco, and the American Rare Coin Fund L.P., among others) was given an extra kick—Iraj will provide the computers at no charge.

Southern California will also enjoy the ANAs 12th Midwinter convention in San Diego in early March. The midwinter auction, being held by the San Diego

Show, Inc. Auction Company is being printed in two catalogues: a "regular" catalogue prepared and mailed in the usual manner and a special certified last minute session to allow fresh material to be added until just before the event. The "Slab Mania" session has just been closed at around 1000 certified lots valued in excess of $1 million. Sessions 2 & 3 also contain some impressive slabbed specimens, including a 1901 Barber Quarter, PCGS-65, 1900

Barber half in PCGS Pr-65; 1859-O $1 PCGS-64; 1894 $1 ANACS-65 plus more than 200 ANACS certified colonials (including many finest known).

Please note that the Bluesheet is slightly changing its format; the second issue of the month will now contain the charts for PL Dollars, Early Gold Type, Better Date Coins, & Matte Proof Coins.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $24; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arms length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Institute) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 50¢ & 25¢ Quarters, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDn Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

"Honest Abe, I wouldn't put my face on anything other than an NGC-graded coin."

Let's face it. There are millions of coins in circulation today. But when it comes to real face value, the coins in NGC holders are the ones with the most honest grades.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation faced facts, recognizing the need for a new standard of grading in the coin industry. While other grading services continue to allow their employees to be active dealers, NGC's policy has been to strictly forbid final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes.

Coins graded by NGC are evaluated by professionals whose only job is to determine the exact quality of the coins they're grading. They have no commercial interests to serve. Thus, NGC offers both buyer and seller the benefits of independent analysis and complete impartiality. Resulting in coins that are not subject to fluctuating standards. Coins that can be bought and sold sight-unseen. Through NGC authorized dealers, and now through the American Numismatic Exchange.

By making honesty its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Which is why, when some of the world's most respected financial institutions decided to invest in rare coins, they trusted their money to NGC.

Whether you're a hobbyist, a collector, or an investor, you can always trust NGC to give you the best money can buy. Honesty. For more information about NGC and a free sample of our tamper-proof holder with a silver pre-1964 Roosevelt dime, complete and mail this coupon or call 1-201-984-6222.

Merrill Lynch Rare Coin Fund Is Now A Reality And The Magic Number Is $50 Million

As a follow-up to last week's announcement concerning the sale of a majority interest in Superior Stamp & Coin Co., it is now known that this was just a prelude to the second major communique which followed. The rumors of a new rare coin fund have now been laid to rest. The fund (The NFA World Coin Fund, L.P.) is now a reality. However, the previous reference to $100 million was slightly embellished; the stated value of the fund was divulged as an unprecedented $50 million. This is the grandest fund in history and is going to be managed by Numismatic Fine Arts, Inc. and Superior Stamp & Coin, Co. Inc.

The mere mention of a Wall Street fund is enough to excite the pocketbooks (and want lists) of dealers and their clients. And with the Mid-Winter ANA just around the corner, a boost of this nature is just what the "market" ordered. So the next few weeks should stimulate some areas of the market which may have been ignored lately. In fact, one such area we found to be advancing this week is the Walking Liberty Half Dollar series. In one week alone, the MS-65 has jumped up $25, from $260 Bid to $285 for the common dates.

Although the generic Dollars are firm at this week's levels, you will find a vast number of minus signs in the Dollar charts. In many cases, specific issues have been dropping by considerable sums over the last couple of weeks. However, the sell prices are not necessarily dropping in the same proportion; in fact, they seem to be on the increase. Therefore, the spreads between the Bids and the Asks are ever-widening. Granted, the marketmakers may not be all that interested in being the high Bidder on these specific issues at this time, but they are even less interested in being relieved of their inventories at levels which they feel might be well below the future market. This may be one of the most resounding indications of measuring how the dealers perceive the near-term future of the rare coin market now that they are aware that a new fund has been "penned".

One of the main reasons that many of the so-called better date Dollars have fallen off of late, may be that potential buyers are now more aware of the availability of specific coins than they were in the past. With the population reports under their arms, dealers can be reasonably assured of the latest numbers of coins graded by date; thus, they can be confident that those issues are available if the buyer needs one for his customer. The potential buyer may need to pay over the Bid price, but he no longer needs to stock so much inventory just to satisfy the casual customer.

Furthermore, if the dealer does not need to stock as much inventory, he does not run the risk of his inventory declining unjustly, due to the whims of the itinerant high Bidders. Itinerant Bidders are those potential buyers who occasionally raise Bids one week (usually a substantial amount) only to pull their Bids the following week and watch the Bids fall dramatically. A further result is that the Bid will occasionally fall to a level that is now lower than it was previous to the itinerant Bidder entering the market. This tends to make for a very sporadic and volatile market.

As we pointed out last week, we have made some slight changes in the format of the supplemental page numbers and the time of the month that they will appear. This week (the third week of every month) will contain the chart for Standing Liberty Quarters, Franklin Halves, and $20 St.-Gaudens.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Council) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders, without removal, if requested.

Client or sight seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer to Dealer Bids.

"Honest Abe, I wouldn't put my face on anything other than an NGC-graded coin."

Let's face it. There are millions of coins in circulation today. But when it comes to real face value, the coins in NGC holders are the ones with the most honest grades.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation faced facts, recognizing the need for a new standard of grading in the coin industry. While other grading services continue to allow their employees to be active dealers, NGC's policy has been to strictly forbid final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes.

Coins graded by NGC are evaluated by professionals whose only job is to determine the exact quality of the coins they're grading. They have no commercial interests to serve. Thus, NGC offers both buyer and seller the benefits of independent analysis and complete impartiality. Resulting in coins that are not subject to fluctuating standards. Coins that can be bought and sold sight-unseen. Through NGC authorized dealers and now through the American Numismatic Exchange.

By making honesty its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Which is why, when some of the world's most respected financial institutions decided to invest in rare coins, they trusted their money to NGC.

Whether you're a hobbyist, a collector, or an investor, you can always trust NGC to give you the best money can buy. Honestly. Market Momentum Building Pluses Dominate All Charts

The certified coin market is showing all of the signs of a major Bull market as Bids begin their second week of plus signs across all of the Bluesheet charts. Many of this week's increases are substantial, with jumps of 10% or more not uncommon. Actual prices being paid for sight-seen coins are rising as well—although here the new Bids may just be catching up with the real market that had developed above the lowered Bid levels of the last several months. Of course, if history is any guide, the Asks will ratchet up as quickly as the new Bids, so the spreads will probably remain large.

In fact, the spreads on the super premium coins are continuing to widen. One is tempted to say that the spreads are wider than ever (which they are), but that tends to lead to the supposition that they may not get wider (which they probably will, and next week at that!). Old timers will look at the incredible prices being paid for the top graded specimens, shake their heads, and mutter that the coins just aren't worth it. And in a sense they may be right—but only if you subscribe to the belief that no coin is worth more than its intrinsic value. Of course, that line of thinking leads to the conclusion that our current American coinage is worthless, but we are trying not to color this analysis with emotion.

An 1888-O Morgan Dollar is Bid at $24 in MS-61 and $9000 in MS-67. Is the MS-67 worth 375 times the lesser uncirculated coin? It is if any buyer thinks it is and is willing to buy one at that price. And therein lies the truth of the argument. Coins are worth what the next buyer is willing to pay, just as is true of your house, your car, your Rembrandt, your Tiffany, your IBM, or your dog. Looking at the price histories of all premium quality coins over the past two decades leads to the same conclusion; buyers of better coins make better profits—substantially better profits. And buyers who want the best, in whatever domain, have to be willing to be the market price.

The current market is showing growing strength in every series. Type coins continue to be extremely active, no doubt reflecting their continued popularity. Increases in both Mint State and Proof Types are being matched, however, by plus signs in the usual date series: Buffalo Nickels, Mercury Dimes, Walking Liberty Halves, Morgan Dollars and Peace Dollars. Mint State Type shows no weakness, and Proof Types are also advancing almost unanimously from PR63 through 66. Mercury Dimes have registered some substantial gains in the better date coins, and in the better grades as well. The Morgans are especially strong in MS64 and MS65—two grades that had evidenced some weakness lately. Peace Dollars show major gains in MS65 and MS66. Commemoratives are continuing strong, although the increases aren't quite as dramatic due to the strength they carried into this latest rally. Gold Type continues strong, and Proof Gold Type is solid. Proof singles show many plus signs, although this may just be a reflection of the strength in the Proof Type charts.

It is inevitable that both dealers and collectors will look at some of the enormous increases being registered this week and ask "Why?", or "Why now?". The market is certainly being helped by two factors: the most recently announced Wall Street fund, and activity by some of the earlier funds. How much of the increase can be attributed to the Merrill Lynch fund announcement is impossible to ascertain. We can report, however, that more than one dealer has put forth the possibility that the fund may quickly become a seller as well as a buyer if the principals decide to take quick profits in a rapidly advancing market. If this happens, any dealer Bidding up coins with the intention of selling them to the fund might find that they are buying their gem coins from the fund.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA, and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23, a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDe Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-1500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (notational) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDe Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer to Dealer Bids.

Walkers Lead Market Generics Continue Strengthening

The cavalcade of plus signs continues this week, as additional dealers are jumping on the bandwagon – and at the risk of carrying the metaphor too far, Wall Street money still seems to be the drum major. If the enticement of a new $50 million 'customer' is leading the entire advance, it raises the question: where does the market go after the parade is over? Rare coins are always worth what it takes to purchase them, but prudent buyers never want to "over-pay". The holders of fund interests will also want to see the market rise after their fund has been fully committed, certainly not before. A rising market means that money can be made only if one has coins to sell. Right now, it seems that the cost of the parade permit has increased substantially.

Current strength is seen across the entire certified market, and in both rare and generic issues. In fact, a "calm" assessment of the market would have to excitedly point to Walking Liberty Halves as the market leader. This falls under the heading of "good news, bad news". Good news because all inventory-carrying dealers like to see prices go up; bad news in that Walkers have been among the most volatile issues over the past six months. When common date PCGS-65 Walkers jump from $300 to $325 (and NGC-65 from $275 to $350!) in one week, you know you are looking at a major market movement. You can also be sure that a 27% advance in one week is not based simply on increased collector demand. Walkers have been unable to sustain even modest increases lately; major jumps like this, when Bidding on coins that exist in large numbers, should result in the demand being supplied rather quickly – and that might mean a rapidly dropping Bid, as a result.

Other generic coins are advancing nicely as well. Morgan Dollars are continuing strong across the Board, MS64s and MS65s continue to lead, but some of their strength is dropping into the MS63 ranks as well. Peace Dollars are also showing some strength in the MS63 through MS66 coins. Mint State Type is continuing very strong, with the plus signs extending solidly into the MS63 and MS66 columns. Proof Type remains strong in PR64-66 but the PR63s seem to be lagging a bit. Gold Mint State Type is strong in all grades, and Proof Gold is continuing to rise in the better grades. Buffalo nickels are rising actively, but mostly on the NGC side of the charts where they are trying to catch up to the PCGS market. Mercury Dimes are stronger in the later, better issues. Commemoratives are making a major move in MS65 & MS66.

The Mid-Winter ANA, taking place in San Diego, will test the depth of this latest market surge. After all the theoretical electronic Bids on coins are recorded, there remain the shows where millions of dollars must actually be spent as the coins cross your bourse table. Such shows provide ample evidence of the strengths of the U.S. market. How many collector/investors attend? How much money do they spend? How much do the dealers spend? What is the prevailing mood of the dealers? And then there is the big question – after the amazing expenditures of last month's California Numismatic Season, does anyone have any money left to spend? We aren't sure exactly how this works, but among numismatists there always does seem to be enough money to 'get the job done'.

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service. The first authentication service (established in 1972) to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased third party grading opinion. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & pattern grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse, back, reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Carhe". Costs start at $25; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-1279, phone 800-367-9721 or 719-633-8640.

CDDs: Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certification has no negative comments. ANACS bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $30, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 'lab tested' (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. Arm's length. NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI

Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2748. Phone (214) 528-3931. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C. 1 Grading Standard) which may be considered somewhat liberal (numismatist compared to the other three services listed). Regular cost is $35 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned insured with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for other dollars, 50c, 25c, 10c, and Walking Liberty Half. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CDDs: Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluebook Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer.
 What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Mid-Winter ANA (PNG) Confirms Intensity Of Current Certified Rare Coin Market

The just completed Mid-Winter ANA is probably better described as the First Annual American Numismatic Association/Professional Numismatists Guild 1990 Early Spring Convention and Auction. But since that is more than a mouthful to say, we will shorten it to the ANA/PNG Convention. This was the first such show where these two entities combined together for an entire convention. In the past, PNG usually had a one-day show just prior to ANA conventions, among others. The combined efforts seem to have paid off as dealer setup day and Friday were quite busy with hundreds, if not thousands, of dealers in attendance. The weekend found public attendance very brisk; they seemed to be interested in finding out if the market was really as hot as it appears.

What they found was a sizzling coin business that appeared to get stronger as the show wore on. This is unusual since the last year has seen the majority of shows begin on a positive note only to find business dwindling as the show continued. The main reason this has occurred was because most of the high-Bid marketmakers pulled their Bids just prior to major shows. Thus, the first day of the show dealers would go about their business trying to fill want lists and/or sell coins. As the first day ended the show psychology would deteriorate because the Bids had dropped so much.

The ANA/PNG was slightly different going in. A few Bids dropped just before the show, but this was hardly noticeable. The psychology of the entire show was positive and built upon itself as the days progressed. In fact, most dealers were less than satisfied with the amount of coins that they were able to purchase due to a lack of material, or, the fact that potential sellers were pricing it too far in advance of current levels. Most dealers found that it was quite easy to sell merchandise if it was priced anywhere near Bid levels. Even when they had coins that were considered to be better-dates, for which they were seeking more money, sales appeared to come just as easily.

Pacific Coast Auctions conducted their Tenth Certificate realizing over $1.3 million. These sales are unique in that they are for certified coins only; consignments are accepted up to almost two weeks prior to the sale and the buyer's fee is reduced to a moderate 3%. Furthermore, the seller's fee is also a modest 3% if the lot is already slabbed. The following is a list of highlights from Certsale X.

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23, a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23 plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length." NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Place, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.E.I. Grading Group) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 1315, Quarter and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above BlueSheet Dealer to Dealer Bids.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

THE LATEST HALLMARK NEWS:

Hallmark Successes: In the marketplace HALLMARK coins continue to score success after success! We noted earlier that in Teletrade auctions surveyed, HALLMARK coins in all instances brought over bid prices—a situation not true of the coins from other services. Increasingly, auction firms are turning their attention towards HALLMARK coins. Reflective of this interest, in the dealer listing below we have added a special section showing which of our dealer members will arrange the certification of your coins by HALLMARK for their auctions.

Norman Pullen Writes: Norman Pullen, a distinguished professional numismatist who has been serving his customers with care for many years, is an authorized dealer for four leading grading services. In a recent brochure, he described all four, and said this about HALLMARK: "Norman W. Pullen, Inc. has become one of the first authorized HALLMARK dealers, a collector-oriented service founded by Lee J. Bellisario and Bowers and Merena Galleries. We are enthusiastic about our association with HALLMARK because they offer several special features which are currently unavailable from the other major grading services. They include:

"*A 'PQ' designation on the holder for Premium Quality coins.

"*A 'PS' designation, for Premium Strike, for coins unusually well struck.

"*'FBL' on Franklin halves to signify Full Bell Lines..."

Mr. Pullen went on to list numerous other HALLMARK advantages, concluding with this: "HALLMARK is currently the only grading service which will attribute your coins by die variety..."

Why HALLMARK?: HALLMARK is "The Connoisseur's Grading Service," as we say in our motto. If you have coins of particular value or rarity and want to have them encapsulated to their finest advantage, and, as the market seems to be telling HALLMARK dealers and customers, if you want them to realize attractive prices when you want to sell them, then HALLMARK is the answer. Obviously, it takes the experts on the HALLMARK staff extra time to examine your coins for the HALLMARK "extras," in addition to the technical or numerical grade. However, HALLMARK encapsulation is competitively priced, and in the long run may be your very best value!

How to use HALLMARK: Below we list our distinguished dealer members, who are all looking forward to receiving coins from you for HALLMARK encapsulation. Simply write or call your favorite dealer, and complete submission information will be sent to you!

"Honest Abe, I wouldn't put my face on anything other than an NGC-graded coin."

Let's face it. There are millions of coins in circulation today. But when it comes to real face value, the coins in NGC holders are the ones with the most honest grades.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation faced facts, recognizing the need for a new standard of grading in the coin industry. While other grading services continue to allow their employees to be active dealers, NGC's policy has been to strictly forbid final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes.

Coins graded by NGC are evaluated by professionals whose only job is to determine the exact quality of the coins they're grading. They have no commercial interests to serve. Thus, NGC offers both buyer and seller the benefits of independent analysis and complete impartiality. Resulting in coins that are not subject to fluctuating standards. Coins that can be bought and sold sight-unseen. Through NGC authorized dealers, and now through the American Numismatic Exchange.

By making honesty its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Which is why, when some of the world's most respected financial institutions decided to invest in rare coins, they trusted their money to NGC.

The overall market climb continues steady this week, with a healthy mix of plus and minus signs—healthy, of course, meaning that the pluses out-number the minuses about seven to one. Considering that many of the plus signs represent substantial increases, the general consensus among dealers seems to be that the market largely looks "very healthy".

The MS65 Morgan market has been sending some mixed signals recently. Generic MS65 Morgans had been strengthening against a background of very strong Bids on the rarer issues. In Bull markets of the past, it was not uncommon for strengthening Bids on the better dates to pull along the Bids on the commons. This week, two roads diverged in the Morgan woods, and generic 65 Bid dropped (in the face of persistent selling at the $290 level), while the better issues continued to climb. This is not a common occurrence, and will bear watching in the weeks to come.

Among an increasing number of the Morgan issues, it is becoming less surprising to see MS64 and MS65 Bid differ by a factor of ten. In fact, across the charts, most series will present two grades where the spread is especially exciting; it may not always be the 64/65 spread, but it is usually found in the higher grades. This is probably one more evolutionary aspect of the certified coin market, as the grading characteristics of each series become increasingly better known through the population reports. At some point in the grading continuum, one grade must be relatively "common" compared to the next higher grade. Coins in this area are likely to receive special attention.

Dealers who seek to make a market in PQ specimens are naturally concentrating on those areas where the spreads will be greatest—therein lies the greatest profit if a resubmission can gain a higher grade. Of course, any premium quality coin stands a good chance of gaining their attention, but the best examples of any grade will naturally provide the highest return if the resubmission is successful, or the certified market fully adopts the PQ designation or decimal-point grading. And naturally, for the dealer selling to retail customers, the higher the quality, the easier (and more profitable) the sale. Increasingly, we are hearing PQ dealers refer to such coins as "crackers", referring both to the expected disposition of their current slab and to their 'fire-cracker' appearance.

The certification services have also substantially raised the value of "wonder" coins as a by-product of their grading activities. By quantifying just how wonderful a "wonder" coin really is, and providing a population estimate of the number of other "wonder" coins with which it shares the honors, you have the ingredients for substantial increases in value. Old-time numismatists long recognized that the value of an item could be enhanced through increased knowledge—in that sense, certification is carrying on one of the most traditional activities of numismatics. Over time, as the certification services see more of the true population, the value of the genuinely rare top-grade pieces seems to consistently rise—while those issues that enjoy a growing number of premium specimens may see their Bids decrease. Supply and demand also works under the influence of increased recognition of both factors.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23, a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 328-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers are as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (numismatically) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Blue Sheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention Interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple-image hologram to deter counterfeiting, and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim, while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

COVERT DETECTION METHODS: In addition to the above features, PCGS has also incorporated various integrated covert detection methods to ensure the overall integrity of every PCGS NumisCap™.

No Continuity to Market Movements Dealers Watching & Waiting

The strong upward thrust of the coin market over the last month seems to have moderated, as the charts show an evening mix of plus and minus signs. Of course, to dealers 'spoiled by the barrage of pluses of late, a mixed market like this tends to look "sick" instead of "healthy". To the old-time dealers, who have seen prices rise & fall & remain steady in every possible permutation, the current consolidation warrants a "big yawn".

In the stock market, analysts during the Bull market will incessantly predict (without specifying time) an upcoming "correction", or "consolidation", or "profit-taking". The more erudite will find other euphemisms that all have a positive ring to them. Our personal favorite, frankly, is "profit-taking", as that pretty well describes the actions of a dealer selling a coin at one price and replacing it in inventory at a lower cost. If too many dealers do this at the same time, however, the lessened demand in the marketplace will see prices decline on some issues. If there is a headline in the 'news' that coin prices go up or down or stay constant according to supply and demand forces, we haven't found it.

We are seeing less activity on the date/mintmark series, but the activity still seems to be fairly positive, even if at lowered levels. Buffalo nickels are mixed, with no discernable trends. Attention on the Mercury Dimes seems to be centered on the earlier dates in MS65FB, while MS66 & MS67 Walkers are showing strength. Where there is any activity at all, Proof Type Coins are plusing, but this is probably the lowest level of interest we have seen in some time. Commemoratives are showing mixed results, with the MS65s showing some weakness. Gold Commems seem to have discovered the secret of holding steady between plusing. Morgan Dollars show the strongest activity on the charts.

Third-party certification and slabbing has produced several interesting byproducts - one of which is the growing proliferation of certified only auction sessions or entire sales. Pacific Coast Auction Galleries' Certables continue to fast-track coins, and San Diego Auctions Mid Winter 'Early Spring' ANA recently had a special slab session as well. Since the entire point of sight-unseen trading is that you shouldn't need any descriptors and the point of slabbing is that you need to examine the label rather than the coin, the catalogues can be prepared rather quickly and efficiently. Minimum cataloguing also allows for 'last minute consignments. Even the population reports are impacting cataloguing, by removing indiscriminate usage of 'one of the nicest we've seen in years' or the ubiquitous 'one of the finest known'. Of course, we are seeing with increasing frequency the much less lyrical 'only 17 graded higher by PCGS and NGC'.

All this would be fairly inconsequential were it not for the matter of commission rates. The auction houses that prepare those lovely, large catalogues, with color photographs and lengthy descriptions, will find it increasingly difficult to compete. The more descriptive approach costs more and requires a longer lead time; this means that higher rates must be charged. Like all changes in the coin market, the market itself will provide the solution; bidders will make their decisions, consignors will make their decisions, and auction houses will flourish or fall accordingly. If the quick and cheap approach does dominate, future catalogues will make mighty dry reading - and that might be dangerous in a business that depends upon romance to stimulate desire.

One final observation. The quality level of photographs of slabbed coins in auction catalogues has been notoriously poor - the coins are extremely difficult to photograph well through the plastic, especially if it has been scruffed up a bit. The slabber that archives quality negatives taken before slabbing (for future use) might find both a profitable sideline and a marketing edge.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service. The first authentication service (established in 1972) to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic 'Cahsa'. Costs start at $23; a free information and fact booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903 3279, phone 800 367 9723 or 719 632 2646.

CCDs/Bills reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and around the certificate have no negative comments. ANACS Bills are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $21, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 'lab-tested' inert, hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the submitter.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coin in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principal of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. Arms length, NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1989, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Park, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205 2788. Phone (214) 528 2400. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halpern/TNCCI Grading Graders which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade, and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 10% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of encapsulation. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of encapsulation.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 40% coins, and Washington Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDs/Bills reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer bids.

The Bluesheet

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit on a sight basis.

"Honest Abe, I wouldn't put my face on anything other than an NGC-graded coin."

Let's face it. There are millions of coins in circulation today. But when it comes to real face value, the coins in NGC holders are the ones with the most honest grades.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation faced facts, recognizing the need for a new standard of grading in the coin industry. While other grading services continue to allow their employees to be active dealers, NGC's policy has been to strictly forbid final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes.

Coins graded by NGC are evaluated by professionals whose only job is to determine the exact quality of the coins they're grading. They have no commercial interests to serve. Thus, NGC offers both buyer and seller the benefits of independent analysis and complete impartiality. Resulting in coins that are not subject to fluctuating standards. Coins that can be bought and sold sight-unseen. Through NGC authorized dealers, and now through the American Numismatic Exchange.

By making honesty its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Which is why, when some of the world's most respected financial institutions decided to invest in rare coins, they trusted their money to NGC.

Whether you're a hobbyist, a collector, or an investor, you can always trust NGC to give you the best money can buy. Honestly. Slashed Bids Reflect Weakness In Certified Coin Market

Loving the coin business as we do, it is pretty depressing to witness periods like this last week. Bidders in the sight-unseen market, brandishing a handful of excuses, have trashed Bids soundly in less than one week. Especially irksome is the finger pointing aimed at the carrier — we would have more sympathy towards an explanation based on sunspots or NCAA officiating. The latest upward surge in coin prices, developing over the previous 4 - 5 weeks, was demolished by actions taking only 4 - 5 minutes. How? By withdrawal of Bids from the electronic systems.

The minus signs in the charts this week probably average a decline of 15% off last week's Bids, with some declines up to 50% having been seen. We have seen this kind of volatility before, usually as a result of maneuvering by a handful of individuals, and the market usually bounces back quickly as the potential profits garnered during the decline are realized. However, this drop in Bid is different in that many dealers, especially in the Morgan Dollars, are chasing the Bids down with dropped sells. Why would anyone want to sell a coin at 70% of last week's Bid? This is making a reality of the belief that the true coin market has dropped. Have a third of the collectors or investors disappeared during the last week? Did they hold a convocation and decide that coins were only worth 70% of the previous week's levels?

In short, has the rare coin market disintegrated? I merely repeat an observation — a concept implicit in the brave new world of electronic trading, if you will — that has appeared many times in this column: Volatile movements in the sight-unseen market are best viewed as an indicator of dealer cash-flow positions. The coin market hasn't plunged, only some dealer's belief in their own business. The dealers who have established and service a strong customer base, report that they are doing very well, thank you. In the past, also on many occasions, we have described the sight-unseen market as a market of last resort — a market to use when you need to move coins quickly for immediate payment. Well, in a word, if you have coins to sell, this is not the week to do it. Next week, who knows? We could just as easily see prices surge 25%, or decline another 25%.

Meanwhile, has the value of rare coins changed? Not unless you need to sell into this market, just to make someone else richer. For those dealers who are serious about making this market more professional and presentable to the Wall Street money crowd, their efforts will come to naught with this kind of volatility. Who but the most stalwart gamblers will want to get involved in a "safe" investment that can lose 25% of its value in a week — especially in a week where there was no logical cause for such a retreat. As one dealer wryly noted, what 'looked to be a mini-Bull was actually a Bull-ette'. We would be hard-pressed not to agree that the coin market has shot itself in the foot once again.

Perhaps more distressing is that the market allows itself to be whipped by just a couple of "major players" — I hesitate to use the term "market leaders". As much as we dislike the results of dealers continuously entering and leaving the market, they are certainly within their rights to do so under current rules and regulations. To every dealer who complains that the Bid levels are just too low, we make the same recommendation — you Bid higher. The staff of the Bluesheet is only too happy to recognize additional Bids that can help turn minus signs into plus signs. As with so many other unpleasanties in life, the correction only takes the efforts of one person — and it begins with each dealer reading this.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA, and has certified more than 1 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 475 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972) to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23, a free service and form booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3779, phone: 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDs Bids reflect 1989 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificate bears no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 'lab-tested' (cert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principles of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. Arms length, NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1986, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2793. Phone (214) 528-1500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halpern, (N.C.I. Grading Council) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $18 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued. If not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of both on the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal. A requested NCI established grading with in alloy holders: 1800K, Goodness, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. PCGS Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Market Consolidating Before Central States Plus/Minus Signs Defy Direction

The certified coin market shows signs of consolidation, as this week's charts reveal a well-distributed abundance of plus and minus signs. While the total number of minus signs remains high, the declines are far less severe than witnessed last week. At least some of the minus signs, especially in Morgan Dollars, are the result of dealers offering to sell coins at discounted prices into the declining market; this will have the result of forcing this area lower if it continues.

The 51st Central States Numismatic Society Convention, taking place in Milwaukee this weekend (PNG day was Thursday), should provide the coin market with a better indication of market direction. Dealers remain divided on their opinions of future direction, but many have expressed dismay over the recent volatility—no dealer likes declining inventory values or unhappy customers.

For the dealers who don't participate on the electronic exchanges, there are substantial questions regarding the level of influence of sight-unseen electronic Bids on the traditional sight-seen trading of the bourse floor. Most buyers (whether dealers, collectors, or investors) prefer to purchase their material sight-seen—that is certainly one of the main attractions of conventions. To accommodate the advantages of both methods of buying, a dual pricing structure often has dealers publishing one Bid for a coin sight-unseen (usually at a level that would insure their happiness even if the coin was the worst possible example of that grade) and a higher Bid level for sight-seen purchases (where personal examination could assuage all uncertainty).

But at conventions, sight-seen trading continues to dominate, with the sight-unseen Bids often used as a starting point for negotiations. None of this is to deny, however, the growing influence of the sight-unseen Bids on the overall coin market. As sight-unseen trading has increased (even though inclined towards the generic IBID), the influence of that market on the larger coin market has also increased. The number of certified coins has grown tremendously (PCGS has now graded over 2 million coins!), and the teletype market has naturally embraced slabbing as a 'common language'. While the influence of sight-unseen Bidding on the market in raw (non-certified) coins has grown, so has the volatility of that larger market. Naturally, there has been no complaint when rapid increases in certified coins pulled along Bids for the raw coins—but what happens when you have events like last week. If the sight-unseen market drops 15% in one week, does that mean that the entire coin market has dropped by that amount? How much should the lack of depth in Bids on any one teletype affect the entire market? Central States should provide a few answers.

Another part of the answer can be found in the prices realized from major auctions. When sight-unseen, Bids drop substantially just before a major auction, floor bidders (who have examined the material) often exceed the earlier (higher) Bids for the nicer looking coins. Bowers & Merena recently concluded their Boyd, Brand, & Ryder Auction, with total prices realized exceeding $4.5 million. Certified highlights include

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $24; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer awards the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a lab tested (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 524-5500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (numismatists compared to the other three services listed). Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 1800-1849, and Washington Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Blue Sheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit,
on a sight basis.

Central States Verifies Strength Of Dealer Buying Activity

It is very important for coin dealers to remind themselves that when the sight-unseen market appears to be weak, it does not necessarily follow that the overall coin market must be weak. The sight-unseen Bidding aspect of certified coins, which is monitored and subject to rapid changes on a daily basis, is an important but still relatively small portion of the total certified coin business. Granted, sight-unseen trading gets the majority of dealer scrutiny, but it hardly seems fair to put so much pressure on sight-unseen Bids. Naturally, the Bluesheet focuses on this part of the certified market because this is our stated mission—to report the highest nationally observed sight-unseen Bid.

After sight-unseen Bids fell about two weeks ago, some dealers began chasing certain issues even lower by offering to sell at still lower prices. However, to the free market's credit (in numismatic's "typical" supply/demand economy), certified coin prices began to solidify at the new levels. When prices become too cheap, the market leaders jump back in and what seemed like economical areas begin to rebound. Before you start wondering which issues rebounded this week, we must inform you that this is not an easy question to answer. It was not so much that the sight-unseen market rebounded as it was that the coin market, or perhaps even the spirit of the coin market rebounded in general.

Common generic coins showed strength in that potential sellers avoided selling coins to the "low" high Bids. In other words, by "sellers" not selling coins to the current high Bidders, the market did not fall further. In order to create activity and to buy coins, the "active" buyers must raise their Bids.

As verification of the resiliency of the overall market, even the casual observer could see the amount of activity taking place on the bourse floor. Granted, the majority of transactions may have been a result of sight-seen trading, but frankly, who cares? The basic idea of sight-unseen Bidding is for the high Bidders to buy coins, but the Bids also lend credence to a base price for a specific coin in a particular grade. However, what we all really want to know is what a coin will ultimately bring. And isn't that what really matters? Not whether it is sight-seen, sight-unseen, raw, certified, whatever. What is the value of the coin?

Certification and sight-unseen Bidding both contribute to the salability of the overall coin package to the ultimate buyer. Credibility as an investment vehicle is what commercial numismatics is trying to build, and we recognize that it is a slow process. Volatility causes setbacks; but over time, as the volatility is reduced, the strength of the sight-unseen market and its influence on liquidity will be recognized.

If the ultimate buyers are made to be aware of this possible volatility, then they should be all the wiser investors. Making profits in a volatile market then becomes a very simple process: Buy low, sell high. It really is as simple as it sounds. You pick your spots and buy issues which are in down cycles, while ignoring those which appear too high. Bear in mind, that the free market operates here as well. Too much "greed" in an up-market may cause you to demand too much for a particular issue, thus causing you to miss the up cycle.

Sight-unseen trading is of tremendous value to the coin business, yet currently, it may not be the ultimate value for a particular coin. This was the moral of Central States as volumes of coins were trading at strong premiums over the "low" high Bids.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Place, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin ("N.C.I. Grading Guide") which may be considered somewhat liberal (generous) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer to Dealer Bids.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

"General Washington, don't toss that coin across the river. It's in an NGC holder!"

NGC wasn't around when George was. But if we were, the grade we would have given to the silver dollar he threw across the Potomac would still be the same today.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation has thrown out a challenge to the coin industry, recognizing the need to establish a stricter, more consistent standard for grading coins.

NGC knows that consistently accurate grades make coins a safer, more liquid investment. And accurate grades take time. NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Plus, every coin graded by NGC is evaluated by a team of at least 3 expert graders whose consensus is essential to the assignment of the final grade.

By making limited, accurate grading its policy, NGC has brought greater stability and credibility to the coin industry, in turn making rare coins a more viable investment option for Wall Street and the investment community.

Whether you're an investor, a collector or a hobbyist, you can always rely on NGC to give you the best money can buy, by George. For more information about NGC, complete and mail the coupon or call 1-201-984-6222.

Market Segments Rebound Proof-65 Type Glitters

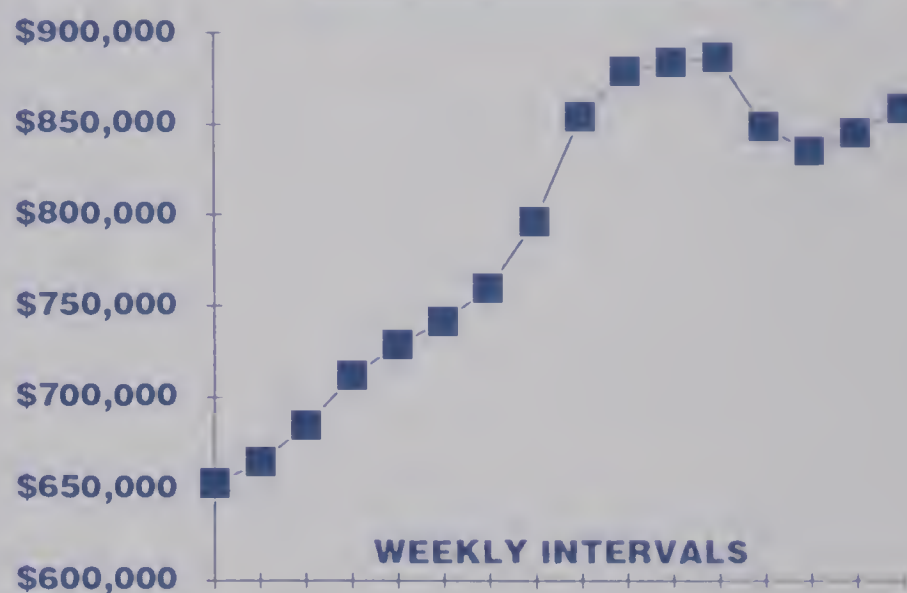

The market continues to rebound nicely off the temporary lows witnessed just before Central States. Volatility, for all its negative effects on the coin market, is a wondrous circumstance to behold on the up-swing.

In trying to summarize the certified coin market during the first months of 1990, there are probably as many interpretations as there are quantitative measures. One thing is certain—it has been an exciting ride. We recently looked at activity in the Proof-65 Type coin charts, and were reminded again of the importance of these coins to the numismatic market. Many dealers and collectors look at Proof-65 type as the quintessential type coin: You have the established rarity of mintage, and the superb quality of production. What is there about Proof-65 Type that anyone could dislike?

Activity in this segment of the rare coin market has been nothing short of spectacular since January! For our examination, we looked at a portfolio composed of the issues we list in our Proof-65 Type charts, and aggregated the Bids to produce a single basket figure. At the very least, you must be impressed with the performance turned in by these glittering gems. From a $650,000 basket Bid in January to $850,000+ Bid now—that is some performance. So, when it comes to Proof-65 type, forget about volatility—coin prices have always gone up and down; forget about 'excessive' rarity—there are more than 15,000 slabbed specimens in the basket, so there is opportunity to participate; and forget about the pre-Central States slump, as severe as it looked—with performance like this (unless you bought at the peak), who cares about short-term?

One parting thought—working the math (population figures from current Bids) reveals Proof-65 Type as a $50 million market. Add in the other grading categories and you have a pretty wonderful piece of an enormous numismatic market.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23 a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 'lab-tested' (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin ("N.C.I. Grading Guide") which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for other dealers. $20 M. Grading and Verifying liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

NumisCap™

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention Interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple-image hologram to deter counterfeiting and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

COVERT DETECTION METHODS: In addition to the above features, PCGS has also incorporated various integrated covert detection methods to ensure the overall integrity of every PCGS NumisCap™.

Market Seeking Direction As Activity Increases

The direction of the certified market again defies simple description, as the charts reveal a plethora of pluses combined with a multitude of minuses. We caution our readers again not to put too much emphasis on the raw number of indicating symbols. There is a world of difference between a plus sign representing an increase of 5% and one resulting from a 30% jump; and a $1 drop in generics can produce enough minuses to overshadow healthy 10% increases scattered across the chart.

While the overall market seems to be following no particular bearing at this time, there are some smaller trends among the various series. Among the commems, the spreads between the MS61 through MS63 coins are getting very thin. At its extreme, this phenomena manifests itself in identical Bids being occasionally placed on these 'lesser uncs'. It seems to contradict most recent numismatic pricing tradition to have different grades Bid identically, but the narrowing of spreads would seem to be a logical result of Bidders' attention and dollars being focused on the lower-population, higher grade coins.

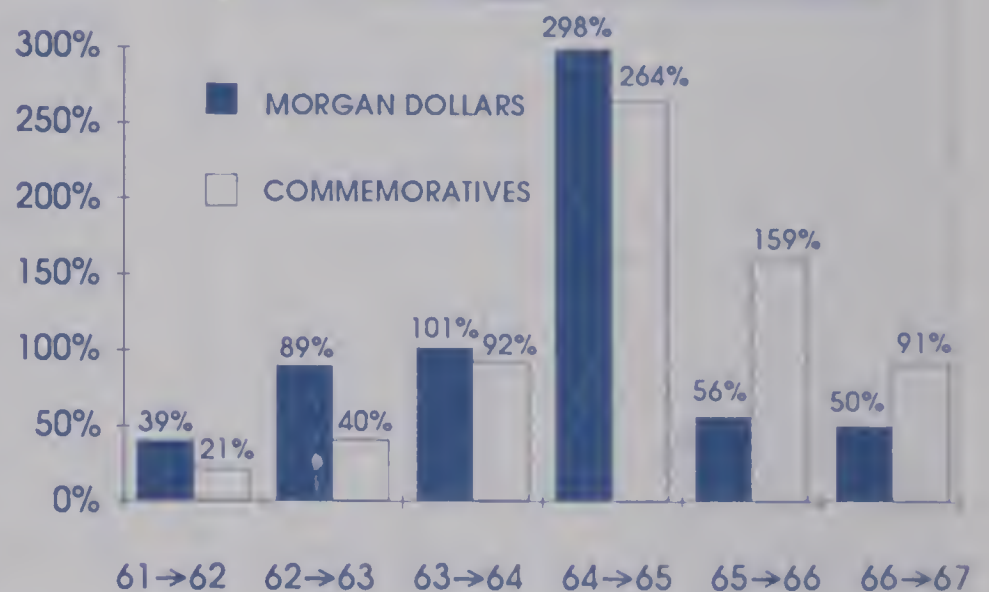

This trend, if it continues, could result in increased collector activity in the buying and selling of the 'lesser uncs'. As more demand dollars chase the higher grades, the MS61s begin to look so very reasonable. It remains, however, to be seen what will happen to the salability of the MS61 @ $120 when the MS63 is available at $140. Of course, with so many of the higher circ./lesser unc. commems ending up in Europe, the demand should continue to fully occupy the supply.

We have remarked before that each series, according to striking characteristics and populations, usually has two adjacent grades that feature a rather substantial spread. One dealer, who has been carefully following the spreads, has made a poorly-kept secret out of his buying the grades just south of the big spread; his logic is that his customers are getting the nicest coin for their purchasing power. This is a very different philosophy from 'buying the best'.

Looking at the spreads between adjacent grades for both Morgan Dollars and Commemoratives illustrates the closeness of the Commem spread. The percentages were developed by summing and comparing Bids in each grading category. Please keep in mind the caveats that these percentages are based on averages, and that within each series individual issues will differ in their performance.

% SPREADS BETWEEN ADJACENT GRADES

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service. The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic 'Cache'. Costs start at $25, a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80904-3279, phone 800-367-8729 or 719-532-2840.

CCDA Bids reflect 1986 and never certified coins, and assume the certificate has no negative comment. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer verifies the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $29, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 'lab-tested' (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. 'Arm's length'. NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, National Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 928-3800. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Hopper, the NCI Grading Guide, which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $28 per coin. You pay regardless of the grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned (guaranteed) with a refund of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins directly in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading facilities in San Antonio, Fort Worth, Dallas, and Washington, D.C. Due to commercializing policies, NCI coins can only be sold once a month. CCDA Bids reflect 1986 and never certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluebook Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

“General Washington, don’t toss that coin across the river. It’s in an NGC holder!”

NGC wasn't around when George was. But if we were, the grade we would have given to the silver dollar he threw across the Potomac would still be the same today.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation has thrown out a challenge to the coin industry, recognizing the need to establish a stricter, more consistent standard for grading coins.

NGC knows that consistently accurate grades make coins a safer, more liquid investment. And accurate grades take time. NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Plus, every coin graded by NGC is evaluated by a team of at least 3 expert graders whose consensus is essential to the assignment of the final grade.

By making limited, accurate grading its policy, NGC has brought greater stability and credibility to the coin industry, in turn making rare coins a more viable investment option for Wall Street and the investment community.

Whether you're an investor, a collector or a hobbyist, you can always rely on NGC to give you the best money can buy, by George. For more information about NGC, complete and mail the coupon or call 1-201-984-6222.

Dealers Search For Buying Opportunities At Current Levels

Over the past several weeks, the tentative nature of Bidding on many of the series found in the Bluesheet indicated growing uncertainty over market direction. One sign of this was the liberal distribution of both plus and minus signs over the charts, as dealers adjusted their inventories and Bids. This week's charts indicate that the market has begun a general decline; dealers have not just lowered their Bids, they have begun to sell various coins into the declining markets. In addition, several dealers have also mentioned that money has been tight for the last few weeks; this, of course, is probably due to the fact that annual taxes were due April 15th.

In both Dollars and Commemoratives this week, we have observed numerous offers to sell coins at levels down to 10% less than last week's Bids. MS-65 Silver Commems are showing some upward activity, which helps to offset the weakness in the other grades. However, Morgans are not afforded the luxury of stability this week. Minuses outnumber pluses about 8:1 as sellers continually try to sell excess inventory.

Digressing back to Commems, it is important to note that the Gold issues are in very strong demand at new higher levels. Almost every grade and issue is showing signs of positive Bidding (Grades MS-61 to 66 are quite strong); this is encouraging as it indicates that not all areas of the market are weak. In fact, if this area remains stable over the next few weeks, it may assume the leadership role that other series need to look to in order to reverse this current trend.

Among the specialty series, some issues of Buffalo Nickels are substantially lower this week. While most of the grades in the post-1926 issues are suffering from lower Bids, among the early dates this weakness is limited to the MS-63s. Mercury Dimes are fairly mixed with plus and minus signs, except in the MS-67 column, where Bids fell from $500 to $425 this past week. Walkers are generally weaker across the charts, yet, insignificantly so. That is until you view the MS-66 and 67 columns and find that Bids fell as much as 20% for some issues. Nonetheless, there is a bright spot for those in a cash-rich position. As prices drift lower, buying opportunities are bound to be present; this will allow the astute buyer to jump in at very reasonable levels. It remains for you dealers to make your clients aware of these opportunities and make certain that they are "positioned" to take advantage of these lower levels.

The Type charts, like the other areas mentioned, indicate an excessive number of minuses; yet, unlike the other areas, these declines are due to marketmakers lowering their buys, while very few discounted sells are being monitored. This would seem to indicate that dealers may be cash-poor at this time, but they are not willing to sell Type just to raise cash.

Furthermore, if they can buy coins at these new Bid levels, then all the better. Most dealers feel that Type coins can be one of the best areas of the market — an area where substantial price gains can be achieved over a very short period of time. This can be magnified even further when market momentum takes hold and drives the entire coin market to higher levels. In the meantime, many of the dealers still feel that Type coins are one of the best areas to buy into for the long run.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & pattern: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $21; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903 3279, phone 800 367 9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205 2788. Phone (214) 528 3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (generous) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

Client or tight-teen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids

The Bluesheet

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer.
 What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit,
 on a sight basis.

PCGS and NGC are the only two services that have been approved by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to grade and certify U.S. coins. The only other service that has been approved is the American Numismatic Association (ANA). The ANA's grading service is not as strict as the other two services and is not as widely accepted.

PREMIUM QUALITY RARE COINS

For a long time, we have bought and sold Premium Quality coins, and strongly recommended them to our own clients. 1910-D Barber 25¢ MS-66

A beautiful lustrous coin in blues and other colors, also a very rare coin.

PCGS pop. 1 15,000

1907-S Barber 25¢ MS-66

Even rarer than the 1910-D, with more vibrant colors.

PCGS 17,500

Five to choose from; only 45 MS-68s in all dates; over 1 million Morgans graded in Mint State. 15,000ea.

1924 Saint MS-66

Always a nice step-up from a '65'. The rarity factor goes up 200 to 1; a very P.Q. coin. 8,750

1921 Peace Dollar MS-66

NGC pop. 1 20,000

This is a white coin. One mark keeps from higher grade - 'RARE'.

A very attractive coin; super clean with a rainbow of subdued colors both sides. PCGS pop. 7 9,750

Single or as a set. All with color 7,500 each. . . .

about Pacific Coast Auction's recent

CERTSALES:

"Long Beach sets the standard (AGAIN) Pacific Coast's CERTSALE IX witnessed several price records, as an 1852 Pattern Gold Dollar, J-191 in PCGS Prf.-63 brought $40,800. A rare 1808 Quarter Eagle, PCGS-61 realized $56,100 and a 1907 High-Relief Double Eagle in NGC-65 was hammered down at $40,800."

Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter

"Mid-Winter ANA (PNG) confirms intensity of current certified rare coin market. Pacific Coast Auctions conducted their Tenth Certsale, realizing over $1.3 million. These sales are unique in that they are for certified coins only; consignments are accepted up to almost two weeks prior to the sale and the buyer's fee is reduced to a moderate 3%. Furthermore, the seller's fee is also a modest 3% if the lot is already slabbed."

"Auction evolution hinges on speed." Pacific Coast Auctions has held 10 "Certsales" during the past four years. The firm conducts auctions at the Long Beach Exposition, one of the best known shows on the circuit, held three times annually. Pacific Coast President Ron Gillio indicates, "We were the first auction company to be authorized by PCGS. The sales have been very successful! Mel Wacks, Pacific Coast Auction Director, created a shorthand system to display features such as rainbow toning, cameo contrast and other details, and such symbols are used when applicable in the catalog."

Market Uncertainty Continues as Dealers Look to St. Louis for Direction

Dealers attending the National Gold Convention arrived in St. Louis, uncertain of the direction of the market. Minus signs continue to litter the charts, but there are a sufficient number of plus signs on selected issues (and some of them representing substantial increases) to cheer the hearts of a few dealers. Hopefully, a strong show will help to turn the market in a more positive direction.

Among the Morgan Dollars, activity in the MS-65 issues and the DMPLs is largely upward. We have commented recently on the steady upward movement of the DMPL issues, and this week is no exception. This week generally seemed to witness fewer sells chasing Bids down further, a sure sign that some of the cash flow pressure on dealers may be easing. Most of the activity in Peace Dollars is concentrated on the MS-64 and MS-65 issues, with the pluses just slightly outnumbered by the minuses.

Because of the nature of the certified market, dealers armed with want lists have the option to Bid on coins at whatever level they see fit. What this ultimately means is that some 'old-time' theories no longer are relevant. For example, an 1883-S in MS-65 is worth more than an MS-64 (forget about the fact that MS-64s were not recognized over five years ago). And a P/L is worth more than a non-P/L of the same grade, or, a DMPL is worth more than a regular P/L. Some of these 'accepted' truisms are now being challenged.

The way dealers are Bidding for coins they need on their want lists now, may allow a lower quality coin to creep up "price-wise" on a higher quality coin. If no one is Bidding on the higher quality coin, the Bid price may remain stagnant, while the lower grade coin is being Bid higher each week. In some cases it may surpass the stagnant issue because of this temporary need to fill the want list. Since the Bluesheet reports the high Bids without assuming a higher grade coin is worth more, there may be times when a lower quality coin will be Bid higher than the next higher grade.

A current case in point can be found in the Mercury Dime series. A 1923-P in MS-65 is now Bid at a higher $340, while the Full-Band is Bid at only $235. A knowledgeable numismatist would quickly think that we had made a typo; however, they might not know which figure was incorrect! As we stated earlier, theories of the past do not necessarily work as simply today. Bids may not rise in ascending order; there may not be an orderly way to price coins due to the way dealers Bid on coins they need (while ignoring issues they don't need).

More enlightening is the fact that many dealers Bid on low population issues for sales expounding the virtues of rarity. When the grading services began, all issues (population figures, that is) were rare. Now that the number of coins certified by the major grading services hovers around the three million mark, the true rarities are more apparent. That knowledge of rarity is one of the reasons why many issues have fallen of late; the supplies greatly exceed the demand.

The main fallacy that occurs in the case of low population coins is that some counts are due to the fact that the coins are not worth sending to the grading services. Therefore, you may have 50 coins graded MS-65, 30 coins graded MS-64, and only 3 coins graded MS-63, while the "true" populations run the other way. The low population does not necessarily make the MS-63 a good purchase; what needs to be considered are the counts to the 'right' in the population report sequence.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins and assume the certificate has no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23 plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (intrinsically) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 30% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDn Bids reflect 1987 and newer uncirculated coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

"General Washington, don't toss that coin across the river. It's in an NGC holder!"

NGC wasn't around when George was. But if we were, the grade we would have given to the silver dollar he threw across the Potomac would still be the same today.

That's because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation has thrown out a challenge to the coin industry, recognizing the need to establish a stricter, more consistent standard for grading coins.

NGC knows that consistently accurate grades make coins a safer, more liquid investment. And accurate grades take time. NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Plus, every coin graded by NGC is evaluated by a team of at least 3 expert graders whose consensus is essential to the assignment of the final grade.

By making limited, accurate grading its policy, NGC has brought greater stability and credibility to the coin industry, in turn making rare coins a more viable investment option for Wall Street and the investment community.

Whether you're an investor, a collector or a hobbyist, you can always rely on NGC to give you the best money can buy, by George. For more information about NGC, complete and mail the coupon or call 1-201-984-6222.

PCGS Announces the Next Revolution: Computer Grading

At a press conference this week, PCGS announced that they have a new grading "Expert" on their staff—a Macintosh IIx running a 50 megahertz Motorola 68030 chip. Give their "Expert" software / hardware package a Morgan Dollar, and three minutes and 2.2 billion calculations later you have a graded coin. Knowing the advances in computer technology over the last five years, few numismatists seriously doubted that it could ultimately be done; but it took PCGS's knowledge, leadership and dedication to the task (along with several years and millions of dollars) to make the dream a reality. A reality that started grading coins on May 17.

The software, naturally, is the heart of the system. It uncannily replicates the decision-making process of a grader examining a coin; it captures the subjective observation parameters of the human grader. In this sense, the machine is not 'objective'—nor could it be, because there is no mathematical description of an 1885-S Morgan MS65 that it could use. Instead, the "Expert" is consistently subjective. Having been "taught" what those grades mean, it unerringly applies what it has learned (and what it is constantly learning) to the task at hand. Extending the tested and proven software to additional machines will be relatively simple, so PCGS will be able to 'hire' as many "Experts" as they desire.

With a precision that inspires marvel, the "Expert" examines each coin under several types and directions of light, captures the image, and then begins making measurements and value judgments on strike, luster, marks/impairments, "eye appeal", reflectivity, and color. Forty-two coins can be examined during one cycle before the operator must turn the coins for examination of the reverses. The "Expert" holds the information on each obverse, matches it to the reverse data, and then determines the final grade. Three minutes per coin, 24 hours a day (if desired) without error, eyestrain, or coffee breaks.

While the program returns the grade to two decimal places (i.e. MS65.34), PCGS certificates will continue to use their standard grading system. A coin that the "Expert" grades MS64.99 will still get an MS64 label, and at this time, PCGS has no plans to move to decimal point or PQ grading for coins above the .5 line. Additionally, coins graded by the "Expert" will receive no special packaging, so owners of Morgan NumisCaps will not know whether their coin was human or computer graded. All warranties, naturally, will remain valid.

Having accomplished the monumental task of programming all of the knowledge and subjective value-making decisions of the graders for Morgan Dollars, PCGS will now expand the software into other series whose volume warrants the development costs. $20 St. Gaudens and Walking Liberty Half Dollars should be the next two series to become computer-gradable.

Meanwhile, in the coin market, many Bids were substantially lower this week as dealers and customers seemed to be taking a wait-and-see attitude towards the sight-unseen market. It is a small irony that a week which demonstrated an almost "unbelievable" advance in coin grading could also encounter such a vivid reminder that the value of a coin remains rooted in demand. You don't need a computer to remember that in any selling business, the customer is still King.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $20; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279 phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin ("N.C.I. Grading Guide") which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDn Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.
 Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CCDn, albeit, on a sight basis.

Introducing the Next Giant Step for Your Coins

In 1986 PCGS set the grading standard for the rare coin industry... and guaranteed it.

This first step has attracted the participation of Wall Street giants such as Kidder Peabody and Merrill Lynch into the two billion dollar PCGS rare coin marketplace.

Since the advent of the Professional Coin Grading Service , no single event has possessed the power to transform the way the world views rare coins as an investment.

...Until now.

Imagine objectivity beyond question.

Imagine accuracy rivaling perfection.

Imagine a grading method without temperament.

Imagine...We did.

It's time. Watch as your coins take the next giant step.

The Standard for the Rare Coin Industry.

PCGS has graded 2,017,301 coins with a declared value of $2,208,744,653

Certified Coins Aplenty at Superior's Boys Town Sale

Buyers of certified coins will be swarming at this weekend's auction of the Boys Town Sale at Superior Galleries. Lot 3364 will certainly not be mistaken for a bulk lot, even though it contains ten mixed items: nine certified coins, and one old leather case. We are writing, of course, about the fabled King of Siam Proof Set, with Bidding scheduled to commence at the $2,775,000 mark. And what a collection those nine coins comprise:

- 1834 Half Cent, PCGS PR66, Red & Brown
- 1834 Large Cent, PCGS PR66, Brown
- 1834 Dime, PCGS PR67

Nothing in American numismatics comes close for Romance, Value, Quality, or Significance. About the closest you can come to a rival is the 1804 Dollar, and this set has the finest known in addition to a 'few other coins'. And even that 'old leather case' is part of the wonderful story of the 1804 Silver Dollar, with its yellow color stipulated in the State Department's instructions to the Mint for the production of complete sets of American coins for presentation to the King of Siam (yellow case) and the Sultan of Muscat (crimson case). In fact, it was the 'rediscovery' of the details surrounding the production of these sets that finally solved the mystery of the 1804 dollar. And the buyer of this treasure inherits his own mystery and task—filling the two empty holes in the case.

While you are perusing the list of other certified rarities, don't forget the more than a baker's dozen of High Relief $20's, the commemorative gold, the Territorial gold, etc. that we don't have room to mention.

The advantages of a sale of this caliber segueing into Long Beach week seem obvious. The annual Long Beach trio of coin shows have become an international numismatic magnet, and having a major auction for a neighbor guarantees healthy dealer, investor, and collector attendance at both events. And there is a lot to be said for saving the dealers the bother of separate travel plans.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $24; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDs do not reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $24 plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principal NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Place, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 738-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James H. Palmer (N.C.T. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a special grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned upgraded with a charge of 10% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading cost for silver dollars, 40¢; 5¢ coins, and Washington Liberty halves, 70¢. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDs Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer bids.

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

“General Washington, don’t toss that coin across the river. It’s in an NGC holder!”

NGC wasn’t around when George was. But if we were, the grade we would have given to the silver dollar he threw across the Potomac would still be the same today.

That’s because, since its inception, Numismatic Guaranty Corporation has thrown out a challenge to the coin industry, recognizing the need to establish a stricter, more consistent standard for grading coins.

NGC knows that consistently accurate grades make coins a safer, more liquid investment. And accurate grades take time. NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Plus, every coin graded by NGC is evaluated by a team of at least 3 expert graders whose consensus is essential to the assignment of the final grade.

By making limited, accurate grading its policy, NGC has brought greater stability and credibility to the coin industry, in turn making rare coins a more viable investment option for Wall Street and the investment community.

Whether you’re an investor, a collector or a hobbyist, you can always rely on NGC to give you the best money can buy, by George. For more information about NGC, complete and mail the coupon or call 1-201-984-6222.

King of Siam Set Leads Market Advances Generic Morgans Lead Market Declines

Superior's Father Flanagan's Boys Home Sale promised to be an exciting numismatic event, and the overflow crowd attending the $21.5 million event certainly had no cause for disappointment. Bidding was intense from the start for the 'specialist' coins offered, especially for lots from the H. Roland Willasch Collection of Bust Half Dollars and Bust Silver Dollars. As the evening's anticipation for the King of Siam Proof Set grew, the crowd was treated to Wayne Gretzky purchasing the Hamilton Fish Family 1873 Pattern Trade Dollar Presentation Set (for a mere $137,500) just prior to the "main event".

After months of guesses, predictions and commentary, dealers continued to disagree on the price that Lot 3364 would realize up until the last moment. Estimates ranged upward from the opening Bid of $2,775,000. When "the Set" opened, many in the audience were so busy scanning each other that they almost missed the action. A movement was made in the back of the room, a Bid recognized, and "the King" had a new master—Iraj Sayah. With $3,190,000 and sixty seconds, numismatic history was made. The cheering audience included not only the usual major dealers, but also a host of executives from major brokerage houses witnessing some of the very best that numismatics has to offer.

The 1901-S Barber Quarter, graded NGC-68, reached the staggering sum of $550,000. The Eliasberg trio of 1899-S gold ($5, $10, $20), graded by P.C.G.S. as 68, 67, & 67 respectively, sold intact for $209,000. Other highlights included:

News of a less pleasant variety has been distressing the dealer community, as prices on generic coins in general, and Morgans specifically continue to lead an ever-widening market decline. The number and severity of minus signs has been increasing, and dealers are growing concerned about this general market liquidation. Certainly some of the current declines in slabbed Morgans can be attributed to Butterfield & Butterfield's auctioning of 7,000+ P.C.G.S. Morgans this week, but it is obvious that this decline must be viewed as a major realignment of generic prices over the last year.

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA. and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 500 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticator graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & pattern grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $33, a free service and fees booklet is available from ANACS 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80904-1279 phone 800-367-9723 or 719-532-2646.

CCDs: Bids reflect 1989 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 525-3000. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Hagerman (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $33 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Washington Liberty Bells. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be issued once a month. CCDs: Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Sight-Unseen Market Continues To Slip While Many Dealers Wait On Sidelines

The marketplace is filled with indecision as many of the nation's leading marketmakers continue to remain on the sidelines in an effort to wait out this drastic downturn. Despite the lowering of so many Bids, the Long Beach Convention and the accompanying auctions proved to be quite successful. Many dealers at the Long Beach Show reported that they were doing business at the new lower levels and were able to turn significant profits. In some cases, it is just a matter of participating at whatever the market dictates and the dealers who are capable of adapting quickly, do much better than those who procrastinate.

Opportunistic may be the terminology which best describes this situation; however, it also exemplifies the fact that the market is still quite willing to absorb true rarities at record levels if the coins are truly scarce. The recent Superior auction served to prove this also. The fact that money may be tight in the dealer community demonstrates that the sight-unseen market may not be best utilized in a down market. Because dealers are not likely to covet new inventory in a weak market, they will lower their Bids to the point where sellers are not likely to effect their Bids; but if the seller chooses to execute the trade, then the Bidder should be comfortable at this new level.

Dealers who have a strong client-base, seem to be having much better success in this current market over those who are committed to strictly wholesale or a primary dealer base. Those dealers with clients who understand the fundamentals of market cycles, probably have customers beating down their door so they can buy coins at these levels. In fact, this last point was brought to our attention by numerous dealers at the Long Beach Show. The stronger your client base, the less you have to rely on the sight-unseen marketplace. The more educated the customer, the longer he will remain a valued customer.

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA, and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 525 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972) to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS' proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCD's Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length." NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3501. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers and consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered more what literal measurements compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade, and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of original fee.

NCI has established grading fees for silver dollars, $30 for Gold coins, and Washington Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCD's Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluebook Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

“Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!”

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability and constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Whether you're a hobbyist, a collector or an investor, be sure to bring your ungraded coins to the NGC authorized dealer to be sent on to NGC for certification. You might be saving a fortune. And when you're in the market for a new coin, be sure to buy one that's in an NGC holder. Because you can always trust NGC to give you the best money can buy.

Mixed Market Has Bright Spots Morgans & Gold Type Recover Lost Ground

While the news of dropping Bids still can't be totally repudiated, we are encouraged by the large number of plus signs appearing in this week's charts. Over the years, we have pointed to Morgan Dollars and Commemoratives as two market segments that are good indicators of current customer (collector) demand. It seemed that despite increased volatility in some of the 'thinner' segments, Morgans remained an excellent index of the strength of the collector. Of course, with Morgan certified Bids dropping steadily over recent history, we found ourselves increasingly 'hearing' dealers' laments over the demise of the collector. Explanations for the decline in Bids are as numerous and varied as there are coin dealers.

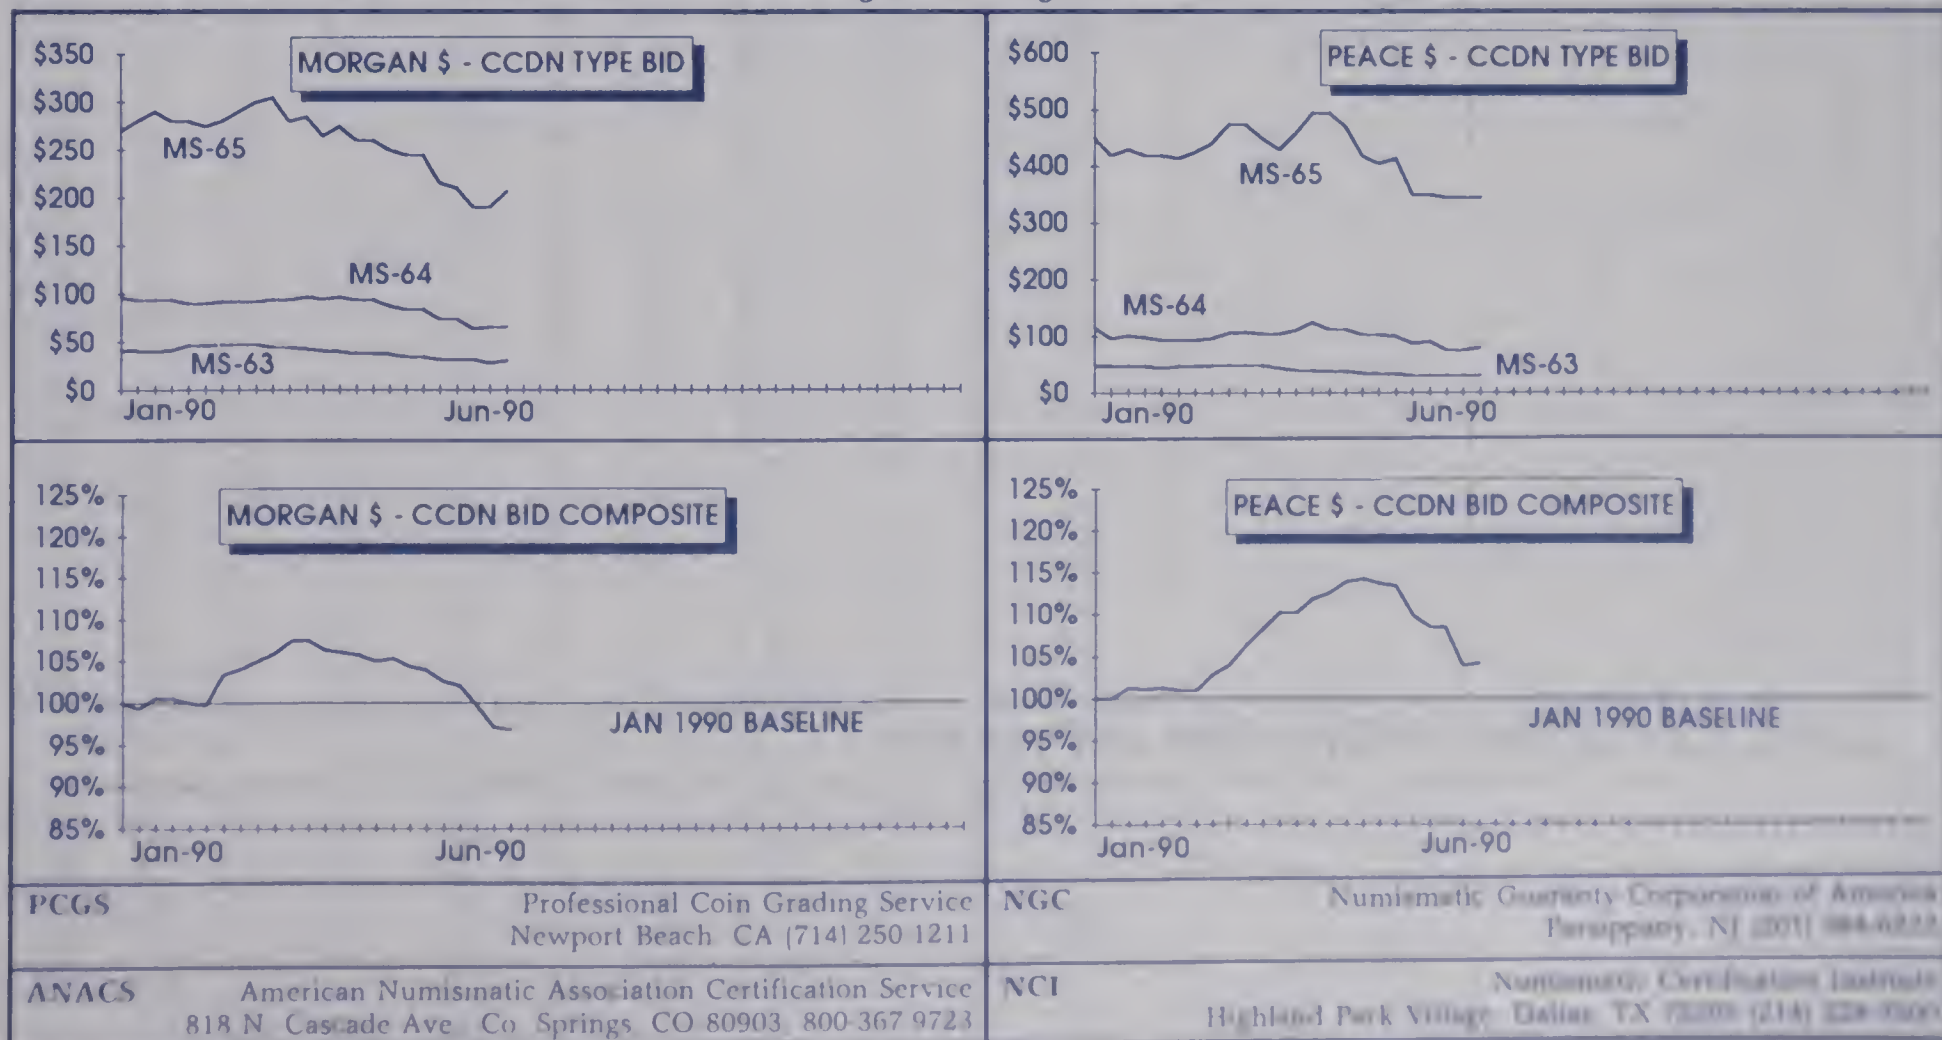

This liquidation in the coin market, as revealed through an examination of Bid prices over the last two years, reveals several important truths about the certified market: Despite its weekly volatility, long-term trends are increasingly significant to pricing analysis; As the forces of supply and demand continue to work their pricing influences, the overall market will move according to whether money is being injected or removed; And despite the highest sight-unseen Bid that we report, what remains significant is the price that the real coin is bringing in the sight-seen marketplace.

This week introduces a new feature to the Bluesheet - Bid charts. We have been asked by many of our subscribers to include charts that would indicate market direction at a glance, and the response to our recent front-page charts has been most favorable. Frankly, we were just a bit concerned that charting the recent downward market direction would not make a particularly effective sales tool. To assuage our fears, we have been assured that many customers prefer to buy 'at the bottom' With the recent surge in plus signs, we are certainly hopeful that this latest 'bear' market has indeed run its course.

The Morgan and Peace CCDN Bid Type graphs track Type coin Bids in grades MS-63, MS-64, and MS-65, and are reported in dollars. We remind you that CCDN Bids represent the highest sight-unseen Bids available at press-time. Furthermore, Bids for generic issues, with their narrow Buy/Sell spreads, represent 'full value'; infrequently traded issues (rarer coins) may have wider Buy/Sell spreads and the actual value of these items (on a sight-seen basis) may be markedly higher.

The Morgan and Peace CCDN Bid Composite graphs are based on the total of Bids in the weekly Morgan and Peace dollar charts (PCGS & NGC, MS-61 through MS-67 inclusive); since the dollar total is 'irrelevant', the current figure is presented as a percentage comparison to the starting figure. We may occasionally change the time frame of the charts, so the starting and ending dates will be critical to your usage. Many of our future charts will also be based on the composite concept, as we endeavor to provide overall pictures of the strength of segments in the certified market.

CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.
Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

NumisCap™

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention Interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple image hologram to deter counterfeiting, and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim, while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

COVERT DETECTION METHODS: In addition to the above features, PCGS has also incorporated various integrated covert detection methods to ensure the overall integrity of every PCGS NumisCap™.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Mixed Market Finds Rare Coins Stronger, Generics Weaker

The weekly charts again demonstrate uncertainty of direction in the certified market, although from the standpoint of 'rare coins', the market has definitely ended on the "plus" side of mixed. Considering the number of minus signs seen in sight-unseen Bidding over recent months, even a 'strictly' mixed market would be considered very good news. As it is, the number of plus signs has given many dealers renewed optimism about the value of their inventories. We haven't heard anyone predict a new "Bull" market yet, but we are hearing increased talk that maybe the 'Bear' has finally departed.

Morgan Dollars, coming off last week's good news, demonstrate the "mixed to plus" nature of the entire market. Generic Morgans in MS64 and MS65 continue weak, and we are hearing increased "heresy" from dealers—maybe these coins just aren't all that rare! The population reports that demonstrated just how rare the truly rare coins are have been a double-edged sword in the Morgan market. Individual rare Morgans, and especially the Deep-Mirror Prooflikes are continuing to demonstrate strength. Peace Dollars were steady with little movement.

Mint State Type is somewhat stronger, while MS64 and MS65 Proof Types are showing substantial strength. Mint State Gold is on the plus side of mixed, while Proof Gold is decidedly in the 'plus' camp. Silver Commemoratives are a little stronger in MS65 and MS66, but continue their recent lackadaisical trend; Gold Commems are up modestly in MS63–MS65. Among the specialty series, early Buffalo Nickels (especially in MS65) are up, but the 'middle-grade' generic Mercury Dimes took a dollar dip—not enough to do any real damage, but producing lots of minus signs. Late Walkers in MS65 and MS66 are recovering nicely. Proof singles continue a mixed bag, with most of the pluses concentrated in the 1930s.

This week continues the introduction of the Bluesheet's newest feature—our front page Bid graphs. Indicating market direction at a glance, the graphs can make an effective sales tool—even the market downturn can be an incentive for your contrarian customers who prefer to 'bottom shop'.

This week's graphs cover Mint Type, Proof Type, Gold Type, and Proof Gold Type weekly Bid charts. All of these graphs are composites—based on the total CCDN Bids in each particular weekly chart (PCGS & NGC MS-61 through MS-67 inclusive). Since the actual dollar total is irrelevant, this week's cumulative ("composite") figure is presented as a percentage comparison to the starting figure. We again remind you that CCDN Bids represent the highest sight-unseen Bids available at press-time. Most of our graphs will be based on the composite concept to provide overall images of activity in the various certified market segments.

The Bluesheet
Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.
Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer.
What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Bidding Active & Mostly Steady Despite Summertime 'Blahs'

There may be a 'heat-wave' in California, but it certainly isn't inspiring any coin-buying frenzies. It's not at all unusual for summertime lethargy to hit the coin industry, as dealers, investors and collectors hit the highways instead of Bids. Coins may be investments, competing with stocks, bonds, and CDs; but they are also a leisure-time activity, and must compete with the Beach, Tennis, Camping, and a host of other holiday activities. While we love to see exciting action in the coin market, we can appreciate that we all need an occasional holiday.

Bids generally continued to be 'mixed to upward' across this week's charts, as dealers who had been waiting on the sidelines (as well as those dealers whose customers had been waiting on the sidelines!) began to reenter the 'Bidding Battle' for certified coins. Some of the activity was spotty (usually a good indication of dealers filling Want Lists), but the market continues to look healthy—not a bad situation in view of the 'vacation syndrome'.

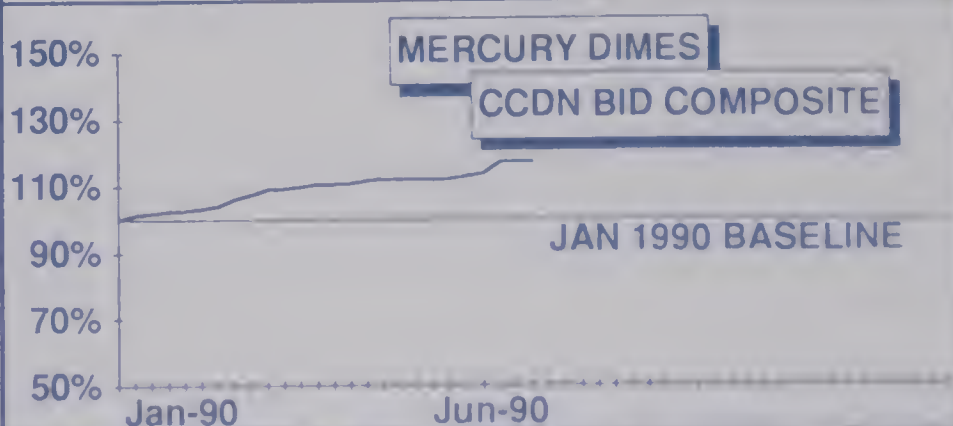

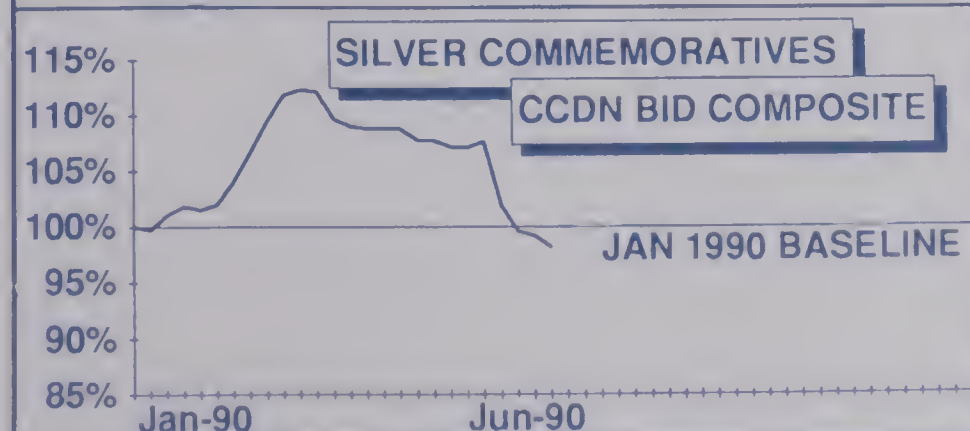

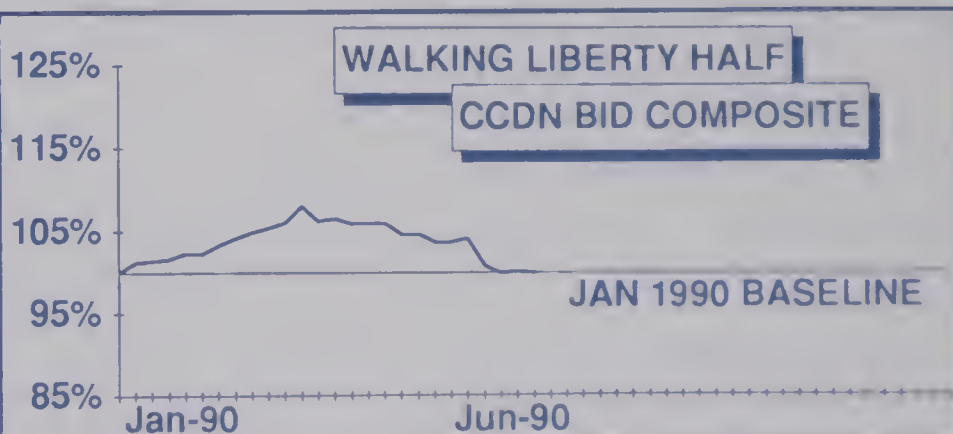

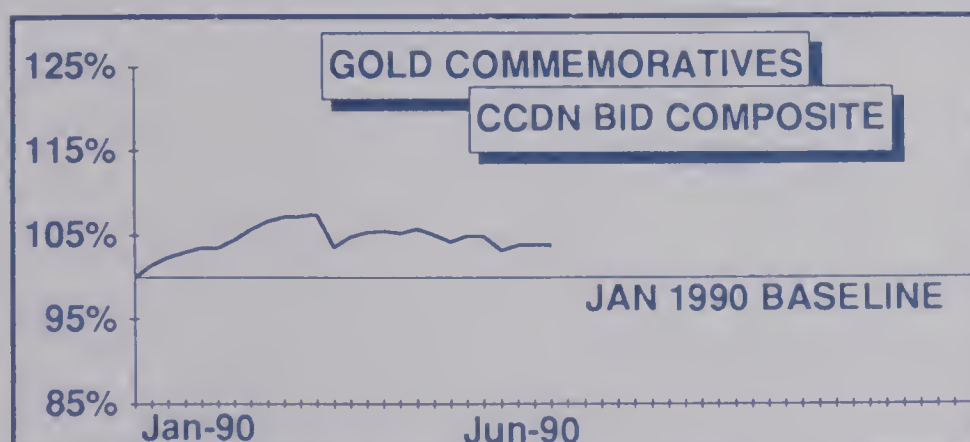

Activity in Silver Commemoratives was generally downward, but with some increases in MS61 and the higher uncirculated grades. The recent weakened demand for the 'lesser uncs' in Commems, a series that is often used to judge the strength of the collector market, has more than a few dealers concerned. Whether the lowered Bids are a result of less demand from Europe, or whether U.S. collectors are seeking other series, remains to be seen. Most of the activity in Gold Commemoratives was on the plus side, as has been the case in recent weeks.

Morgan Dollars were also showing some renewed vigor, as pluses outnumbered minuses about 3 to 1. Every time some pessimist starts to count the venerable Morgan out, it seems to rise once again. This is not to deny the incredible drops in generic prices over the past two years—but only to point out the incredible resiliency of this market segment. Peace Dollars are continuing mostly flat.

Mint State Type was generally steady while most of the activity in Mint State Gold was downward; as rare as many of these Gold Types are, it is still surprising that the waves of activity in the bullion markets will sometimes affect demand for them. Proof Type coins were mixed and Proof Gold had a few pluses, although fewer than we had seen in recent weeks. Early Buffalos are showing considerable strength in MS-65. Movement in Mercury Dimes was almost entirely downward. While the generic Walking Liberty Halves continue to demonstrate consistent inconsistency (read volatility), many of the better dates and higher grades are beginning to advance. MS-66 Walkers in the later issues are particularly strong. Proof Singles are showing more strength than of late, again mostly in the higher grades.

This week we continue our introduction of graphs to the front page of the Bluesheet. This week's graphs cover the Silver Commemoratives, the Gold Commemoratives, Mercury Dimes, and Walking Liberty Halves weekly Bid charts. Again this week, the graphs are composites—based on the total CCDN Bids in each particular weekly chart (PCGS & NGC, MS-61 through MS-67 inclusive). The Mercury Dime graph of course, only includes the MS-64 through MS-67 grades, both regular and full-band. The changes in these composite figures are graphed as a percentage against the January 1990 baseline. We again remind you that CCDN Bids represent the highest sight-unseen Bids available at press-time.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN albert on a sight basis.

CCDn does not buy/sell coins whatsoever. CCDn does not recommend any particular dealers. Bid prices are represented as authentic to the CCDn, nevertheless, CCDn implies no guarantee whatsoever.

Certified Market Activity Lethargic Some Plus Signs Brighten Summer Outlook

Few numismatists would argue that the St. Gaudens' 1907 High Relief Double Eagle is not a rare coin. It is, after all, one of the most coveted of all American coins, both as a major design type, and as one of the most beautifully designed coins that the Mint ever produced.

And yet, as anyone who frequents coin shows can attest, at just about any show of consequence, you could easily buy a dozen or two specimens. There are many rare dates in other series that you could not locate at many shows, but when (and if) found would sell for substantially less. Of course, this is a direct result of the demand side of the supply/demand formula. To date, PCGS reports examining 919 uncirculated specimens, and NGC has graded 374. The High Relief has the advantage of being truly rare, and yet with a large enough population so that even the intermediate collector can realistically think about owning one.

Naturally, the High Relief is subject to the same forces that affect the coin market as a whole, and especially the volatility that affects the certified market. We graphed the Bid performance of the High Relief from January 1 of this year, and compared it to the performance of the remainder of the Mint State Gold Type Coins. [The Mint State Gold graph line will not match the graph from the June 22 Bluesheet because the High Relief figures have been 'backed out' of Type here.] Both graph lines are composites, including both PCGS and NGC Bids, MS61 through MS67, with subsequent weeks compared to the January baseline of 100%.

During January and February, on a percentage basis, the High Relief was under-performing the Mint State Gold composite; during March & April, it outperformed the Mint State Gold composite, and during May & June, the High Relief dropped substantially more than the other Mint State Gold coins.

We think that the High Relief $20 embodies much of what coin collecting is all about—it has beauty, artistic significance, a good 'story' full of interesting people, and a solid track record of increasing value over time. We can think of no special reasons why the High Relief should have performed so poorly of late. It remains among the most desirable of coins, and certainly the supply is sufficiently limited to justify any definition of "rare". At these price levels, several dealers feel that the collector's dreams can be that much closer to reality.

PCGS

Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA, and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 525 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS

American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit, educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23, a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3279, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America: Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

Numismatic Certification Institute: Organized in June, 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Huddell Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of the original fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal of the original fee.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 1893-S, 1894-S, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDn Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN albeit on a sight basis.

CCDn does not buy/sell coins whatsoever. CCDn does not recommend any particular dealers. Bid prices are represented as authentic to the CCDn, nevertheless, CCDn implies no guarantee whatsoever.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Minus Count Climbs As Dealers Contemplate Near-Term Market

The summer 'doldrums' remained with us this week, as activity in the certified market continued light. Most of the Bids that showed movement were on the minus side, as dealers continue to demonstrate little demand for sight-unseen material. Dealers with active customers and want lists are gently making their purchases, and inspecting the material as often as possible, to obtain the coins they need without displaying demand that might move prices higher. If demand continues to wane, the 'bottom-shoppers' should appear, but at least one dealer that we know has put his inventory into the bank and declared a long-term vacation until prices rise. While we don't encourage anyone's retirement, at least this method doesn't dump any additional inventory into the market.

Activity in Silver Commemoratives was light, with a substantial number of decreases in the MS66 and MS67 grades. Action in the Gold Commemoratives was mixed, with many of the pluses found in the MS63 grade. While several issues in the Morgan charts registered notable gains, the overall direction was downward, led by decreased Bidding activity (and levels) on both PL Morgans and the DMPL Morgans. Some of the minuses in the Peace Dollar charts were the result of lowered sells, as a pricing reality is made out of the lowered Bid levels.

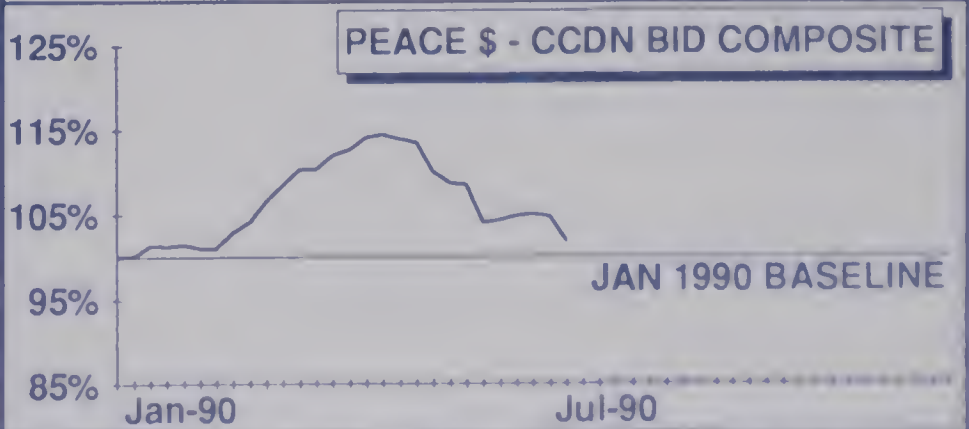

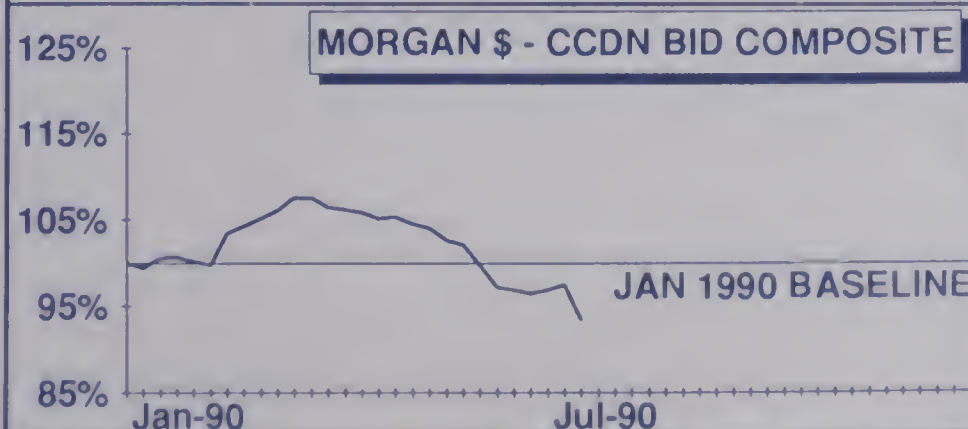

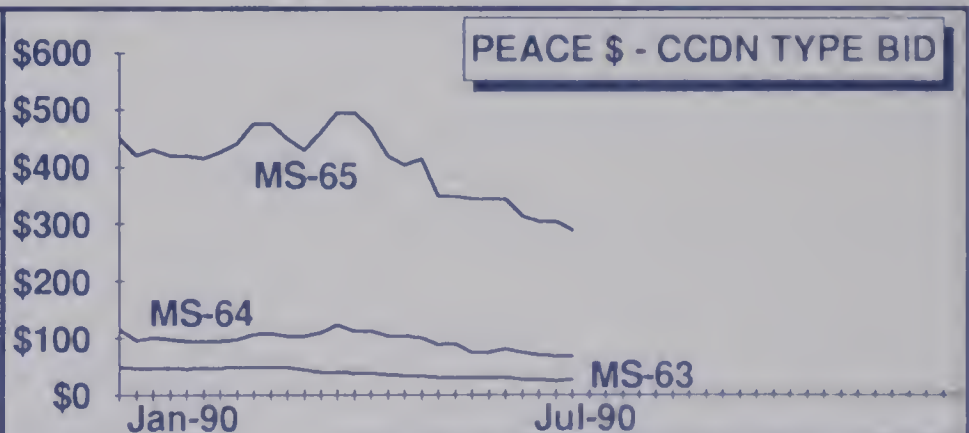

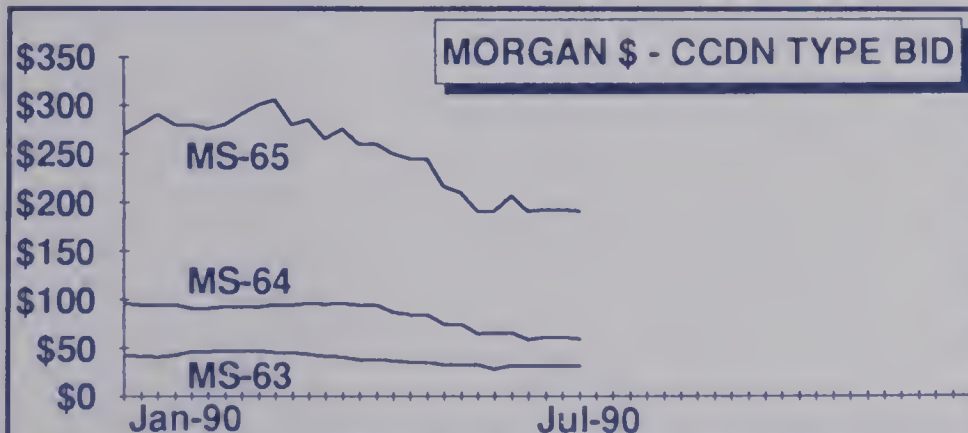

Mint State Type Coins are showing some continuing signs of weakness, with a scattering of minus signs; most of the pluses are to be found in the MS64 Silver Types. At least one dealer advanced the opinion that this was a sign that collectors are beginning to appreciate the 'good-looking' MS64 coins that can be purchased at fractions of the MS65 prices. Mint State Gold Type is also continuing weaker.

Proof Type coins appear to be one of the healthiest segments of the market, with strong upward movement in the MS63 through MS65 grades. Proof Gold also showed some resiliency in the face of the overall market decline.

Buffalo Nickel activity shifted clearly to the downside again, with minus signs outnumbering the plus signs about seven to 1. Mercury Dimes took a walk on the minus side, with a small increase in generic MS64 accounting for most of the upward movements. Activity in Walking Liberty Halves was almost entirely on the downside, with minuses exceeding pluses about 25 to 1. Proof singles were mixed, with most of the plus signs registered in better-grade early halves.

While we remain reticent about putting too much emphasis on the plus and minus signs (since the degree of movement is at least as significant as the quantity), there is no denying that the weakness and slowness of the current market is reflected in the raw count. Naturally, we need to add the caveat that lowered Bids do not necessarily mean lowered prices, and the value of rare coins continues to be higher than Bid levels. And we would remind our readers that as high as the total of minus signs is, our weekly charts do cover 10,000+ Bids, most of which remain unchanged.

P/L Dollars may be semi-reflective (on one or both sides), with less reflectivity than the deep-mirror Prooflikes. Bids for P/Ls are usually much lower than for DMPL but command some premium over non-P/L strikes.

The gold coins in this chart trade very infrequently. These are the last known bids.

Bids for Lincoln cents are for full red specimens in MS64 and higher.

Matte Proof Cent Bids for grades of PR64 and better are for full red cents. PR63 and lower Bids are for Red and Brown cents; See Proof Type Coins page for Type Bids in all colors.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Bidding Activity Picks Up As Market
Heads Into Chicago & Seattle

Bidding activity on all of the teletype services seems to have picked up, although the direction of movement is not at all uniform. This may still be remembered as 'one of those markets' when the only generalization that could be made is that you have to look at individual coins from specific series in specific grades to determine Bidding 'patterns'. If nothing else, the volatility in direction and quantity rapidly exhausts our repertoire of metaphors.

Changes in the Silver Commemoratives were "a mixed bag", about evenly divided between the pluses and minuses, with much of the growth coming in MS65 and MS66. Gold Commemoratives continued their general recent trend of 'weathering the storm', clearly heading upward. Peace Dollar activity was on the 'light side', with most of the changes downward. Morgan Dollars presented a 'toss-up', but generally looked healthier than in recent weeks. While some adjustments continued on the Deep Mirror Prooflikes, there were also many new recent highs as additional dealers have 'joined the chase' for these elusive specimens.

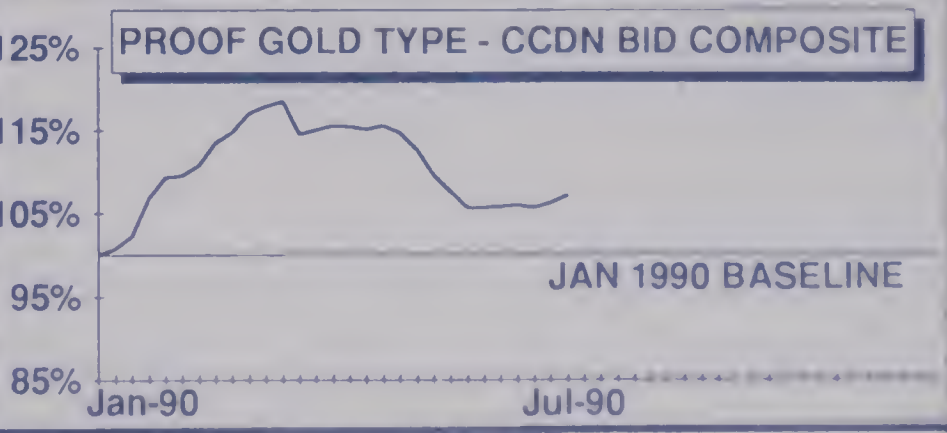

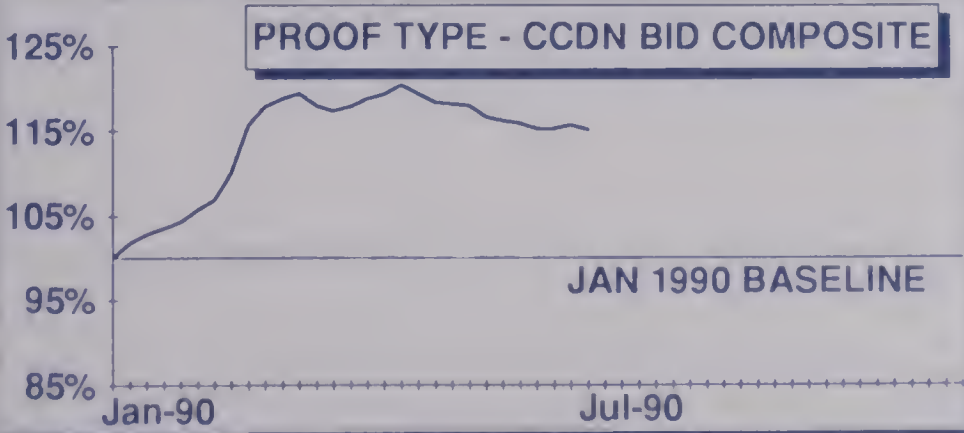

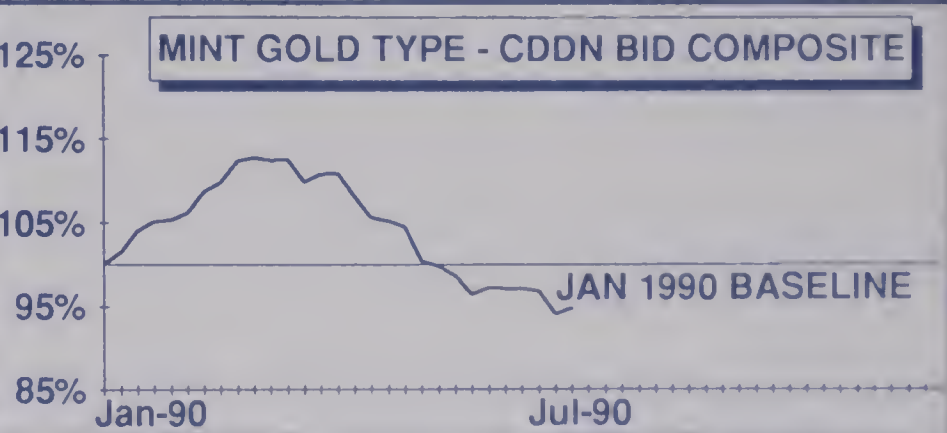

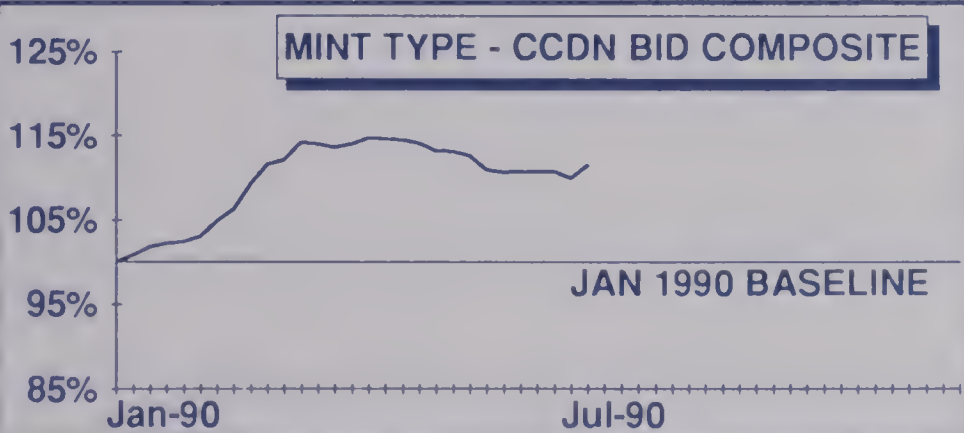

Mint State Type put in a relatively strong performance, especially on the Silver issues and across most grades. Mint State Gold was mixed, with most of its strength in MS61 and MS62. Proof Type coins were pretty solidly in the negative column this week. While the PR61 and PR62 charts seemed especially 'hard hit', minuses could be found in all grades. Proof Gold Type is advancing solidly, with substantial gains in the MS61s and MS62s.

Buffalo Nickels continue to feel the 'double-barrelled' brunt of lowered Bids and lowered sell levels. Mercury Dimes fared a little better, but still are showing uncertain direction. Walking Liberty Halves are still showing some of the same weakness that has characterized their recent charts. Early dates in MS64 and MS65 are the major bright spots in the Walkers.

As we have pointed out before, in the volatile sight-unseen market a substantial drop in the Bid may have no effect on the market value of the coin. The only certain conclusion is that the highest sight-unseen Bidder either dropped or lowered his Bid. However, when dealers begin to believe that the lowered Bids are actually signalling a market decline and begin to adjust their sell prices downward, the self-fulfilling prophecy becomes real. Hopefully, market demand will swell before ANA either way, the always abundant material available at this summer's Apostrophe Auction (in the Chicago area) and ANA Convention (in Seattle) will find willing buyers. Only the price levels are in question, and the answer there will determine whether this will be remembered as a buyer's market.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CCDn, albeit, on a sight basis.

NumisCapTM

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCapTM coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCapTM also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention Interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCapTM components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCapTM incorporates a multiple-image hologram to deter counterfeiting, and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCapTM to allow viewing of the coin's rim, while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCapTM to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCapTM safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

COVERT DETECTION METHODS: In addition to the above features, PCGS has also incorporated various integrated covert detection methods to ensure the overall integrity of every PCGS NumisCapTM.

Auction '90 To Present The Cream of Certified Coinage

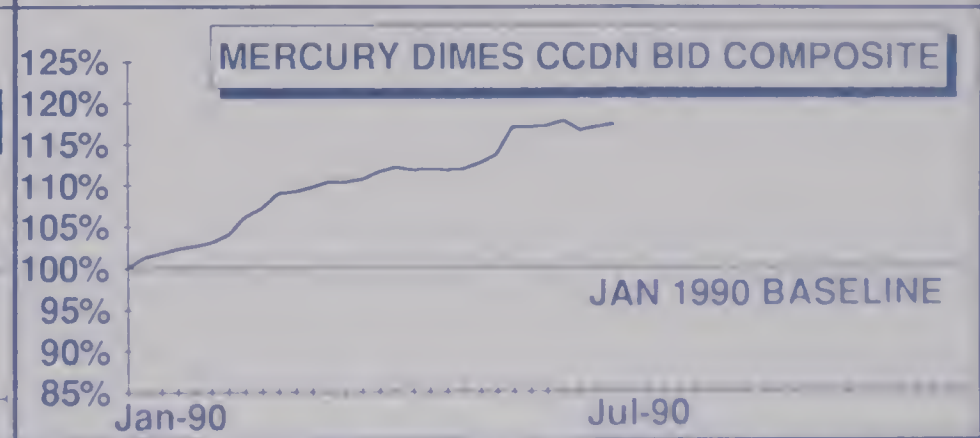

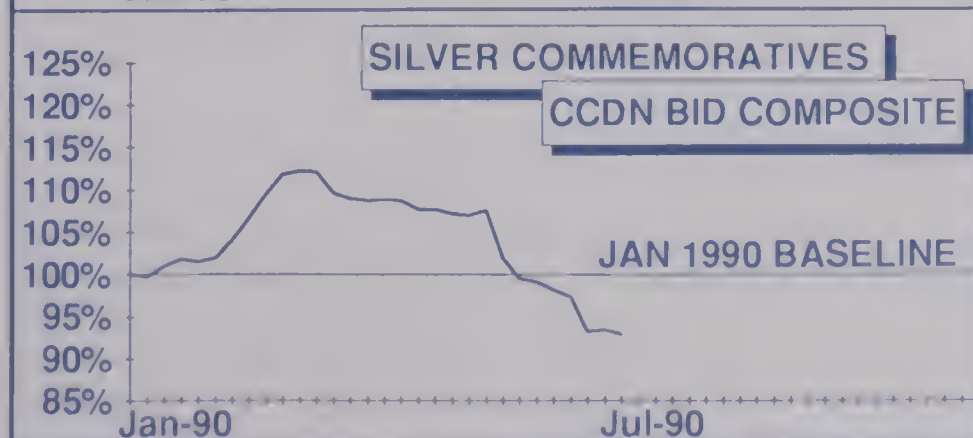

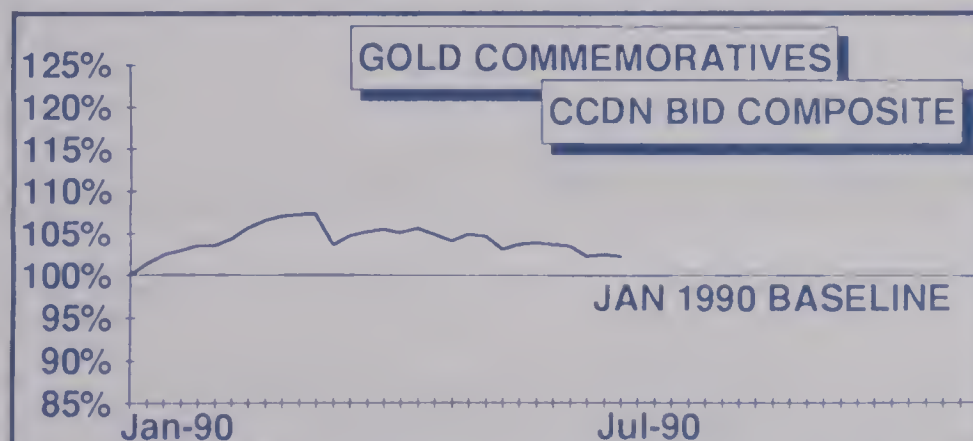

Auction '90, the annual event hosted by Stack's, Rarcoa, Superior, and David Akers, promises buyers the best that certified coinage has to offer. Now in its twelfth year, the 2,000 lot maximum of each sale (500 lots per firm) has forced an interesting discipline on the consortium: Each of their 500 allotted slots must be dedicated to the very finest material available. Due to the tremendous costs involved in producing both the catalogues and the event, only the most valuable material warrants inclusion – and this year is certain to add a substantial increase to the $108 million+ in combined sales. With the somewhat weaker cash position of the current market, buyers also may now be able to take advantage of some superlative coins that are reappearing from other auctions.

This week continues the recent trend of modest activity combined with minor minusing. Silver Commem changes are on the minus side, with MS66 specimens being the one bright spot. Gold Commem are showing some upward movement in MS64 (as have other series recently). Morgan Dollar activity is finally showing substantial strength, with minor drops in MS64 and MS65 generics more than offset by healthy increases in many better coins. Peace Dollars are still showing little changes, with many of those pluses. Both Mint State and Proof Type are solidly advancing. Mint State Gold is still moving downward, while Proof Gold is rebounding somewhat. Buffalo Nickels are declining across the series, Mercury Dimes are even, and Walkers are still showing some rather severe declines. Proof singles are also weaker.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Whether you're a hobbyist, a collector or an investor, be sure to bring your ungraded coins to the NGC authorized dealer to be sent on to NGC for certification. You might be saving a fortune. And when you're in the market for a new coin, be sure to buy one that's in an NGC holder. Because you can always trust NGC to give you the best money can buy.

Market Indications Show Improvement Over Last Few Weeks

The market is showing substantial signs of improved health this week as both the quantity and level of sight-unseen Bids has picked up. This will surely come as a relief to those inventory-heavy dealers who were hoping that the upcoming ANA Convention in Seattle would provide them with a solid selling opportunity. Notice that we did not say that the market was "healthy"; we are not hearing that from any dealers yet. But all agree that 'improving health' is a major recovery from the 'indifference' of the last several weeks.

Morgan Dollars are showing solid evidence of leading the market turnaround, with a broad-based number of plus signs outnumbering declines 3:1. Peace Dollars continue to be plagued by market nonchalance this week, with advances being matched by declines. Dealers are noting that the levels of some Peace Dollars are as low as they can recall in recent history, but it remains to be seen if their predictions for them as "solid buys" at these levels will be fulfilled by the marketplace.

Mint State Type and Proof Type are both registering solid advances, with pluses outnumbering minus signs more than 4:1 (with a majority of the minuses coming from adjustments on the NGC side of the charts). Dealers are remarking how pleasant it is to see Mint State Type and Proof Type advancing together 'for a change'! And in a hopeful sign, many of the plus signs are coming on the MS61 to MS64 coins that have been especially lagging lately.

Mint State Gold put in a bit of an erratic performance, with nearly equal upward and downward adjustments; other than a distinct weakness in the MS63 issues, the advances are covering the range of uncirculated grades. Movement in Proof Gold Type is nearly entirely upward, and likewise shows strength in the lower grades.

Buffalo Nickels are still showing signs of weakness, although we are seeing more plus signs; there is still a flicker of life left in the patient. Mercury Dimes are a bit healthier than the Buffaloes but are still far from robust with declines 2:1 over advances. Walking Liberty Halves, the series that has demonstrated over the past year the greatest reluctance to continue in any direction for more than two weeks at a time, is continuing weak.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service: Established in 1986 to grade and authenticate U.S. Coins. PCGS is located in Newport Beach, CA and has certified more than 2 million coins. All coins must be submitted through authorized PCGS dealers; contact PCGS at (714) 250-1211 for their list of more than 525 authorized dealers (throughout the U.S. and Canada).

PCGS has more than 15 graders on their staff; a minimum of three must agree on the grade before the final PCGS grade is awarded. The service costs $26 per coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service with time guarantees are available at additional cost. After grading, the coin is sonically sealed in an inert, hard plastic container and returned to the customer.

PCGS has a cash backed grading guarantee. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. All PCGS dealers are independent contractors, who are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins; many of them make sight unseen bids for PCGS coins. PCGS publishes monthly population reports.

ANACS American Numismatic Association Certification Service: The first authentication service (established in 1972) to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS proceeds promote numismatics through membership services of ANA (largest non-profit educational organization chartered by Congress). ANACS renders unbiased third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins) before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & pattern grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse for grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $23; a free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS, 818 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80903-3179, phone 800-367-9723 or 719-632-2646.

CCDN lists refined 1966 and newer certified coins, and assumes the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Park, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 328-3600. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade. And thirty professional dealers and consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial), compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal. If requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 1800's Coppers, and Walking Liberty Halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN lists refined 1966 and newer certified coins.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit on a sight basis.

“Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!”

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

PROFESSIONAL COMPUTER SOFTWARE for the RARE COIN DEALER

Finally . . . A professionally designed software package exclusively for the rare coin dealer.

No more will dealers have to pay tens of thousands of dollars for customized software or make do with something that is woefully inadequate for the task. Instead, for a reasonable price, dealers can buy a package that does it all.

This software is easy to use and was designed for the computer novice, so that you can reap the benefits of computerization without being a computer expert.

With the addition of an optional LASER SCANNER, the system works with the PCGS BAR CODE system for FAST, error free data entry. Of course, the system also operates without a scanner.

In addition to Numi-Sys, the package will also be available through ATC. For more complete information, call Casey Noxon or Bill Bauer at:

Dealers Expecting Market To Rise As Seattle ANA Approaches

The majority of dealers with whom we spoke this past week feel that the market is primed for a run-up beginning at the ANA. Many of them are stocking up on various issues which they do not already enjoy in inventory, so they will be prepared for whatever the marketplace is demanding. The market is continuing to follow the pattern remarked on last week, with added strength in many of the segments and a few continuing weak. While it is still too early to declare the market "strong", we repeat last week's maxim: "stronger" isn't as good as "strong", but it sure beats "weaker".

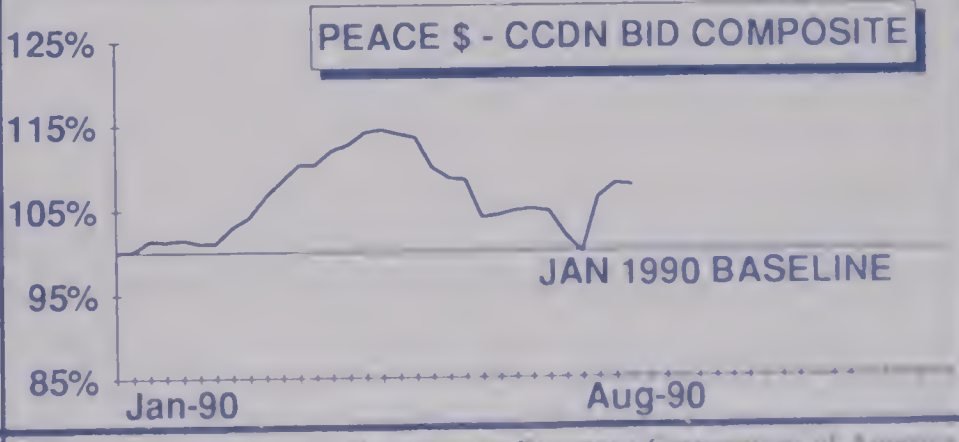

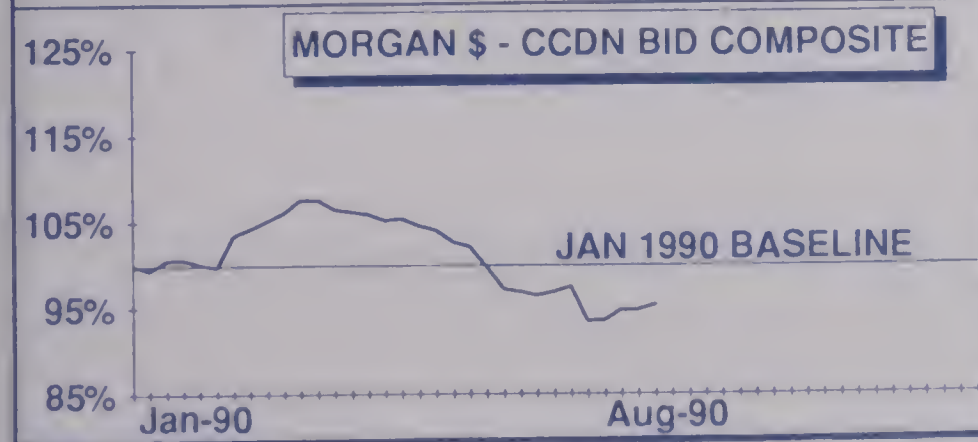

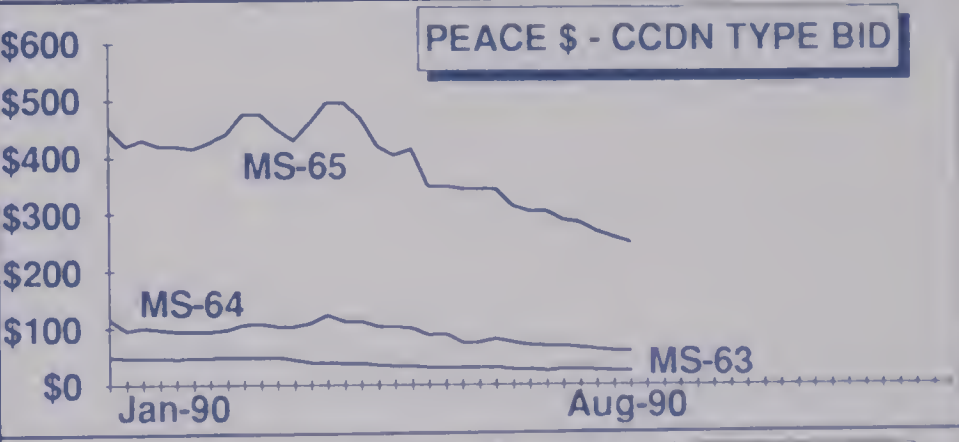

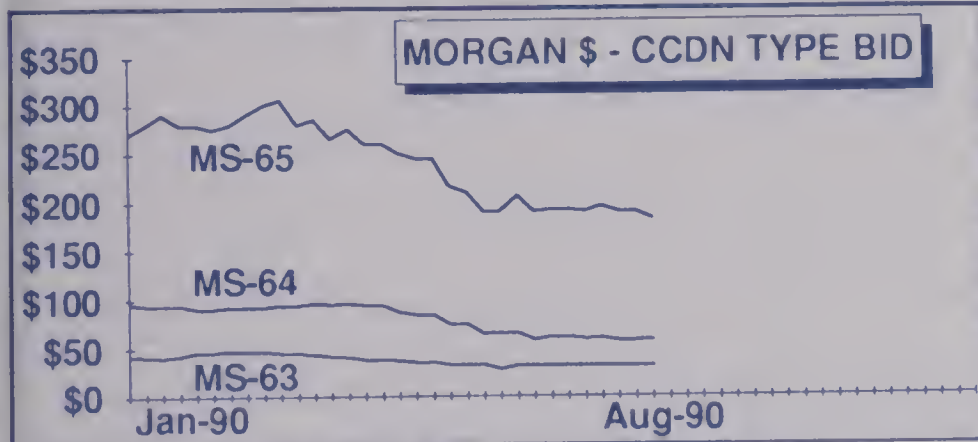

Over the last several months, many areas of the market had fallen to the point where the majority of Bid levels were not being hit by potential sellers. Most of the issues which continued to fall week after week were the most common generic issues. These are (almost by definition) the coins that every dealer seems to have in inventory, and the majority of collectors and investors already own as many as they want. These generic issues are hard-sellers unless a large investment house begins to market them to a new breed of investor, which could cause another round of increases. In the meantime, most astute dealers and investors (the collectors already do this) are looking to the slightly better issues, better grade coins, low population coins, and even the elusive rare-date coins.

Silver Commemoratives put in a lacklustre performance this week, with declines offset by some interest in selected MS67s. Gold Commemoratives were basically stable, with a few mixed changes. Morgan Dollars turned in a positive performance overall, with many of the minuses attributed to a readjustment in Bidding levels for Deep Mirror specimens. Peace Dollars are continuing to show minus signs under the pressure of lowered sells. Mint State and Proof Type Coins again showed mostly upward activity, with the advances spread across most grades. Mint State Gold was weaker overall, but Proof Gold Type advanced solidly. Buffalo Nickels are on the minus side of mixed. Mercury Dimes showed only scattered signs of activity, and Walking Liberty Halves are continuing their slide. Proof Singles are continuing stable, with some issues weaker again.

In our last issue, we began a weekly 'top 10' list, including the performers with the greatest percentage Bid increase for the week. As you could see from last week's list, all coins are eligible to make the list depending on a dealer's specific needs. For example, an 1888-S Morgan Dollar in MS-62 rose 47.06% in just one week; this was the eighth best performer for the week from all the issues we report in the Bluesheet. In order to keep this list as objective as possible, we will exclude those issues which do not show a population. A dealer Bidding up a non-existent coin might raise the Bid 1000% (and this provides the market with important information on the theoretical value if one was to be 'manufactured'), but this list will be more concerned with real Bid jumps on real coins. The top 10 will only include coins which exist and have a possibility of being traded.

The Bid Sheet

CERTIFIED COIN DEALER newsletter reports the national coin market on a regular basis. Only the most active areas of the coin market are included. Since prices are based strictly on dealer bids or offers with the dealer according to these needs. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the bidder. In these cases a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CCDn, albeit on a sight basis.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention Interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple image hologram to deter counterfeiting and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim, while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

COVERT DETECTION METHODS: In addition to the above features, PCGS has also incorporated various integrated covert detection methods to ensure the overall integrity of every PCGS NumisCap™.

Auction '90 Tops $25 Million Seattle To Test Market

Auction 90, hosted by Stack's, Rarcoa, Superior and David Akers, demonstrated once again the drawing power of high quality coins. Despite the recent weaknesses in the sight-unseen market, coins in the premiere ranks of quality and rarity will attract significant Bids. Now in its twelfth year, the 2,000 lot sale realized $25.7+ million, which makes a formidable total when added to the previously realized $108+ million. The four hosts reported sales as follows: Stack's $3.3 million; Rarcoa $5.7 million, Superior $10.6 million; and Akers $6.2 million.

With the growing dominance of certified material in most of the sessions, the sale serves well as a guide to the current health of the premium certified market, as well as the overall strength of the market leading into ANA. As might be expected, many of the signals are mixed—perhaps as mixed as the recent market. Selected issues are doing very well, while demand for others has slackened considerably. While the sight-unseen Bids on the various services have weakened (especially for generic coins), that is not unusual before a major convention. Dealers are away from their machines while travelling to Seattle for the ANA Convention, and inventory has been boxed and shipped into security. The true test of the ANA will come, as it so often does, with the opening days.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Market Dips Slightly As We Head Into Seattle

Sight-unseen Bids on certified coins moved downward this week, but it simply isn't possible to isolate the usual effects of dealers attending the ANA Convention from any possible backlash due to the 'bad press' from the FTC's filing of charges against PCGS. Experience has shown that Bids drop before most major shows, due to the logistics of getting dealers and their prime inventory to the show. A dealer away from his trading network is a dealer that cannot effectively buy or sell coins via computer terminal.

While PCGS' signing of the FTC Consent Decree has cleared up those charges, it also generated plenty of comments among dealers (and their customers). It is still too early to judge the effect that the current negative publicity will have on prices. The Coin Dealer Newsletter has long had a policy of not gratuitously reporting negative news about the coin market; as a pricing publication, we concentrate on market actions that affect pricing. It is unfortunate that the coin market, every dealer and every collector, may be 'punished' financially simply as a result of the bad publicity. And at a time when the coin industry depends increasingly on an influx of Wall Street money, having negative articles appear prominently in the Wall Street Journal and other major newspapers is bound to have an unpleasant effect.

It is ironic that the individuals who revolutionized the coin business with the most accurate grading that the market had ever witnessed stood accused of abusing that trust. We think that there is no question that a greater consensus on grading exists in this industry today than ever before. That is not to say that grading is precise, only that it is more precise.

Changes in both the Silver and Gold Commemorative issues were clearly in the declining ranks, with minuses outnumbering pluses by 10:1; changes were spread across all the grades we report. Minuses outnumbered pluses in the Morgan charts, but Bids were basically stable. Peace dollars were also stable, with most of the changes downward. Mint State Type coins were modestly weaker after their recent strengthening, while Mint State Gold continued its recent slide. Proof Type changes were modestly on the upward side. Changes in Proof Gold were few and mixed. Buffalo Nickels continue to slide, Mercury Dimes show a large number of minuses (although the pluses that exist can be substantial), and Walker activity was mixed. Proof Single Dimes and early Halves showed some upward activity.

This week we introduce a variant of the weekly top ten list that we have been running recently. These coins are among the best performing issues (on a Bid increase basis) since the beginning of 1990. As even a quick glance reveals, the gains made are substantial. The overall market may still lack direction, but there is no questioning that some of the 'winners' really win BIG.

As Bids Continue Lower ANA Provides Time to Think

The recently concluded ANA in Seattle, gave dealers lots to think about. Some of their observations were very old, and some quite new. Old-time dealers, who have weathered coin market cycles, know the value of the retail customer with cash; even wholesalers are aware of the advantage of selling to another dealer who has retail customers.

Many of the dealers came expecting to sell coins to collectors, and many cases on the bourse were filled with the lower valued coins that you may not have seen lately at major shows. Even with the wide range of material available, most of the dealers in attendance described the convention as "slow". Despite some visible strength in the upper price end of the market, more than a few dealers packed up early for home.

Among the new aspects of commercial numismatics, with which dealers must learn to live, will be the presence of the FTC. Representatives of the FTC were visibly in attendance, and they utilized several forums to address the dealers and collectors present. Following a week of actions that had been felt throughout the industry (especially in their signing of a Consent Decree with the Professional Coin Grading Service), dealers attending their presentations were pleasantly surprised at how little the FTC is demanding. Disclosure of risks, adherence to existing laws, and perhaps a little more attention to ethical considerations seem like sound operating principles for an industry that wants to grow. More than a few dealers whose businesses depend upon slabbed coins expressed relief, although there is still the nagging belief that dealers would prefer no regulation. We can't say it any plainer—the FTC's investigations into the practices of the coin business are going to continue.

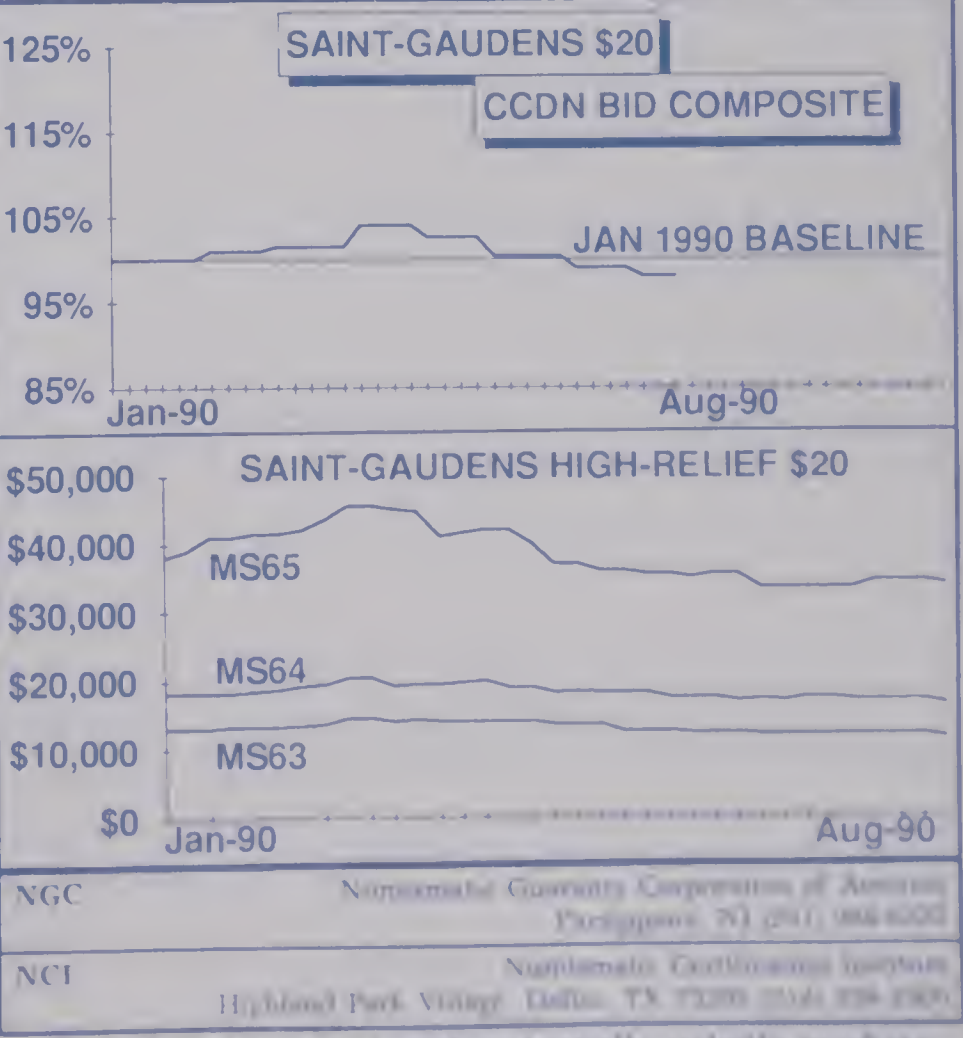

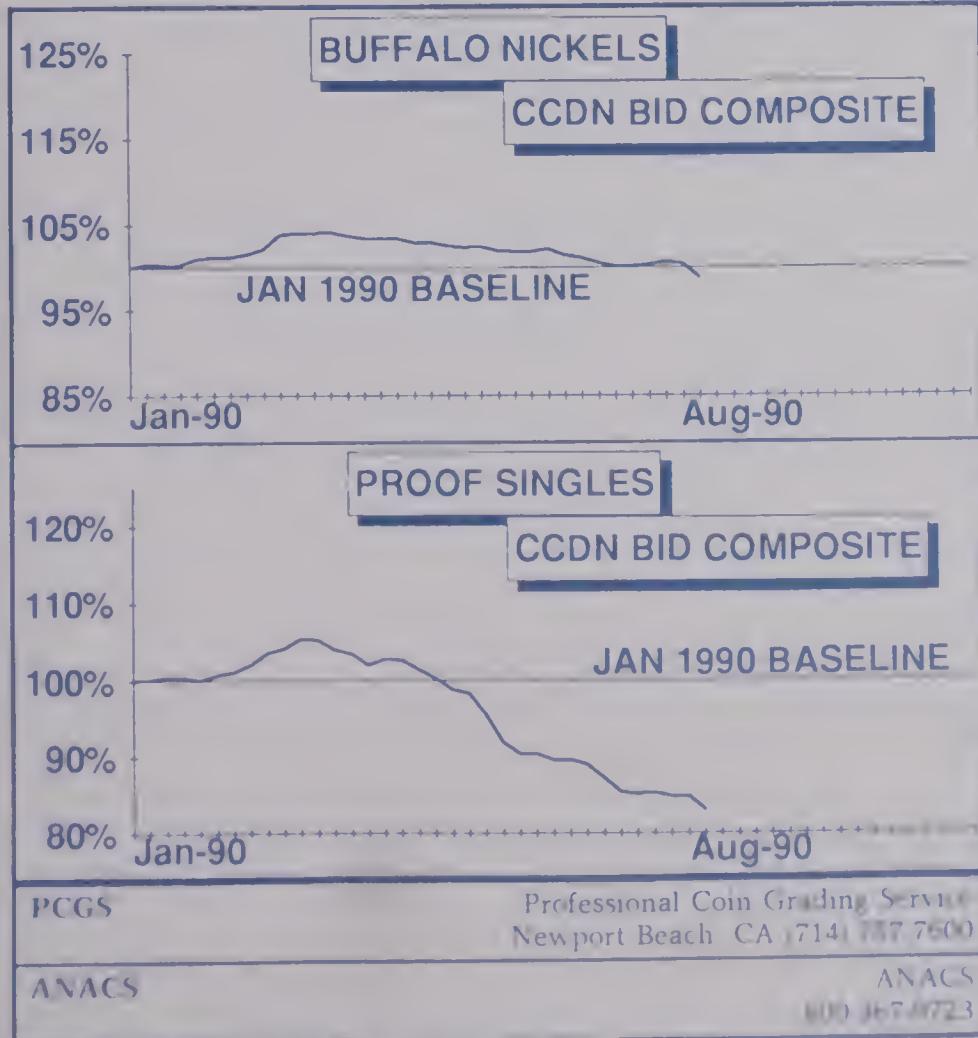

When asked about the current levels of Bids, dealers pointed generally to the lack of customers, and specifically to the lack of customers with cash. In a marketplace governed by supply and demand, substantially lowered demand is going to have both an immediate and long-term impact on prices. Dealers are anxious to reduce their inventory exposure, but they still aren't sure if the declines are permanent. There were few fire sales, but numerous coins are being sold below last week's Bids. If the market continues here, and if any dealers are forced to liquidate large holdings, there will be a real test of the resilience of the market—even at these levels. Long-term dealers are promising themselves to keep inventory levels lower—and that ultimately means more coins going into collections and portfolios at lower prices.

Convention-goers were thrilled with PCGS display of The World's Finest Morgan Silver Dollars. Scheduled to go on tour for the next year, the display is almost overwhelming. No, let's be honest—it is overwhelming. It presents the very best that Morgan Dollars have to offer, and in its professionalism presents the very best that numismatics has to offer. The display is sure to attract even non-numismatists, and that is exactly what the industry needs—a means of introducing our very best to as many people as possible. This is simply a superb vehicle for informing the public about rare coins. We offer only one small suggestion—that every dealer personally thank PCGS for this marvelous piece of public relations.

Market Slide Continues Sight-Unseen Demand at Lower Levels

The sight-unseen market continued its downward slide this week, and by most measures the situation is becoming serious. We are starting to see numerous offers to sell at levels below last week's Bluesheet Bid. The only good news we can report is that the sight-unseen electronic markets look as thick as they ever have; there are just as many Bidders making their offers to buy, but the levels have receded substantially. This is not to say that we wouldn't like to see many more Bids on all of the services – especially if they continue to act, as one dealer delicately put it, "as the tail that is wagging the dog". And we would add our usual caveat that these lower Bids do not mean that the coins can be purchased at these levels.

Declines like this are an inevitable consequence of a supply/demand marketplace in action; price cycles will come as no surprise to anyone who has looked at the numismatic markets over time. There is simply inadequate demand for the current supply of "rare" coins on hand; or if you prefer, there is an over-abundance of coins on hand to meet the current demand. Either way, the bottom line is that sight-unseen trading is taking place at lower levels.

Demand over the short term can come from only two sources: Dealers, and your customers. For dealers, a declining market provides plenty of incentive to reduce inventory holdings as much as possible. We have been watching this occur for some weeks now, and dealers' usual desire to 'bail-out' near the top has certainly worked to increase the supply of coins and reduce demand simultaneously. Increasing demand from customers is seldom easy, and especially difficult in a declining market. But lower levels do have one advantage – coins are more affordable. If you believe that the goal of your customers is to add coins to their collections or portfolios, then reduced prices should make coins more 'affordable'. Unfortunately, it can be a real challenge to convert your customers into contrarians; it takes a special person to want to buy when others want to sell. But you both benefit from moving coins into the hands of consumers; they obtain coins at more advantageous prices, and you can profit from the turn (considering replacement cost). There is little advantage to be gained from holding coins in inventory while the market is still dropping, but moving material into the open market will have the effect of increasing supply (and thereby dropping prices).

We are hearing from many dealers the complaint that maybe some coin prices are 'just too high'. It is important for both dealers and collectors/investors to remember that the value of any rare coin is determined only by supply and demand. There is no intrinsic reason why an MS65 generic Morgan should be valued at $50 or $500. The marketplace will determine its proper level. Dealers may not have unlimited funds to prop up a declining market, but words of encouragement to new buyers come pretty cheap. A customer with cash is a customer that adds just that much more demand, and the cumulative effects of encouraging new customers at every opportunity must mean increased demand. Dealers are still the focal point for the supply of coins and the demand of customers.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service, Newport Beach, CA Established in 1986, PCGS grades and authenticates U.S. and world coins. PCGS has certified more than two million coins. All coins must be submitted through one of the 560+ authorized dealers; contact PCGS at 800-447-8848 for a list.

PCGS has more than 15 graders on its staff; each coin is examined by at least two graders before the final grade is determined. No person involved with the grading process may be active in the buying or selling of U.S. coins. Fees start at $26, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service are also available. PCGS coins are sonically sealed in an inert plastic "NumisCap" holder before return to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed Guarantee of Grade and Authenticity. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. PCGS dealers are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins. PCGS publishes a monthly Population Report.

ANACS ANACS: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins) before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse, or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $25 + free services and fees booklet is available from ANACS phone 800-367-9723.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $25, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 'lab tested' (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit. "Arm's length" NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (summer fall) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN albeit on a sight basis.

"Stop, Mr. Frump! When I told you to put your money into liquid assets, I meant NGC-graded coins... not swimming pools!"

Your coin collection could be worth a lot of money. But you'll never know for sure how much unless you have the coins graded. And NGC is the standard by which all other services are graded.

That's because, since its inception, NGC has insisted on two important things: the accuracy of its grades...and the credibility of its grades, recognizing that the grading process required both for coins to be accepted as a valid investment.

NGC sets limits, each NGC grader is limited as to the number of coins he grades each day. Accurate grades take time...but NGC's investment in time produces a better investment for you: a coin with a stable grade.

Other grading services also allow their final graders to be active dealers. NGC's policy, however, is to strictly forbid its final graders and full-time employees to buy, sell or trade coins for commercial purposes. This independent analysis, free of any conflict of interest, also produces a better investment: a coin with a credible grade.

By making reliability and credibility its policy, NGC has made stability a constant and liquidity a reality for everyone interested in buying and selling coins. Especially now that NGC-graded coins are traded on the American Numismatic Exchange.

Plus Signs Signal Increased Demand As Buyers Step to the Plate

After the incessant "bad" news of the last several weeks, it is a pleasure to report that we are starting to see increased bidding activity – and at higher levels. Since autumn nearly always inspires us to baseball metaphors, it is good to see the solid hitters taking charge at the plate. This is not to deny that minus signs still dominate some charts, and still represent some very serious declines. But overall, the lowered levels have brought out some equally serious buyers who are willing to push Bids in the "plus" direction. As a leading dealer recently pointed out, lowered levels not only made many coins more 'affordable', they also meant that the coins would carry less risk. This becomes more apparent as the market starts to turn around.

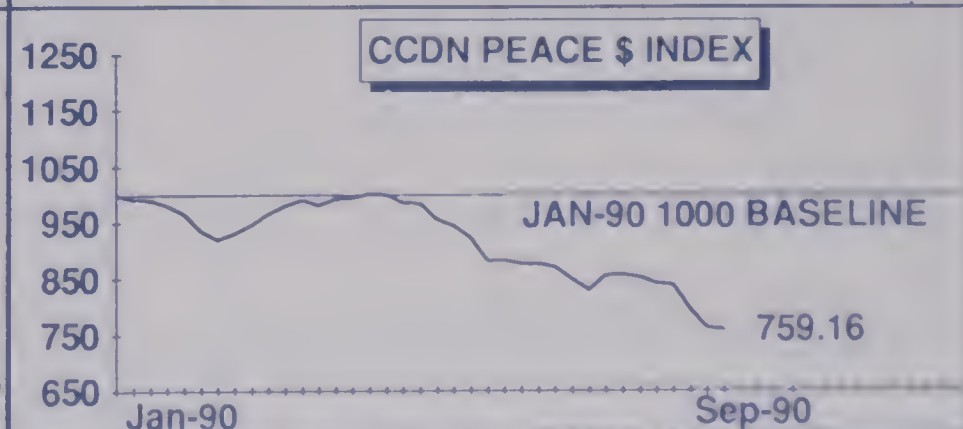

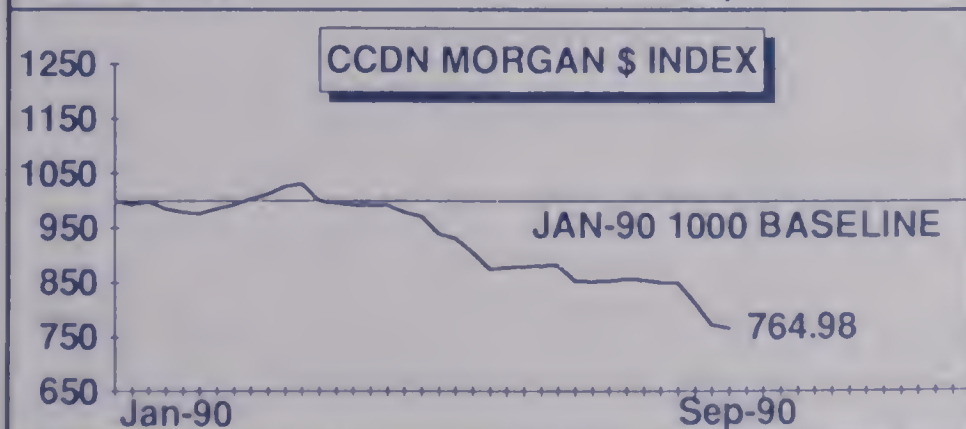

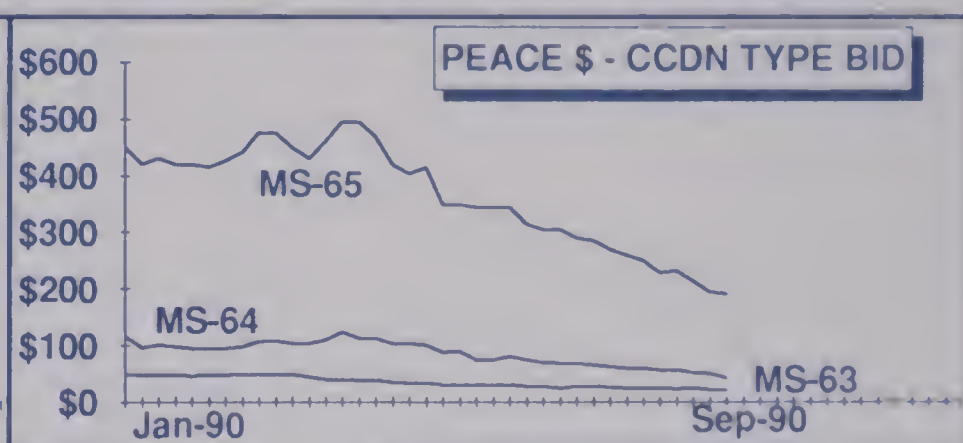

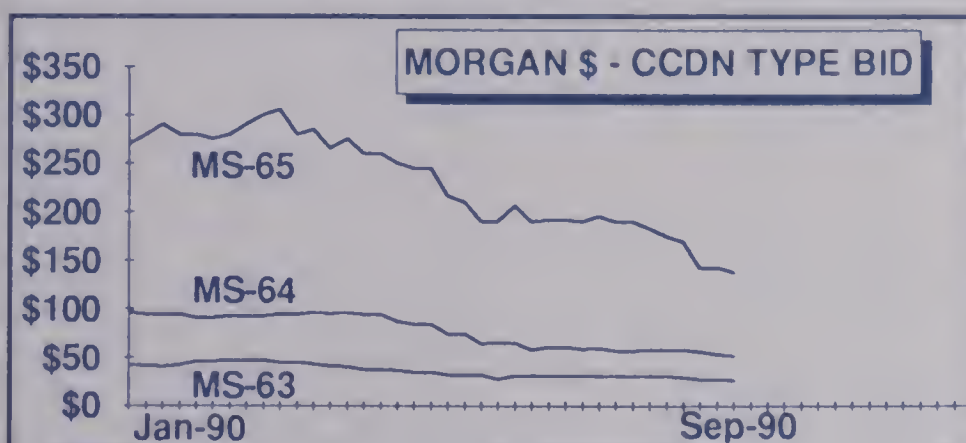

While we are heartened by the week's Bids, we must also report that there remain many dealers who are predicting that some coin prices may still have a way to fall. They point to two leading factors: 1) the liquidation that has been occurring in the coin market for several years now, marked by consistent declines in prices for the bulk of the material in the marketplace, and 2) general economic uncertainty that has many other investments also declining in value. While they too cheer the recent plus signs, they see such activity as an interlude, as a calm time between the waves of liquidation.

Also significant in this ever-changing market is the fact that it has become more difficult to "find" the highest Bidder. In the 'good old days', someone who needed a coin would advertise that 'demand' in as many places as possible. Now, the message may appear only once on only one service; miss the message and you miss the opportunity. Anyone selling coins could easily miss the highest Bid. If you are liquidating coins for another party, your fiduciary duty to find that highest Bid has become more difficult in this market – and not utilizing every source of information available could easily result in dereliction of duty to your customer. This could become a serious problem, we have seen instances where one group of messages has resulted in turning more than 100 minus signs into plus signs. One thing is sure – more messages like that and the market may turn around a lot quicker!

This week also marks the introduction of improved versions of our graphs. Heretofore, we offered 'Composite' graphs which tracked the total dollar amount of all of the Bids appearing on the underlying chart; this technique had a stabilizing effect, as it equally weighted all dollars (which naturally made the higher grade and value coins have a greater influence). We have listened to many dealers voice their opinion that it would be more suitable to have each coin weighted equally, instead of each dollar bid.

We have been convinced, although it took one very good Bid for one MS-67 Peace Dollar to clinch their argument. Accordingly, we have now adopted an entirely new approach to the graphs, and one that we think will fulfill your requests for an accurate depiction of the current market. For each coin listed in each grade, we are comparing its current Bid to its Bid level on January 5, 1990. For Peace Dollars, that means we are calculating percentages for 24 issues times seven grades (MS-61 through MS-67) times 2 grading services (PCGS & NGC). This produces 336 weekly percentage changes (increases or declines), and we take the average of those results for a final depiction of that series. If half of the coins went down 20% and half went down 10%, we would show the market average down 15%; this method makes it irrelevant whether that 15% decrease equals $10 or $1000.

The Bluesheet

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

NumisCap™

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple image hologram to deter counterfeiting, and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

Certification by PCGS does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

Sight-Unseen Continues Slide Lowered Sells Confirm Erosion

Lower Bid levels for sight-unseen coins do not necessarily mean that is what coins are worth, nor do they necessarily mean that you can actually buy coins at those levels. Lower Bid levels for sight-unseen coins do not necessarily mean that is what coins are worth, nor do they necessarily mean that you can actually buy coins at those levels. The key to coping with current market activity is realizing that lower Bid Levels for sight-unseen coins do not necessarily mean that is what coins are worth, nor do they necessarily mean that you can actually buy coins at those levels.

However, and it is a big HOWEVER, if dealers believe that the sight-unseen electronic market is the entire coin market, then coins really are worth substantially less again this week. There is no denying that many of the bids posted on the electronic exchanges are very good indeed – one of the networks is averaging between $1.5 and $2 million in trades made each week. But if you believe that the electronic markets are the entire coin market, then it also follows that if no one Bids at all for a particular coin, that coin is worthless. Perhaps therein lies the rub.

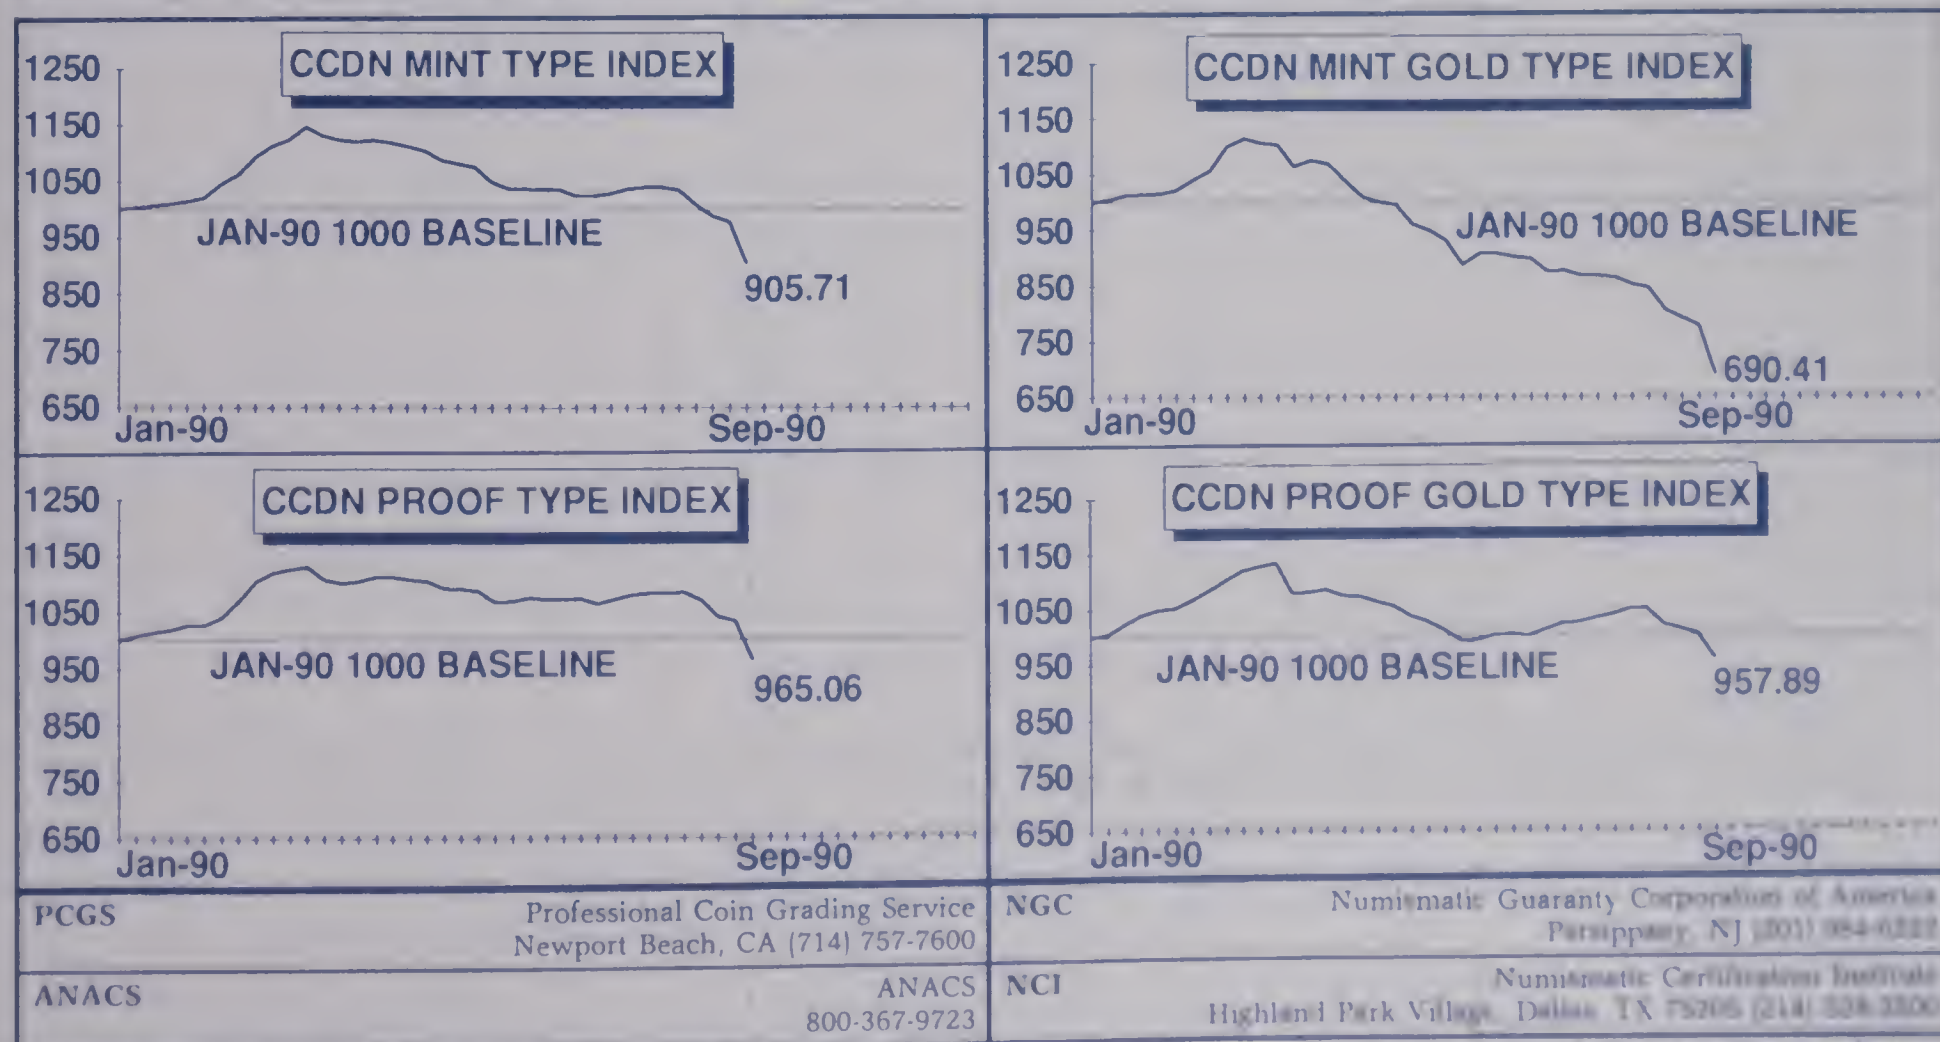

On the other hand, if you as a dealer offered coins for sale well below last week's slightly recovered Bid level, then coins really are worth substantially less again this week. This self-fulfilling prophecy seems to be repeating itself with increasing regularity, making it a bit silly to seek simple answers to the long-term problem of the waves of liquidation in the market. There are, at the risk of sounding pedagogical, many coin markets: sight-unseen, sight-seen, electronic, auctions, conventions, shows, circ, ancients, world coins, and a few dozen other ways to slice the pie. There is no denying that the electronic sight-unseen market has seen a preponderance of big-money and interest over the last three years. And it is, after all, the market that the Bluesheet reports on. The question that all dealers must ask is how much will they let what is occurring in that market segment affect what they are doing in the other markets.

This week we continue with the new 'improved' versions of our graphs. We have discontinued our "Composite" graphs (tracking the total dollar amount of all of the Bids), because this technique had too great a stabilizing effect. Our new graphs weight each coin equally, instead of each dollar bid. While the new graphs show a more severe drop in the market, we think that this is a more accurate view, and one that we think will fulfill your requests for that information.

For each coin listed in each grade on each chart, we are comparing its current Bid to its Bid level on January 5, 1990. That initial Bid level (as 100%) has then been converted to a 1000 basis for each index. If half of the coins have declined 30% and half declined 10%, we would show the market average down 20%, or 200 points; this method makes it irrelevant whether a 20% decrease equals $10 or $1000.

For Mint State Type, we are calculating percentages for 94 issues times seven grades (MS-61 through MS-67) times 2 grading services (PCGS & NGC). This produces 1316 weekly percentage comparisons (increases, decreases, or no change), and we take the average of those 1316 percentages and convert it to the 1000 index basis. Starting next week, we will also begin reporting on the Certified Coin Dealer newsletter CCDn Coin Market Index™, a compendium of the nineteen indices reflecting the monthly Bluesheet cycle of PCGS/NGC charts.

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

The Bluesheet

Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national coin market for certified coins only. Only the most active areas for the most active grading services are represented. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the bid prices shown. Since prices represent the highest known bids at press time and they are based strictly on dealer needs, prices will fluctuate according to these needs.

Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer. What price levels an individual dealer buys or sells at is strictly up to the dealer. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

COIN-PAK

AN

AND

CUSTOMER INFORMATION

MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

The inventory system required by coin dealers is unlike that required for a traditional retail or wholesale business. Each item is unique and must be treated as such. This makes traditional inventory programs unsuitable for use by rare coin dealers. On the other hand, the inventory system provided with COIN-PAK is designed exclusively for rare coins and meets these unique requirements.

No more will dealers have to pay tens of thousands of dollars for customized software or make do with something that is woefully inadequate for the task. Instead, for a reasonable price, dealers can buy a package that does it all.

COIN-PAK is distributed with a database of approximately 1,000 of the nation's largest coin dealers. This database includes contacts, addresses, phone numbers, etc. By not having to enter all this information into the system, the coin dealer will save a great deal of time, and therefore money.

This software is easy to use and was designed for the computer novice, so that they can reap the benefits of computerization without being a computer expert.

With the addition of an optional LASER SCANNER, the system works with the PCGS BAR CODE system for FAST, error free data entry. Of course, the system also operates without a scanner.

In addition to standard features such as information management and the printing of mailing labels, the customer information management system also provides a feature sorely needed by most coin dealers: the management of sales tax resale numbers. This allows the dealer an easy way to obtain and maintain the resale certificates that are needed in order to keep the state sales tax authorities satisfied.

Latest Sight-Unseen Bids Mostly Minus Mint State Gold Leads Advances

We are getting letters and phone calls from dealers insisting that the sight-unseen market is NOT the entire coin market. We certainly agree, except that we have seen many dealers use this one important segment as the real market (and the more who did that, the more it became a reality!) So if sight-unseen Bids aren't the entire coin market, what are they? And by extension, what are the electronic trading systems and the Bluesheet? A sight-unseen Bid is a statement by a dealer that he is willing to purchase some quantity of some coin at some price; it is not a statement that the dealer thinks that his Bid is the market value or even the sight-unseen market value! By any other name, the Bid is simply our generation's version of the time-honored want list. Implicit in the Bid is the dealer's opinion as to the quality of the coin that he will be receiving without the advantage of a prior sight inspection, so his opinion of the sight-seen market value (and possibly his sight-seen Bid) might be different.

Following this line of logic, the electronic networks are simply bulletin boards for the 'computer-age' posting of old-fashioned want lists. And Asks on the computer networks are nothing more than a new method of advertising coins for sale. Recent complaints about the inadequacies of the sight-unseen Bid for market valuation largely miss the point! Some dealers want to buy, some want to sell, and the electronic exchanges facilitate their trading of coins; as a result, information is generated. One of the networks is reporting over $1 million in trades each week, and over 90% of those sales are generated by coins being sold to a dealer's Bid. When several trades for a 1937 S Walker in MS65 appear as (sellers hit the buyer's $275 Bid), it is hard to reconcile with your numismatist's instinct that the coin should be worth $500+; the sight-unseen trading levels have not only provided coins, but also some 'unpleasant' information.

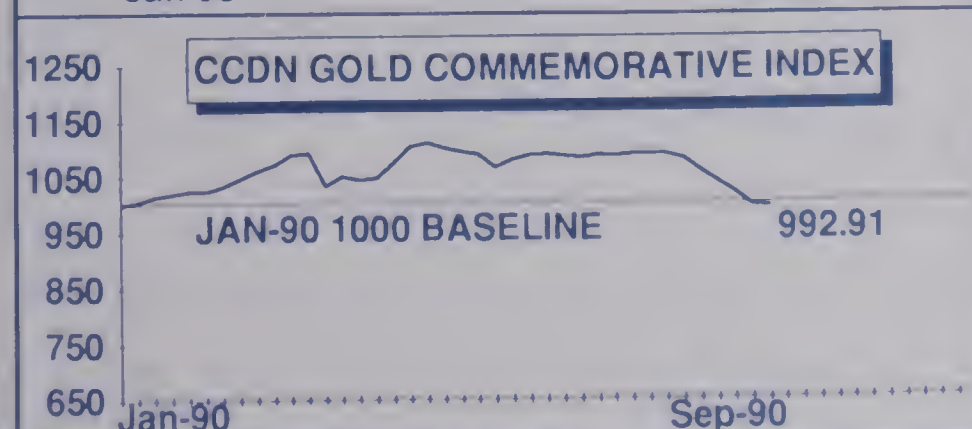

Now it does happen that sometimes the Highest Bid and the Lowest Ask are very close, and when this minimal spread occurs, the systems do give you a good indication of the sight-unseen market value. But this is a by-product of the system, and not its reason for existing; sure, it would be nice if, over time, all of the spreads shrank, but that will happen only when the numismatic community requires it. By facilitating the buying and selling of coins, the networks also increase the liquidity of coins; but blaming the networks for the current lack of liquidity has a lot in common with shooting the messenger.

This week continues our new graphs featuring chart indices. The stabilizing effect of our earlier Composite graphs (which tracked the total dollar amount of each Bid) proved too inaccurate for this volatile market. Our new Index charts compare each Bid on each chart (PCGS & NGC) to the Bid level on January 5, 1990; we'll report the resulting percentage on a 1000-point basis (100% as the starting point of the index) and the weekly change.

The CCDn Coin Market Index™ is a compendium of the 19 charts (each weighted equally) that make up the current monthly Bluesheet cycle. The overall index number is derived by taking the average of the 19 individual index numbers (each of which takes into account every coin and every grade appearing in the 19 charts). This week, Morgans are down 33.66 points (3.37%). We did consider weighting the charts for relative value (Is the Mint State Type chart more important to the market than the Buffalo Nickel chart?), and would be pleased to receive your detailed opinions on how you would apportion the nineteen charts. If there is enough of a consensus on this issue, we will be glad to consider this change. In the meantime, the CCDn Coin Market Index delivers a market overview supported by the actions of more than 13,000 underlying coins.

The Bluesheet

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only, following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight-unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Long Beach Beckons Dealers To Uncertain Market

Next week, America's leading dealers will once again be converging on Long Beach; most admit that it has been quite some time since they came with such quiet expectations. The decline of the generic market, which has been proceeding for some years, has spilled over into the market for rare coins, and dealers seem to be at a loss to stop the slide (although the rate has slowed down considerably). Long Beach will provide a good indication of market levels of both coins and spirit.

Although most sight-unseen Bids were stable this week, the majority of changes were on the downward side. Silver & Gold Commem changes were largely downward. Morgan & Peace Dollars, Mint State Type, Mint State Gold Type, and Proof Gold Type turned in mixed performances, while the previously 'steady' Proof Type showed a larger number of minuses. Buffalo Nickels were mainly down (with some advances in early MS64), Mercury Dimes continued their slide (with some advances in MS66FB), and Walking Liberty Halves were again mixed (with later-date MS64 & MS66 strong). Proof Singles were spotty.

Several auctions are also on hand, with some rather spectacular offerings. Superior Galleries' Oct 7-9 Sale features one of the most fabulous rarities to come on the market this century—the unique, 6-piece set of 1872 Amazonian Gold Patterns. Only one other set in American Numismatics can compare with this—the recently auctioned King of Siam Proof Set at $3.2 million. And don't forget the other 3872 lots in this magnificent sale.

Pacific Coast Auctions will be hosting CERTSALE XII at Long Beach on October 10th, the latest in a line of the Certified Only sales; it bears remembering that Pacific Coast inaugurated this concept just over four years ago, when slabs were still a fairly new product in the marketplace. How times change.

Heritage's 1990 Long Beach Sale will be held Oct 11-13 at the Convention Center. Among the certified highlights are a pair of 1793 Chain cents, NGC61 R&B and PCGS63 R&B; an 1805 Bust Dime, NGC67; 1873-CC Seated Dime, NGC65; 1850 Seated Dime, NGC Pr63; 1900 Barber Dime, PCGS Pr67; 1901 Barber Dime, NGC Pr67; 1897 Barber Half, PCGS Pr66; 1892 Morgan Dollar, PCGS Pr67; 1894-S Morgan Dollar, PCGS66; 1895 Morgan Dollar, PCGS Pr65; 1879 Trade Dollar, PCGS Pr66; 1883 Trade Dollar, PCGS Pr66; 1808 $2 1/2, PCGS62; 1876 $3, NGC Pr63; 1888 $3, PCGS66; 1903-S $10 PCGS66; 1888 $20, PCGS Pr64; 1926-S $20 NGC66; 1931 $20, PCGS65

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service, Newport Beach, CA Established in 1986, PCGS grades and authenticates U.S. and world coins. PCGS has certified more than two million coins. All coins must be submitted through one of the 560+ authorized dealers; contact PCGS at 800-447-8848 for a list.

PCGS has more than 15 graders on its staff; each coin is examined by at least two graders before the final grade is determined. No person involved with the grading process may be active in the buying or selling of U.S. coins. Fees start at $26, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service are also available. PCGS coins are sonically sealed in an inert plastic "NumisCap" holder before return to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed Guarantee of Grade and Authenticity. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. PCGS dealers are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins. PCGS publishes a monthly Population Report.

ANACS ANACS: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23 plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length". NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June 1984 to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N.C.I. Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 St. Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI work will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids. Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CCDn, albeit, on a sight basis.

Amazonian Pattern Gold Set Makes "Superior" Showing

Long Beach week started out with a sizzle in Beverly Hills—the 1872 Amazonian Gold Pattern Proof Set fulfilled predictions as the star of Superior Galleries Oct 7-9 Sale. This unique, 6-piece gold set sold for $1.87 million to a "very pleased local client" according to a Superior spokesperson. The merits of this set exceed the space we have available here; suffice it to say that the set combines rarity (unique covers that point); beauty; quality; provenance (King Farouk leads the list) and history. The anthropologist would look at this item and declare that it possesses mana.

The issue of quality takes on a curious aspect in sets of such historic importance. This has been noticeable in several of the recent Superior Sales, which have offered some absolutely unbelievable sets (the King of Siam Set and the Hamilton Fish Trade Dollar set might come to mind). The grades on the Amazonian set run from a low of PCGS Pr64 on the $20 to a high of PCGS Pr67 on the $3 (which I must add is the only known gold $3 pattern). It seems hard to comprehend that this set was actually broken up at one point, and even more remarkable, that Dr. Wilkison managed to reassemble it. The $1 J-1224 that went its own way, today grades PCGS Pr-66, so we probably cannot attribute the differences in grades to the circumstances of separation.

Of course, when buying a King of Siam set, the relatively small variation in grades is probably not a significant factor—after all, you are presumably not going to be tempted to "upgrade" any of the coins. But for many collectors working with 'lesser' sets (proof sets, Commemorative sets, etc.) the issue becomes more daunting. Ten years ago, a collector assembling a gem set of Commems would look for original sets with evenly matched toning; today, those sets just might grade two MS66s and one MS64. When do you break original sets to obtain uniform grades? Collectors of twentieth century Proof 'Singles' do it all the time to assemble grade-matched sets.

This particular action has had ramifications on the proof set market especially as the increasing influence of certification meant that every coin in each set had to be considered (and priced) individually. As the best coins were removed from sets and slabbed and replaced by another coin appropriate to the grade of the remaining coins there was a distinct lowering of quality to the 'raw' sets offered. They were more evenly matched but of a lesser grade. Recognizing this trend some time ago, the CDN had to realign its Proof Set pricing to conform to the quality of the new majority of sets being offered.

The number one topic during dealer set-up at Long Beach was naturally the state of the market—or, to be more precise, 'what is your opinion of the state of the market. We'll be reporting on the answers Long Beach provided next week.

This week's CCDn Coin Market Index™ is down 19.95 points from last week, at 787.61. Since the index is based on the 1000 point scale established with the January 5, 1990 Bids (and which equal 100%), the average decline of 19.95 points is equivalent to an average drop of 1.995%. However, this cannot be read as 'Bids dropped 2% last week', the time frame of the comparison is that the 2% decline is relative to the Bid levels from last January, not last week. That is one of the reasons that we adopted the 1000-point scale—it is simply easier to say that the market is down 19.95 points than try to explain the percentage decline's time frame

OPEN LETTER TO ALL COIN DEALERS FROM THE AMERICAN RARE COIN FUND L.P.

Dear Coin Dealers:

In the past eighteen months there have been many changes in our industry. The Bid-Based systems, which are now prevalent in the rare coin industry, have created a market with inadequate price discovery mechanisms. Bid prices at times tend to be elusive, unstable and unrealistic. As a result, coins are traded from dealer to dealer with insufficient public participation. The coin industry needs to serve investors and collectors by providing them with a way to accurately value their coins. Otherwise, they will be driven out of the industry.

The effects of our Bid-Based systems have been devastating and have raised serious concerns about the state of our industry. The dealer community is undercapitalized for Bid-Based systems. The coin market is a billion dollar market. Due to dealer undercapitalization and reliance on only Bid-Based systems, the market has experienced harmful volatility.

The American Rare Coin Fund L.P. (ARCF) is one of the largest buyers and sellers of rare coins in the country. Since April, 1989, we have spent more than $64 million on rare coin purchases. Every day we must make many complex purchasing decisions. Although ARCF seeks to have an ongoing relationship with as many dealers as possible, it is impossible to speak to every dealer on an individual basis about the coins he has available that day. We believe, however, we have found a way to achieve an equivalent benefit, and also contribute to the stability needed in our industry while attracting investors and collectors who are so vital to the market.

A decade ago, a dealer would show his inventories to another dealer who would select what he wanted to purchase. The seller would quote his ask price. The buyer purchased coins he believed had profit potential, and which were within his financial means. This system worked. The old fashioned Ask-Based system can work again, and even more efficiently, because dealers no longer need to thumb through boxes of coins. Thanks to third-party grading, dealers can buy coins sight unseen from computer generated listings.

Effective October 1, 1990, ARCF began making most of its purchases on an Ask-Based system, sight unseen, from those dealers who have listed their inventories with a firm ask price on Tangible Information Systems, Inc. (TIS). This allows us to study and make actual purchase decisions with respect to a list of coins organized by individual date, mint mark, grade, and grading service. We cannot do this by studying other listings that carry bid and ask prices on a generic coin basis. Although ARCF will gladly consider deals that are not appropriate to list on TIS, and will continue to be an active participant in the major auctions, TIS will likely be the major source for ARCF purchases. ARCF will, of course, consider purchasing on the basis of any other firm Ask-Based system; and it may from time to time use Bid-Based systems as well when it is deemed appropriate.

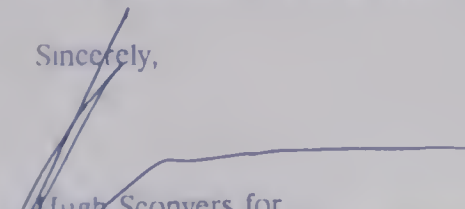

We understand that TIS will, on a daily basis, provide ARCF and all subscribers with a listing of all transactions from the previous day. This information will not only list coins purchased by ARCF the day before, but all other subscriber's purchases as well. This information...the last transaction...is the information which we feel is most relevant in determining the price of a coin.

We believe that the current Bid-Based systems will benefit from our move to an Ask-Based system. This will allow dealers to post bids based on actual coin selling prices. As prices are actually realized on TIS, dealers will be able to place competitive bids on ANE and CCE, hoping to buy coins which they will feel more confident about selling on an Ask-Based system like TIS. We will continue our efforts to make our current Bid-Based systems better and to support them.

ARCF is taking the steps outlined in this letter in an attempt to achieve a more stable and realistic market. We hope others of you will do the same. We believe unless these steps are taken, we will be doomed to repeat the coin melt downs which have been recurring in our industry.

We would appreciate hearing your views on this approach and suggestions on how we can make the steps we are taking even more effective. We look forward to an ongoing relationship with each and every one of you.

Sincerely,

Hugh Sconyers for
Sconyers Rare Coins, Inc. Manager

P.Q.R.C. (Premium Quality Rare Coins)

Asset Management Co.

To America's Investors/Collectors;

- ★ Have You Made Any Profits On Your Rare Coin Investments?
- ★ Is A "Qualified Dealer" Personally Handling Your Investments?
- ★ Do You Buy Coins At Wholesale Levels, And Sell At "Quote" Retail?

The Problem!

Now is the best time to buy and sell rare coins since 1981. But, almost all investors and some collectors will lose future returns because of being afraid to purchase new coins in a declining market - especially one that (on paper at least) is still declining. Most investors BUY TOO LATE and then SELL TOO LATE. Most pay 30% too much for rare coins and sell them for 20% less than they are worth. The market has to rise at least 50% just so they can break even. This, in my opinion, is a very poor way to invest in coins.

The Solution!

If you had been using my Portfolio Management Services during the last 5 years, you could answer yes to all of the above questions. I cannot guarantee that the future will equal the past. I can tell you, though, that if you don't make a profit on the coins that I manage for you, then I don't either. Every rare coin that is put into your managed portfolio is entered at the best wholesale cost at which I can purchase it; plus, if you are interested in purchasing coins for your own collection, you get them at 5% over my cost. My asset management service is very personal - you don't talk to anyone but me. As often as you like. So Maybe We Should Talk!

If you are attending the Long Beach coin show this week-end, we can discuss your numismatic goals at length at table no. 309 (same location for the last 39 Long Beach coin shows). Or you can call me at (813) 353-3159 after Oct. 15th. References are available.

Sincerely,
Mick Millard

Many Sight-Unseen Bids Disappear Sight-Seen Coins Still Trading

A few months ago, during one of our planning sessions exploring unlikely scenarios, we voiced the 'unthinkable'—what would the Bluesheet do if all sight-unseen Bids disappeared? Well, that hasn't happened, but with both electronic trading systems temporarily halting 'business as usual' (to allow dealers to 'catch their breaths'), the question has taken on substance. Many of the dealers in the marketplace aren't looking for coins to buy or sell, they are looking for answers to the current 'downfall' of the sight-unseen marketplace; they aren't searching for price levels as much as they are looking for a level of confidence.

The few dealers 'blaming' Long Beach for the current controversy share other 'shoot the messenger' philosophies. Long Beach provided dealers with the opportunity to attend any of several meetings held to 'discover' what is 'wrong' with the coin business, with much beating of breasts and gnashing of teeth, and multitudes of opinions on what is wrong and how it can be fixed. Of course, those dealers who maintain a strong customer base were busy buying and selling coins at the new, lower levels and reported a strong show.

So, what has happened? A majority of dealers share the complaint that customers have disappeared—except those who have carefully cultivated their customer base. Many dealers are blaming dropping bids on the electronic exchanges; others realize that such Bids are merely electronic 'Want Lists' and should never have been confused with a coin's value. Some dealers question the motives or practicality of dealers posting low Bids: the member-dealers who electronically buy up to $2 million worth of material every week think the system is functioning just fine.

One thing is certain. Whatever the reasons for the current lack of support for price levels, we can hardly blame the consumers for having no faith in coins when the dealers are exhibiting so little of it themselves. And if the problem is simply that the population reports have finally hit home with the realization that most rare coins simply aren't as rare as once thought, then falling prices are inevitable. Supply/demand forces don't only work in climbing markets.

We will permit ourselves one observation. A decade ago, most coin dealers made their livelihood by knowing how to grade and value coins, and by selling them to collectors or investors who knew something about coins. It seems that much of the prosperity in today's market has been generated through the sale of material to people who know nothing about coins, by dealers who have depended upon third parties to both grade and value the coins. If the buying customer has disappeared, perhaps what we really have is an education problem. All the meetings and self-regulatory proposals and software suggestions won't mean a thing unless coin dealers use their knowledge to teach their customers about coins and coin markets.

Due to a temporary halt in bidding activity on one of the electronic trading systems, coupled with a vital withdrawal of individual Bids from another, the CCDN cannot follow its usual policy of providing subscribers with the most recent, highest sight-unseen Bids. Accordingly, in this issue of the Bluesheet, we have: 1) Raised Bids only where higher sight-unseen Bids could be verified (as is our usual policy); 2) Dropped Bids where a lower Ask or Last Trade could be verified. 3) Dropped Bids approximately 10% if no Bids or radically lower Bids prevailed. There is no certainty that any buyer currently exists at these levels. Readers are warned that any purchases or sales should be made only after a careful examination of market conditions and competing offers.

The Bluesheet

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only, following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CCDn albeit on a sight basis.

NumisCap™

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple image hologram to deter counterfeiting and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

Certification by PCGS does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

BUY CHEAP

Take advantage of the current CASH CRUNCH in numismatics. Current problems of the bid based trading network has sent coin prices into a free-fall, with some coins down 20%-40% in the last few months. Unlike common generic issues, which are traded on a daily basis, the following rare coins are not always available, especially at these record low prices. Historically, investors never buy at the right time, but we'll try anyway.

Sight-Unseen Bidding System Questioned Uncertainty Affects Bid Levels

Over the past several years, many (if not most) of the Bluesheet editorials dealt with twin concepts: the philosophical question of value, and the pragmatic question of the meaning of the sight-unseen Bid. As our regular readers well know, we have repeated ad nauseam that sight-unseen Bids (and consequently the Bluesheet Bid) did not always represent the value of the coin—at least not in the normal use of the term value. Since the major trading networks are currently in a state of Bidding limbo, this seems like an opportune time to review the status of the sight-unseen Bid.

Using every possible combination of words, we have reminded dealers (primarily so that they could remind their customers) that the sight-unseen Bid was 1) best thought of as the Bid of last resort—that is, what some Bidder was willing to pay for a coin that he had never seen, assuming that he was going to get the worst possible example for that grade; 2) best viewed as a starting point for negotiations on the real value of any average, decent or PQ coins; 3) of informational value as a minimum value, but shouldn't be confused with real value; and 4) extremely volatile. We reminded readers that they probably couldn't purchase coins at Bid levels (especially in a sight-seen arena), because sellers continually wanted higher prices.

Seen in its proper context, the sight-unseen Bid has real informational value to the user: the absolute minimum any specimen is theoretically worth. Within that context, it provided a floor for much of the trading activity. Yet when sight-unseen Bids began to tumble, dealers blamed the system for not providing accurate information about the value of their coins. True enough, but the system never did provide that information – and never will, at least as long as customers (dealers or clients) want to look at the merchandise.

Instead of accepting the sight-unseen Bid as the limited information source that it represents, a massive movement has arisen to change the electronic trading systems to an ASK orientation. Numerous proposals have been set forth regarding the best way to do this, but most agree that most Bids will be hidden on most rare events. Generics may continue to show both Bids and Asks. We will continue to report to you on the latest developments, since these changes will directly impact the information that the Bluesheet provides. If the market abandons the sight unseen Bid as the primary value-discovery mechanism, the Bluesheet may have to change as well. We have always prided ourselves on being responsive to the marketplace, and this year will be no exception.

We must alert our readers, however, to some of the pitfalls of an Ask-oriented system. The Ask prices will be more stable to the extent that the coin is priced sufficiently high enough so that it may not quickly sell. This information is of equal value to the lowball Bid that remains on the system – the continued presence of one tells you that you cannot buy a coin at this price and the continued presence of the other tells you that you cannot sell it at that level. The real value must lie in between, making the Last Trade better information because it alerts you to the intersection of a High Bid and a Low Ask. However, Last Trades are only visible when executed on a trading network that reports them. Dealers who complained that customers wanted to Buy coins at Bluesheet Bid may also now have the problem of customers wanting to sell their coins at Low Ask.

While it remains true that dealers are searching for a level of confidence, their search for levels of prices is taking them lower as sells below previous Bids are chasing the market down. But just as Bids shouldn't be confused with value, the possible collapse of the sight-unseen Bidding system doesn't have to mean the collapse of the coin market. Supply and demand will come into equilibrium and prices will stabilize at some level. We can't predict when this will happen, we can only report on the marketplace activities of dealers whose actions define pricing levels.

Due to the continued controversy over sight-unseen Bidding, the information provided on the major trading networks cannot be considered a reliable indicator of the sight-unseen value of rarer coins. Accordingly, the CCDn cannot follow its usual policy of providing subscribers with the most recent weekly, highest sight-unseen Bids. In this issue of the Bluesheet, we have: 1) Raised Bids only where higher sight-unseen Bids could be verified (as is our usual policy); 2) Dropped Bids below the level where a lower Ask or Last Trade could be verified. This method provides a reasonable approximation of current Bid levels, but there is no certainty that any buyer currently exists at these levels. Readers are cautioned that any purchases or sales should be made only after a careful examination of market conditions and competing offers.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CCDn albeit, on a sight basis.

Asks Driving Market Activity CCDn Announces New Publication

Many Sight-unseen bidding levels on the more actively traded coins continue to decline, as increasing numbers of sellers are offering their coins at levels below previous Bids. Coupled with the announcement of more new rules by the Certified Coin Exchange, dealers are still struggling to devise a system that corrects the major drawback of sight-unseen bidding—as soon as a Bid is hit and disappears, the apparent 'value' of the coin has dropped to the next highest bidder. If the market on that coin is particularly thin (as many are now) and the underbidder particularly low, then a successful $1000 Bid could result in the next highest Bid showing as $250. Dealers who have suffered through a few coin cycles see this as just the latest in a long line of cyclical movements and marketing experiments. Sure, coin prices are down, but they will be back; they have been down before, and each time have come back higher and stronger. While we naturally do not recommend such volatility, we recognize it as a numismatic fact of life.

While the market is adjusting to the new emphasis on the Ask instead of the Bid, sight-unseen trades are continuing on the trading network—and they are occurring through the 'hitting' of both Bids and Asks. If the useful posting on Bids on the Exchange is impaired, we expect to see a major increase in the number of messages run listing current buying prices. If this experiment succeeds in strengthening and stabilizing the market, dealers and the system will prosper; if it develops that this attempt is not the solution, look for additional rule changes.

In the meantime, coins are trading, and each trade represents some level of agreement between two dealers on the value of the coin. And for many dealers who have maintained a strong cash position, the current uncertainty over many prices, combined with the necessity for some dealers to reduce their inventories and/or bank indebtedness, has provided some real buying opportunities. We took a look at some recent offerings compared to Bids one year ago—and we would remind readers that in Nov. of 1989 it was very difficult (if not impossible) to buy coins at Bid levels:

	Current Low Ask	High Bid 11/89
1893 Isabella MS64	$1,500	$2,275

With these coins actively trading in excess of Bid only one short year ago, there is no denying that they now offer unbelievable bargains at current levels (comparatively speaking, of course). The market decline has simply removed a large portion of the risk. We cannot predict whether the market will continue to drop or turn around, but we are certain that people buying coins (to hold) at lower levels will make money when the market finally turns around.

The CCDn is pleased to announce a new publication, the CCDn ASKSHEET. For some time, we have been listening to dealers' requests for a compilation of Low Ask information, and we are encouraged by the increasing number of Asks being posted on the electronic trading networks and messaging systems. Complimentary copies will be sent to all Bluesheet subscribers next week, along with subscription information.

PCGS Professional Coin Grading Service, Newport Beach, CA Established in 1986, PCGS grades and authenticates U.S. and world coins. PCGS has certified more than two million coins. All coins must be submitted through one of the 560+ authorized dealers; contact PCGS at 800-447-8848 for a list.

PCGS has more than 15 graders on its staff; each coin is examined by at least two graders before the final grade is determined. No person involved with the grading process may be active in the buying or selling of U.S. coins. Fees start at $26 or $35 depending on the type of coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service are also available. PCGS coins are sonically sealed in an inert plastic "NumisCap" holder before return to the customer.

PCGS has a cash-backed Guarantee of Grade and Authenticity. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. PCGS dealers are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins. PCGS publishes a monthly Population Report.

ANACS ANACS: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins), before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

CCDn Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certificates have no negative comments. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23, plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a "lab-tested" (inert), hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

There are over 450 authorized NGC dealers who will send coins in for grading. Many of these dealers will make sight unseen bids for NGC graded coins. NGC will not grade coins dated after 1964. Their grading philosophy is designed to be strict no matter what condition the coin market is in. The principals of NGC do not buy or sell coins for commercial profit, "Arm's length." NGC has a grading set for the popular series and is currently working on sets for other series.

NCI Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Plaza, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 528-3500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin (N C I Grading Guide) which may be considered somewhat liberal (commercial) compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of 50% of the regular fee. They will certify coins already in holders without removal, if requested.

NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, $20 & Gaudens, and Walking Liberty halves. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDn Bids reflect 1987 and newer certified coins.

The Bluesheet

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight-unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN albeit on a sight basis.

The Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter
announces a new monthly publication
featuring Lowest Asks or Last Trades:

the CCDn ASKSHEET

With the sight-unseen market beset by controversy over declining Bids, dealers need to have more complete information now, more than ever! Responding to the requests of scores of dealers, we are pleased to provide an important new source of necessary information. Even if the sight-unseen Bid reaches unrealistically low levels, having wholesale Low Ask or Last Trade information available will allow dealers to make more informed buying and selling decisions. And the spread observed will also give a strong indication of market liquidity.

The CCDn ASKSHEET will provide subscribers with the Lowest Ask or Last Trade prices seen during the preceding month in the dealer-to-dealer, wholesale marketplace. While we are offering this publication separately from the Bluesheet, we must point out that neither publication alone will give a complete picture of current wholesale market values. In fact, every page of the ASKSHEET will contain a caveat to that effect. After all, the Lowest Ask doesn't necessarily represent market value any more than the Highest Bid. But together, they should define the parameters of wholesale market value.

Hopefully, access to these dealer-to-dealer offers to sell will help stabilize the market price of coins. Uncertainty of value in a supply/demand marketplace means that fewer transactions can occur, and that benefits neither potential buyer nor potential seller.

Subscribe now to the CCDn ASKSHEET. Compiled by the same staff that has made the name Bluesheet synonymous with accuracy, timeliness, and reliability.

Recession Fear Impacts Collectible Markets Full Effect on Coins Remains to be Seen

It was one of the smaller articles in that day's Wall Street Journal: "Amid growing fears of a U.S. recession, the edgy... market faces a major test... as the art market is experiencing the greatest volatility in its recent history." As the major art auction houses face "buy-in" rates (buybacks, or non-sales) vacillating between 3% and 86%(!), art dealers are wondering where their customers have fled. We can assure them that it hasn't been into coins, or stamps, or any of the many collectible/investment areas that have been traditional stores of value in uncertain economic times. And the money has certainly not been flowing into real estate, as the housing market in several regions of America is displaying problems that make the coin market look healthy.

This is not to declare that America is in a recession – goodness knows, we have legions of economists and bureaucrats to argue about that label for us. But there is no question that the R-word is very much a fact of life in the collectibles market. When people are worried about their jobs and the mortgage, rare coins or etchings don't have much appeal.

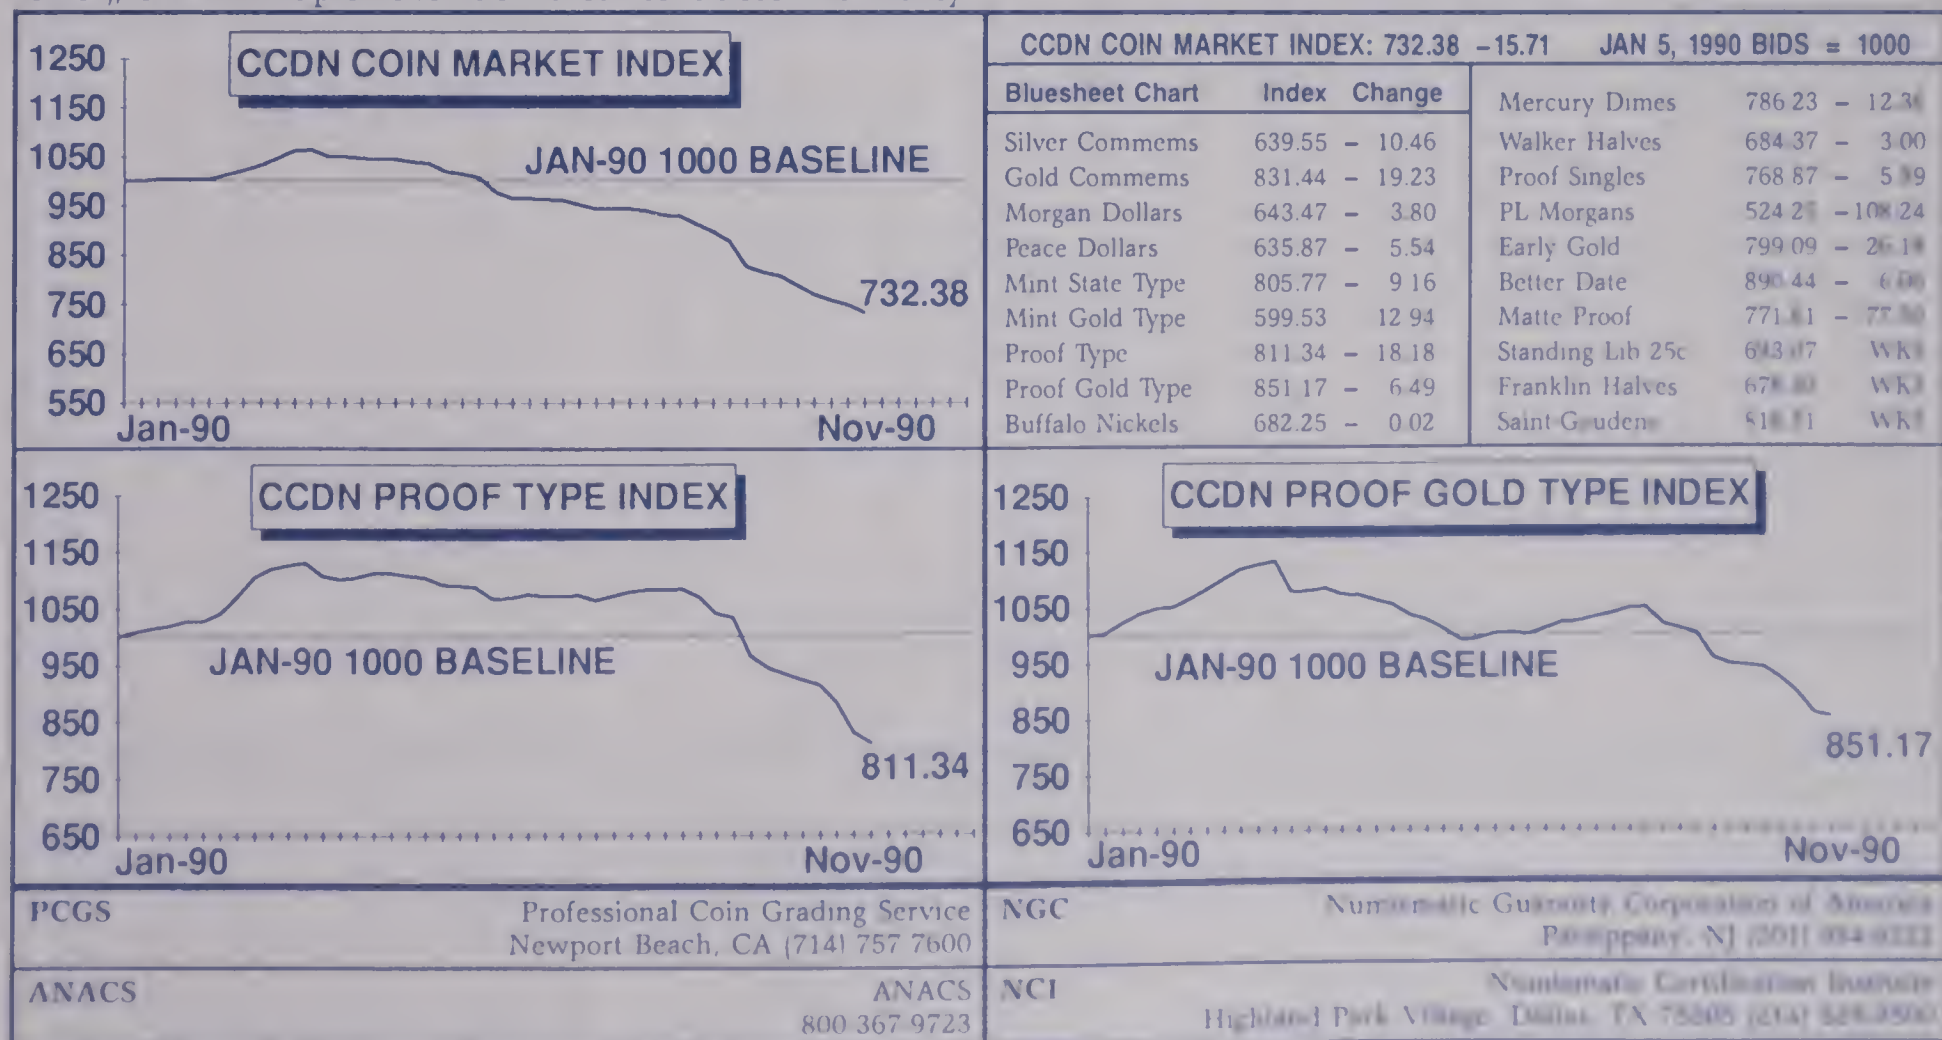

As in any supply/demand marketplace, times like these spell real opportunity for the cash-rich buyers (dealers or collectors) who have the fortitude to be contrarians. They may be waiting for indications that the slide has bottomed, but there will always be buyers standing ready at the time when sellers are most in need. More than a few great fortunes have been made in this manner.

The only real drawback to this means of making money in this type of market (other than having the cash in the first place, of course), is that all the profits come out of someone else's hide. Money is being transferred in an orderly fashion from one individual to another, but the market is not being enlarged. Only by increasing both the expanse and amount of demand can new money be injected into the market. This is easier said than done but the job needs to be done anyway!

There are some exciting auctions upcoming including Bowers & Merena's Schenkel Sale, featuring a world-class collection of Indian Peace Medals. Among the certified offerings, one coin is sure to make a statement about the current level of demand for the finest known: an 1886-O Morgan Dollar NGC-67 DMPL cameo. There is no question that the coin is a monster – it will be most interesting to see how the price realized compares to the 1895 NGC Pr-65 to be sold several lots later. Ultimate quality vs. supreme rarity. Makes for an interesting coin market. Other certified lots of interest:

1914 Buffalo Nickel NGC Pr-67
1915 Buffalo Nickel PCGS Pr-67
1921 Mercury Dime PCGS-67 FB
1796 Bust Quarter PCGS-64

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

The Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter
announces a new monthly publication
featuring Lowest Asks or Last Trades:

the CCDn ASKSHEET

With the sight-unseen market beset by controversy over declining Bids, dealers need to have more complete information now, more than ever! Responding to the requests of scores of dealers, we are pleased to provide an important new source of necessary information. Even if the sight-unseen Bid reaches unrealistically low levels, having wholesale Low Ask or Last Trade information available will allow dealers to make more informed buying and selling decisions. And the spread observed will also give a strong indication of market liquidity.

The CCDn ASKSHEET will provide subscribers with the Lowest Ask or Last Trade prices seen during the preceding month in the dealer-to-dealer, wholesale marketplace. While we are offering this publication separately from the Bluesheet, we must point out that neither publication alone will give a complete picture of current wholesale market values. In fact, every page of the ASKSHEET will contain a caveat to that effect. After all, the Lowest Ask doesn't necessarily represent market value any more than the Highest Bid. But together, they should define the parameters of wholesale market value.

Hopefully, access to these dealer-to-dealer offers to sell will help stabilize the market price of coins. Uncertainty of value in a supply/demand marketplace means that fewer transactions can occur, and that benefits neither potential buyer nor potential seller.

Subscribe now to the CCDn ASKSHEET. Compiled by the same staff that has made the name Bluesheet synonymous with accuracy, timeliness, and reliability.

Some Sight-Unseen Strengthens Trading Activity Moderately Increases

Despite the fact that Bid levels have fallen so drastically over the last several months, it now appears that numerous dealers are beginning to feel that the market's turnaround is imminent. Whether it is because a multitude of issues are at large discounts of those recent highs, or, the fact that clients feel that there may not be any better place to put their discretionary income, it looks like there are more want lists appearing everyday.

As we were going to press, one of the leading indicators of the certified market, Morgan Silver Dollars in MS-65, had jumped from $106 Bid (there were a few hundred pieces traded at this level) this last week, to $120 Bid. There are several buyers between $116 and $120 for quantities. Many dealers feel that the entire market would get a much needed lift if the Dollar market would just move slightly ahead and then remain steady for a short period of time. In addition, this scenario might keep the better issues in all series from falling any further.

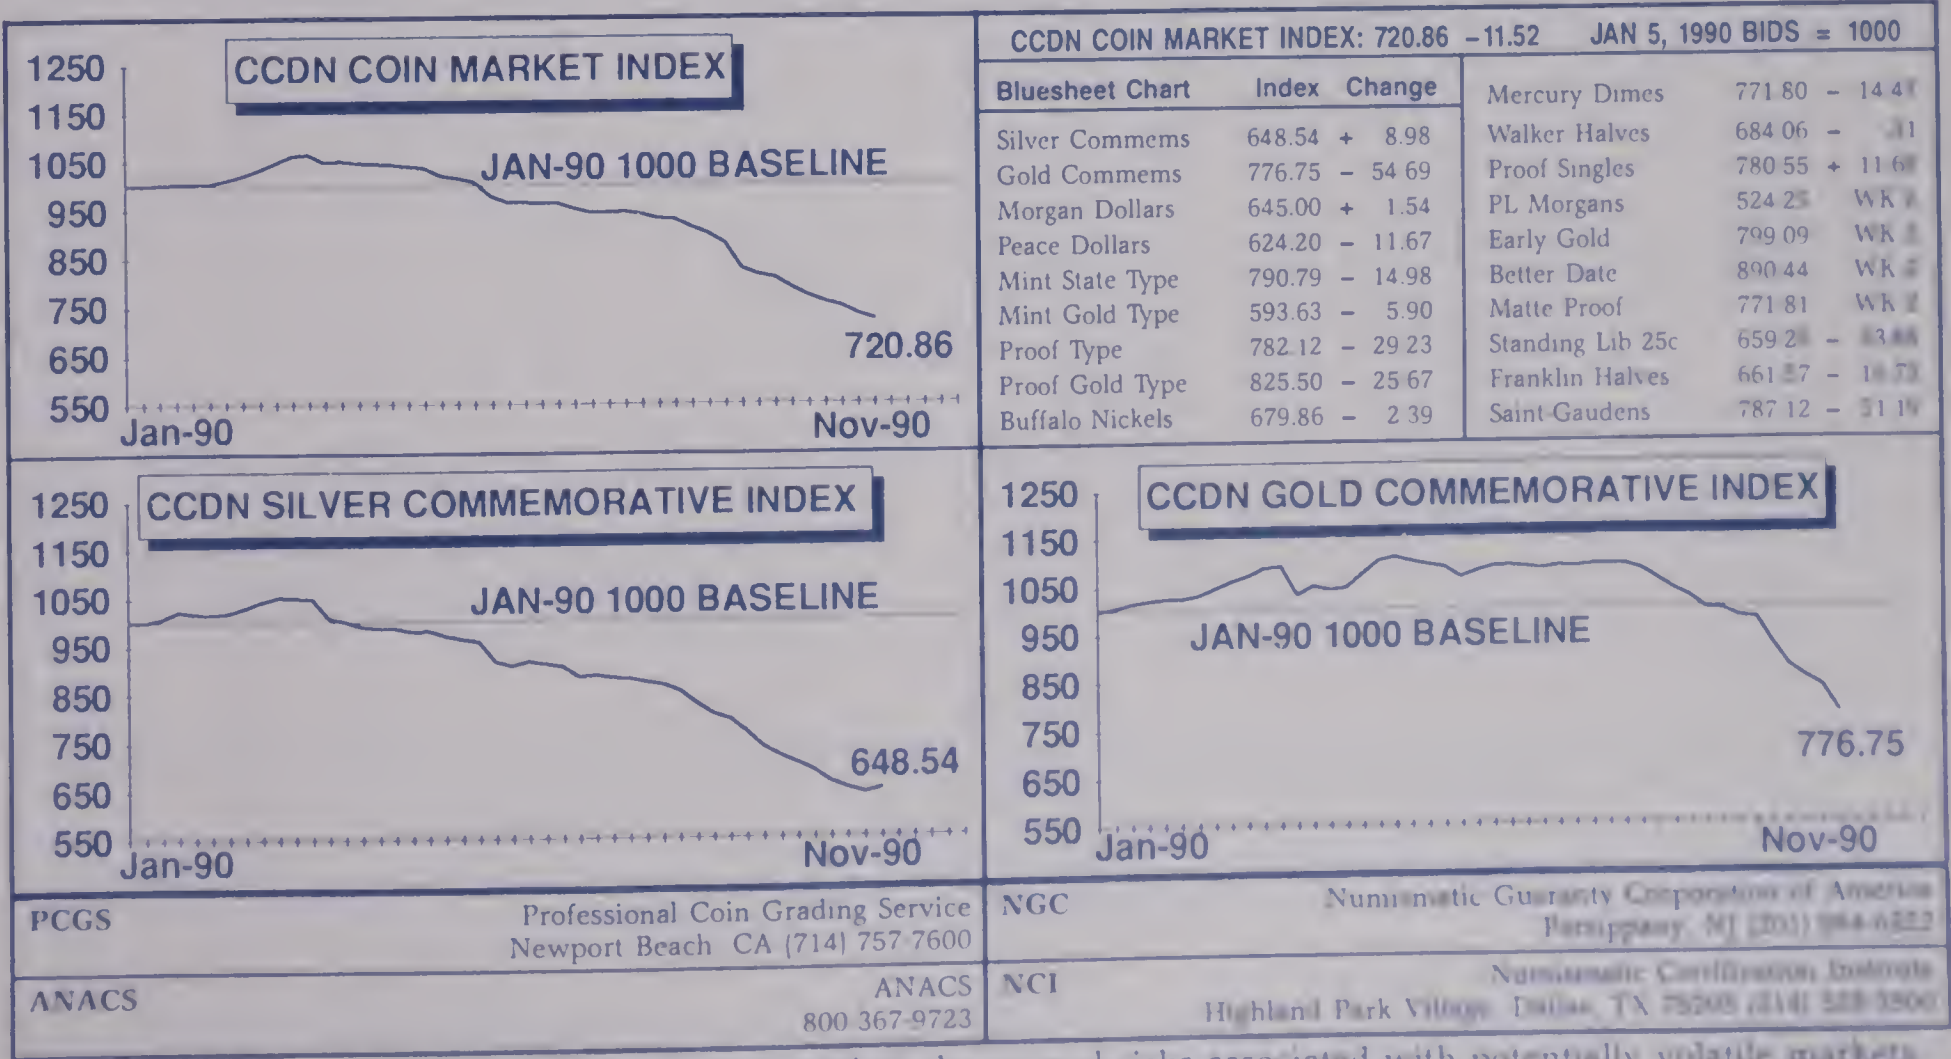

While we basically agree with the assertion that it is difficult to establish value on an item that is not currently trading, such as these better date coins, the continuing specter of dealers selling common certified coins below last week's Bid is a certain indicator of a declining segment of the market. That particular method for driving the market lower seems to have moderated somewhat this week, but it is still too early to note any trend. Overall, however, dealers are showing a little more optimism, and Bids seem a little more generous this week.

Meanwhile, sight-unseen Bids are showing other signs of renewed life. This week's charts show many examples of plus signs, both on generic and better coins. Changes in the Silver Commemoratives are modestly on the plus side with the number of changes probably more significant. This market which has recently seemed strangely out of favor, may be reaching levels where a resurgence of interest may be at hand. Advances in the lower grades would seem to support this possibility. Gold Commems are continuing to demonstrate weakness caused by several dealers offering coins at substantial discounts along with the lower buy prices being monitored.

Morgan Dollars were more solidly in the plus column this week, although sells below previous Bids continue to drive the declines. Peace Dollars are mixed, with a large number of the minuses resulting from the withdrawal of a single Type Bid in the MS-67 column. Mint State Type changes continued heavily on the minus side although we are at least seeing more plus signs. Mint State Gold continues to reflect the same uncertainties that seem to be driving the underlying bullion market. This week many of the advances were in the lower grades, while bullion fluctuated downward.

Bids on both Proof Type and Proof Gold Type demonstrated little strength, as minuses dominated the charts. Buffalo Nickel changes were about evenly divided between advances and declines. The Mercury Dimes chart was heavily on the minus side, with the plus signs concentrated in the later-date issues. The Walking Liberty Halves chart showed an equal number of plus and minus signs, with many of the advances also concentrated in the later-date issues. Proof Singles are showing some signs of improvement.

The Bluesheet

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight-unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

NumisCap™

PCGS Sets the Standard...Again!

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple-image hologram to deter counterfeiting and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

COVERT DETECTION METHODS: In addition to the above features, PCGS has also incorporated various integrated covert detection methods to ensure the overall integrity of every PCGS NumisCap™.

The Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter
announces a new monthly publication
featuring Lowest Asks or Last Trades:

the CCDn ASKSHEET

With the sight-unseen market beset by controversy over declining Bids, dealers need to have more complete information now, more than ever! Responding to the requests of scores of dealers, we are pleased to provide an important new source of necessary information. Even if the sight-unseen Bid reaches unrealistically low levels, having wholesale Low Ask or Last Trade information available will allow dealers to make more informed buying and selling decisions. And the spread observed will also give a strong indication of market liquidity.

The CCDn ASKSHEET will provide subscribers with the Lowest Ask or Last Trade prices seen during the preceding month in the dealer-to-dealer, wholesale marketplace. While we are offering this publication separately from the Bluesheet, we must point out that neither publication alone will give a complete picture of current wholesale market values. In fact, every page of the ASKSHEET will contain a caveat to that effect. After all, the Lowest Ask doesn't necessarily represent market value any more than the Highest Bid. But together, they should define the parameters of wholesale market value.

Hopefully, access to these dealer-to-dealer offers to sell will help stabilize the market price of coins. Uncertainty of value in a supply/demand marketplace means that fewer transactions can occur, and that benefits neither potential buyer nor potential seller.

Subscribe now to the CCDn ASKSHEET. Compiled by the same staff that has made the name Bluesheet synonymous with accuracy, timeliness, and reliability.

Market Activity, Bids on the Rise Positive Signs of Life in Marketplace

The certified market has been demonstrating increased strength during the last two weeks. The number of Bids has been increasing, and the strength of the Bids has been increasing; perhaps even more importantly, the number of low sells that had been driving the market lower have been decreasing. On some of the certified coins of greater rarity (and which consequently do not trade as often), there exists substantial question regarding current value. Sellers may continue to ASK very high prices, insisting that the drop in generics should have little effect on rare coins. Buyers, on the other hand, who are enjoying the fruits of their cash position, expect that most coins in the market should be available at the lower prices of a broad-based decline. Who is right? The market value might be set by the guy who blinks first. If the buyer has an anxious customer, he just may have to meet the ASK or lose the sale. And if the seller needs that cash flow, he may have to modify his expectations and chase down the high bidder. It always comes back to supply and demand.

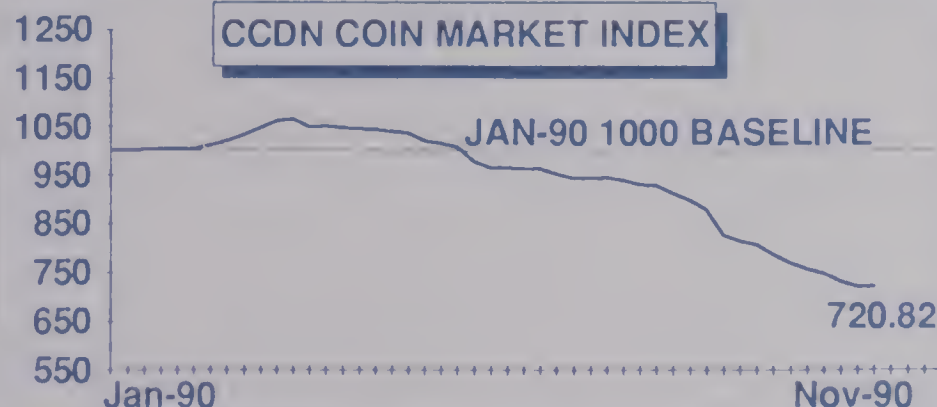

One of the more interesting aspects of an open, supply/demand marketplace is that participants get to 'vote' with their dollars. What makes one coin worth more than another? The fact that one buyer is willing to spend more money. We watched the interesting comparison that two lots in Bowers & Merena's multi-million dollar Chris Schenkel Collection auction presented. Lot #408 was a superb specimen of the 1895 Proof Morgan, graded Pr65 by Numismatic Guaranty Corporation. Now, any collector of Morgans (at any level of expertise) knows that the 1895 Proof is a rare coin. And of the 880 Proofs struck, few survive this nice. Superb quality and superb rarity combined in one wonderful coin and the bidding stopped at $23,650.

Then there was that other Morgan dollar in the auction. Lot #400: an 1886-O Morgan Dollar business strike that just happened to be in unbelievable condition. The more advanced Morgan collector understands just how rare the 1886-O is in very high grade, and how very rare it is indeed to be found NGC67 Deep Mirror Cameo Prooflike. This coin has long been a legend, not only for its superlative condition but for just how much better it is than the other 1886-Os in the marketplace. Wayne Miller popularized this specimen, calling it 'the most spectacular Morgan dollar now known.' Price realized? A stunning $231,000 - nearly ten times the final hammer on the 1895 Proof. The moral? There is rare and there is RARE, and the only way you can tell the difference is by watching the exchange of dollars.

Sight-Unseen Bids Continue Strengthening 'Lower' Value Coins Lead Advance

Coin dealers may be carrying more than just hope into the Holidays, as Sight-unseen Bids posted a major advance this week. Following on the heels of last week's positive gains, many dealers are finally starting to feel that some relief is in sight. In what is being widely interpreted as a resurgence, or at least a re-emergence of collector interest, most of the advances were on certified coins with Bids below $2000. Coming on top of the stability shown during the last three weeks for generic Morgans, the latest wave of advances has some dealers reporting more sales at higher prices. If this trend (now all of three weeks old) endures, and Bids continue to increase both in number and level, it will be interesting to see what kind of market greets the New Year FUN show.

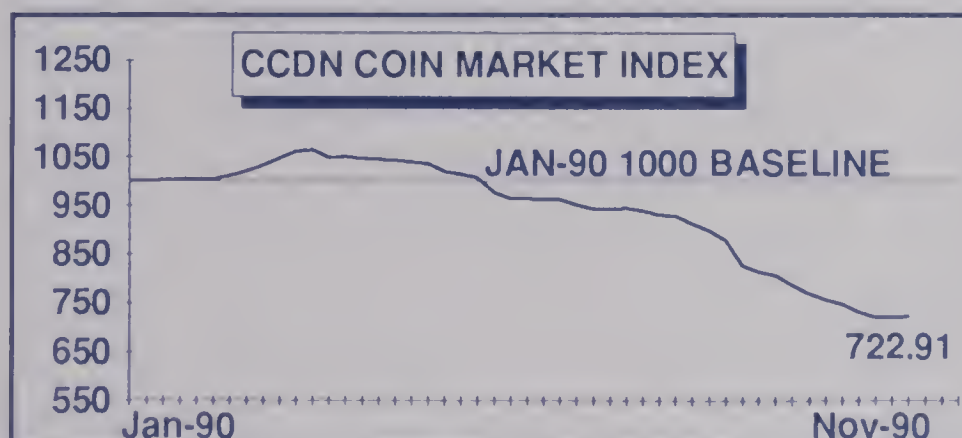

It remains to be seen if there really is a $2000 barrier, or if this latest market movement is coincidentally starting at the lower-priced end. Since the market advances of the last several years could be characterized as being driven by the high-end material (expensive coins increasing in value pulled along their less valuable counterparts), a reversal of market motivators might signify a revolution in the way dealers look at both the market and their customers. There is no question that during the "go-go" markets, it was relatively easy to sell expensive coins. Now, in a market where the customer is King (or is that cash is King?), dealers have remembered that old adage: Lower priced coins are easier to sell. There is nothing especially sophisticated about this concept; with coins valued under $2,000, there are simply more potential buyers. More potential buyers with demand means more sales, and turning inventory remains the measure of success in this inventory-based business.

The volatility of the last year has some dealers wondering about the entire concept of inventory. More than one dealer has made the 'prediction' that he 'never intends to get caught with this much high-priced inventory again.' Of course, we have heard the same prediction in previous down cycles, and each time the market recovery sweeps out the lessons of the last cycle.

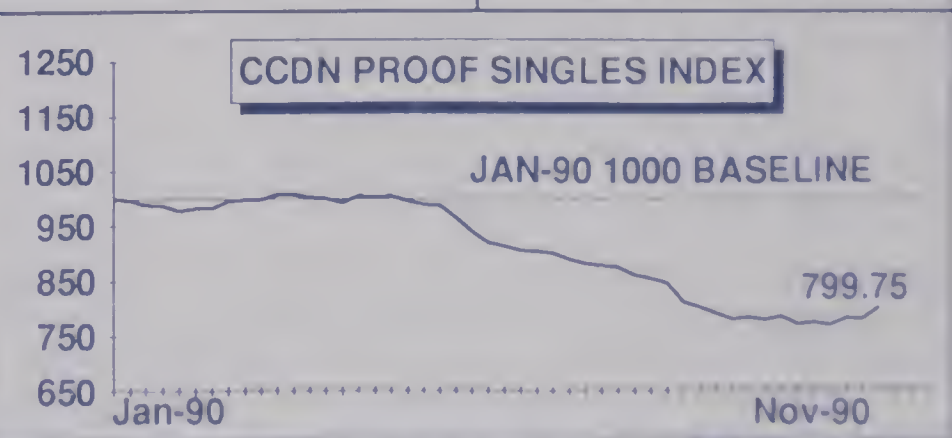

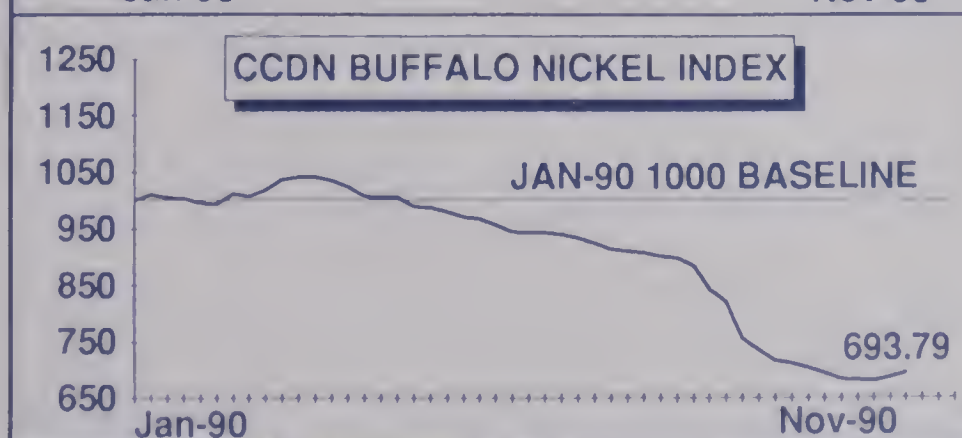

Most dealers agree that in a down market it is best to have no inventory (or very little), but a large inventory is needed to sustain the business of an up-market. This issue does question one of the basic premises of the 'old-fashioned' customer-oriented coin dealer: you need to have a wide range of material from which your customers can make choices. Is this feasible in a market that has been characterized by decreasing margins? Can a dealer hold larger, more expensive inventories with smaller profit potential on the hope of a sale? Or will a new breed of dealer acting strictly as a broker come to dominate the marketplace? There is no question that the dealers who have done best during the last several months were those who were long on customers with want lists and short on inventory.

Silver Commemoratives, which were still dipping slightly last week registered some serious interest with plus signs outnumbering minuses 3:1. Gold Commemoratives are continuing their decline, with no new market maker willing to step up and fill the void left by the former bidders. Morgan Dollars registered some substantial gains with advances in the DMPL ranks and across the board on regular business strikes. Peace Dollars are showing more life than they have in some time, but still seem to lack a champion. Mint State Type advances outnumber declines 2:1, with the pluses especially prevalent among the 'lesser uncirculateds. Mint State Gold advanced again, although it continues to avoid the vigor most dealers expect during times of economic and international uncertainty (which most would agree we are facing today).

Proof Type changes were modestly on the advancing side, with most of the pluses in the lesser uncs. Changes in Proof Gold Type which just about held even last week, were squarely in the good-news category with the advances coming in the lower priced items. Buffalo nickels are continuing last week's climb, with advances across the board from MS63 to MS67. Mercury Dimes continue to defy efforts to spark interest, while Proof singles are on the plus side.

Positive Attitudes Arrive With The Holidays Bidding Activity Increases Moderately

It's like a numismatic dream. Almost like winning a coin lottery. It appears that what dealers have been wishing for this holiday season is actually coming to reality. The market, which has been strengthening over the last month, continues to rise in the face of negative world economic uncertainties. Over the course of the past month, it seems like dealers and their customers have realized that prices (except for selected areas) may not go much lower; in order to get in on the bottom floor, they need to begin buying those discounted issues before the sellers realize that the market is heating up.

From many years of experience and participating in various market cycles, we all know that as soon as the market turns, discounted "sells" disappear. Granted, coins are still offered for sale, yet asking prices will generally rise about 20%-30%, and seem to do so overnight. Suddenly, it appears that everyone has become smarter; with the economy in a recession (for all intents and purposes), where are you likely to maintain value for your dollar? At today's Bid levels (assuming that you can locate coins for your customers at something reasonable over the current Bid), it is logical to assume that money can be made over the long haul. And for those who do not have to sell coins on a moment's notice when it is time to take profits, you can likely find buyers at over Bid levels if you have the time to shop. Despite the fact that sight-unseen Bids may not be the highest market Bid at any given time, they still provide a base level from which to begin negotiations.

Many dealers are reporting that their customers are in a position to maintain their current holdings and even add to their portfolios. This will enable them to make more money in the long run as prices begin the climb back to respectable levels in the future. Many dealers feel that it is an upward battle to interest their clients in ~~coins~~ at this time even if they are reporting positive results. Again, where else can you put your money with the possibility of making substantial profits in the future? Keep in mind that timing is the most important factor when considering selling coins. In order to maximize profits you must sell when the marketplace is buying; not when the marketplace is flooded with inventory and very little cash.

In the last couple of weeks, higher dealer Bids are indicating that they really are trying to buy coins. Instead of raising Bids by 'multiples' (creating volatility), Bidders are increasing the last Bid by a nominal amount. This indicates genuine interest without overpowering the marketplace. When a dealer jumps a Bid by a tremendous amount, it often causes a potential seller to demand a much higher price, so the sale is not consummated anyway. Value, of course, is established only when buyer and seller come to terms.

Professional Coin Grading Service, Newport Beach, CA. Established in 1986, PCGS grades and authenticates U.S. and world coins. PCGS has certified more than two million coins. All coins must be submitted through one of the 560+ authorized dealers; contact PCGS at 800-447-8848 for a list.

PCGS has more than 15 graders on its staff; each coin is examined by at least two graders before the final grade is determined. No person involved with the grading process may be active in the buying or selling of U.S. coins. Fees start at $26 or $35 depending on the type of coin, plus postage and insurance; several levels of Express service are also available. PCGS coins are sonically sealed in an inert plastic "NumisCap" holder before return to the customer.

PCGS has a cash backed Guarantee of Grade and Authenticity. PCGS has a comprehensive grading set which includes most major series. PCGS is a grading service only and does not make markets. PCGS dealers are responsible for their own making of markets in PCGS coins. PCGS publishes a monthly Population Report.

ANACS: The first authentication service (established in 1972), to which grading services were added in 1978. ANACS renders unbiased, third party grading opinions. To ensure objectivity, each coin is inspected by at least six authenticators/graders (who do not trade coins) before verification by a member of PNG. ANACS utilizes the expertise of more than 100 outside numismatists.

ANACS offers the following services for all regular issue U.S. coins & patterns: grading with a certificate displaying color photographs of the obverse and reverse; or grading and encapsulation in a plastic "Cache". Costs start at $24; a free air mail and free booklet is available from ANACS, P.O. Box 102141, Columbus, OH 43126-2141. Phone: 800-888-1861.

CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins, and assume the certified HAVE NO RESERVE assumption. ANACS Bids are listed only once each month.

NGC

Numismatic Guaranty Corporation of America. Established in 1987, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. Located in Parsippany, New Jersey. You must submit coins to NGC through authorized NGC dealers. Phone (201) 984-6222. NGC has more than 15 graders on its staff and every coin is viewed by a grading team of 3-5 members. A finalizer assembles the grades and verifies the final grade. The finalizer must not be in the buying or selling end of the coin business. The service costs a minimum of $23 plus postage and insurance. After it is graded, it is then placed in a 1-b tested (inert) hard plastic holder and sonically sealed, then returned to the customer.

NCI

Numismatic Certification Institute. Organized in June, 1984, to grade and authenticate U.S. coins. NCI guarantees the authenticity of every coin it certifies. They are located at Heritage Place, Highland Park Village, Dallas, TX 75205-2788. Phone (214) 338-9500. NCI uses three graders in a determination of a final grade, and thirty professional dealers act as consultants. Many of these dealers also market NCI coins.

Grading is based on the philosophy of James Halperin, NCI's Grading Guide, which may be reviewed with what I feel is somewhat compared to the other three services listed. Regular cost is $24 per coin. You may request a specific grade and if NCI can certify at that grade or higher, a certificate will be issued; if not, the coin will be returned ungraded with a charge of $6.00 in the regular fee. They will verify coins already in holders without removal. If requested, NCI has established grading sets for silver dollars, 1870's, 1890's, and Walking Liberty issues. Due to current trading volume, NCI coins will only be listed once a month. CCDN Bids reflect 1986 and newer certified coins.

Client or sight-unseen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids. Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

Activity Steady; Prices Edge Upward Solid Ending in Sight for "Difficult" Year

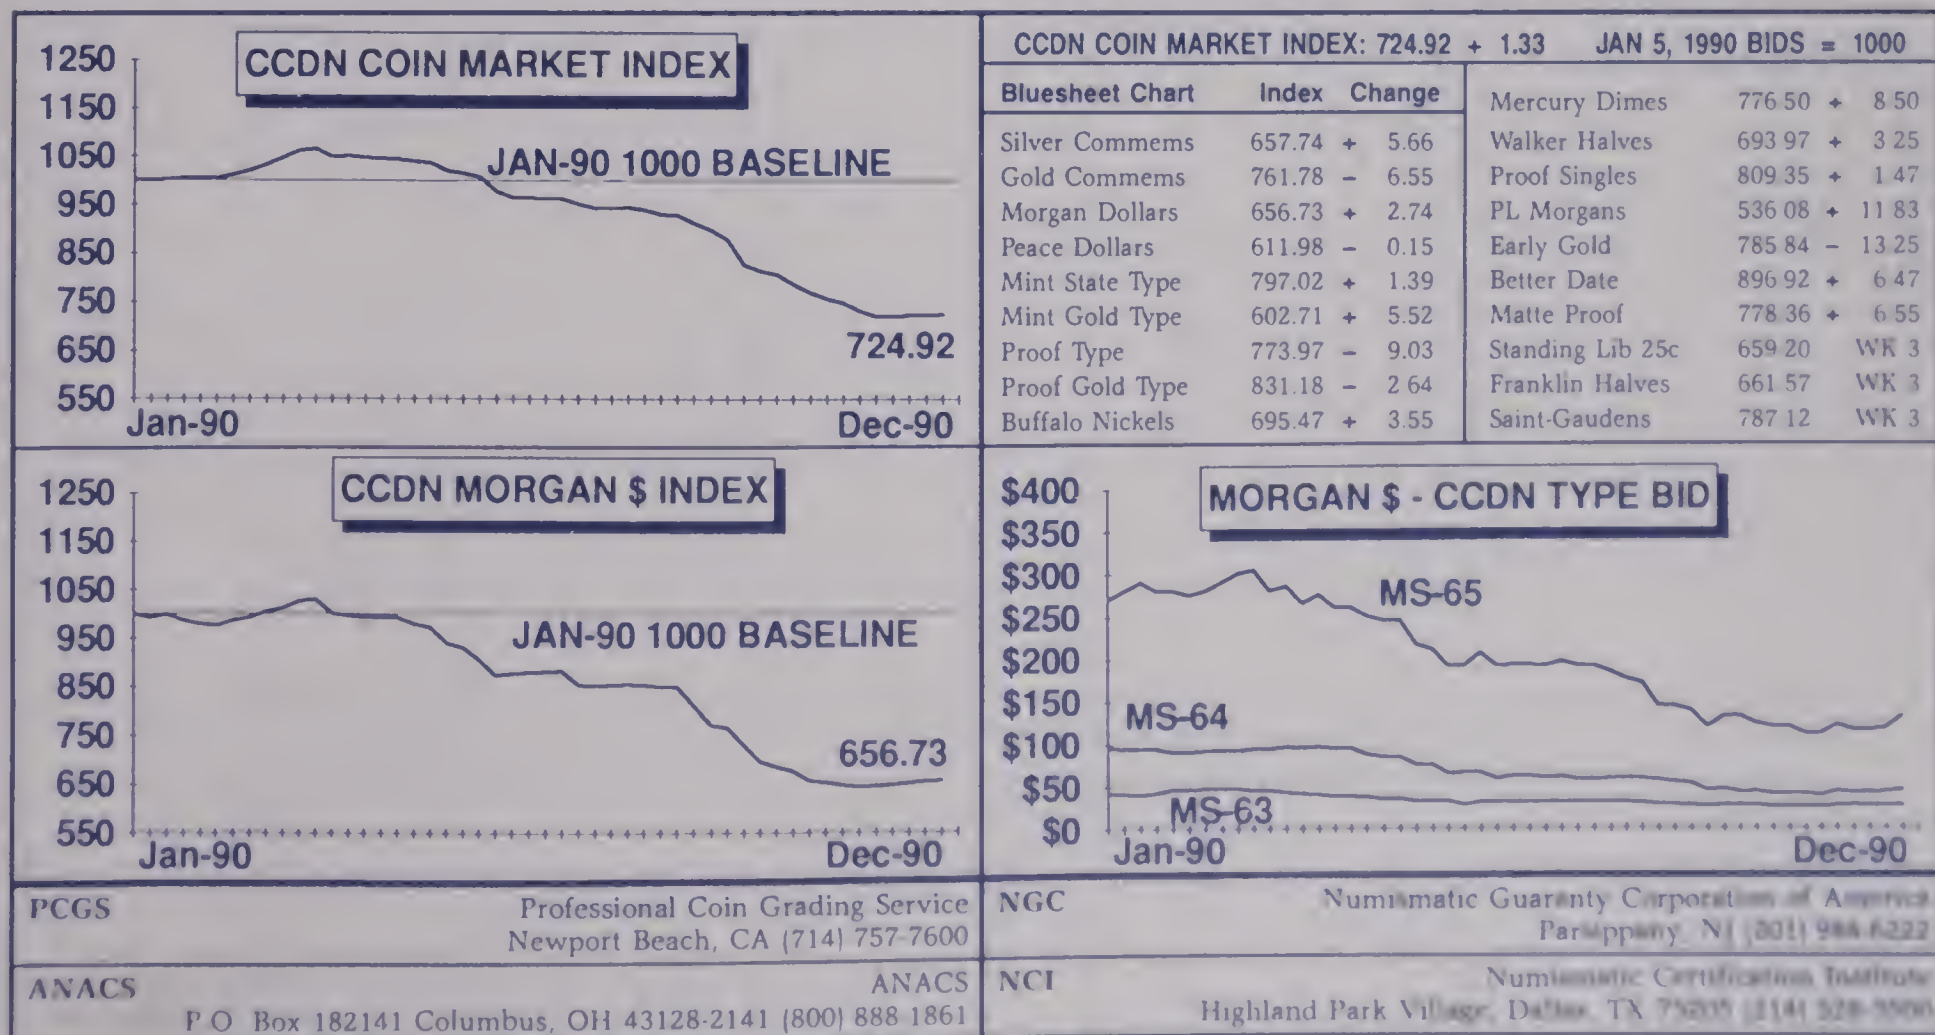

Bidding activity continues at an unseasonably high rate. While it has not been unusual for sales of Proof Sets, some generics, and other 'stocking stuffers' to pick up around the Holiday Season, it is unusual to see this amount of activity and interest in coins priced $150 to $1500. And the market is looking increasingly solid for Gold Type coins up to the $5,000 range. If the timing of this 'mini-rally' weren't extraordinary enough, coming at the end of a year that could be modestly described as "difficult" makes it somewhat miraculous.

Silver Commemoratives are continuing to show signs of a major awakening, although Gold Commem Bids are still showing the effects of insufficient demand. Morgan Dollars, especially below $2,000 are either holding or rising, and Peace Dollars may finally be starting to follow the Morgan lead. Mint State Type is solidly up, as are the Mint State Gold Types. Proof Type Bids are very active and generally strengthening, although there are still some issues undergoing adjustments. Proof Gold is stable, with both buyers and sellers hesitant at these levels. Buffalo Nickels are still a weak area, Mercury Dimes moved solidly on an increase in Generic Bid levels, and Walkers moved higher on the strength of the later date/higher grade issues. The CCDN Coin Market Index has now risen three weeks in a row.

While it may still take some time for market levels to recover the ground they lost in 1990, it is amazing how quickly dealers' spirits are buoyed by any good news in the marketplace. This is especially evident among the sellers. Less than sixty days ago, dealers holding some powerhouse coins were wondering if they could find buyers even at reduced levels; now with Bids on the 'lesser' items starting to recover, they are ratcheting their Asks up. The key to consummating a sale on better material continues to be knowing when the Bidder has made his final offer, and when it is time for the Ask to drop to meet Bid. This point becomes difficult to ascertain in a rising market especially after factoring in seller reaction to chasing down the market during the slump. Of course, knowing when to hold or fold have always been qualities that made for success in the coin market (as well as a few others that come to mind).

This raises another point. The pattern evidenced by several years of declining Bids for generic coins closely follows the waves of liquidation that have been charted for the stock market. Prices drop consolidate, drop again, and consolidate again. When liquidity becomes a problem, the next drop may seem quite excessive—but the operative word is seem. People who need to convert coins into cash seem unable to do so at acceptable levels, and are forced to hold tight or drive the market lower, or perhaps sell their least desirable material. Buyers are content to stand by until they feel the market has bottomed. There can be enormous pent-up demand that needs to be satisfied, and once they feel that the bottom has arrived, they will once more seek the coins they need and want. Enough demand at any consolidation point can make the difference between the market turning around or dropping further; and of course, that demand must always be tempered against the available supply. While dealers naturally begin to feel bullish at the first hint of a market rise, there is usually a delay in 'putting their money where their hearts are'. Even so, there are still a "very large" number of strong Bids for coins valued under $2000.

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

The Bluesheet

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight-unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

PIV (MAPK) and ERK1/2 (Fig. 4B) were also phosphorylated in cells treated with PIV or PIV + P₂U₂. These results indicate that P₂U₂ will be used mostly as a suppressor of PI3K/Akt/mTOR signaling pathway.

The Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter
announces a new monthly publication
featuring Lowest Asks or Last Trades:

the CCDn ASKSHEET

With the sight-unseen market beset by controversy over declining Bids, dealers need to have more complete information now, more than ever! Responding to the requests of scores of dealers, we are pleased to provide an important new source of necessary information. Even if the sight-unseen Bid reaches unrealistically low levels, having wholesale Low Ask or Last Trade information available will allow dealers to make more informed buying and selling decisions. And the spread observed will also give a strong indication of market liquidity.

The CCDn ASKSHEET will provide subscribers with the Lowest Ask or Last Trade prices seen during the preceding month in the dealer-to-dealer, wholesale marketplace. While we are offering this publication separately from the Bluesheet, we must point out that neither publication alone will give a complete picture of current wholesale market values. In fact, every page of the ASKSHEET will contain a caveat to that effect. After all, the Lowest Ask doesn't necessarily represent market value any more than the Highest Bid. But together, they should define the parameters of wholesale market value.

Hopefully, access to these dealer-to-dealer offers to sell will help stabilize the market price of coins. Uncertainty of value in a supply/demand marketplace means that fewer transactions can occur, and that benefits neither potential buyer nor potential seller.

Subscribe now to the CCDn ASKSHEET. Compiled by the same staff that has made the name Bluesheet synonymous with accuracy, timeliness, and reliability.

PROOFLIKE MORGAN DOLLARS

Active Market Greet's Year's End This is the Last Bluesheet for 1990

This will be the last issue of the Certified Coin Dealer newsletter for 1990. The next issue will be arriving in two weeks. The entire Bluesheet staff wishes all of our subscribers a holiday season filled with happiness, and a new year filled with prosperity.

The certified coin market is ending the year with a small rally -but one tempered by the same volatility that plagued the market during most of 1990. Inter-week trading saw Morgan Dollar bids, which had been climbing slowly and steadily during early December, suddenly accelerate to as high as $140 before dropping just as quickly. Gold, which had also been showing some strength after several lackluster months, was up strongly inter-week and found some profit-taking. After a year that witnessed some horrifying losses, dealers can hardly be 'blamed' for wanting to show a few profitable trades, and there are still plenty of plus signs.

And even with the late-week profit taking, the CCDN Coin Market Index has registered another advance -making that a month of rising Bid levels. The CMI, taking into account the more than 10,000 monthly Bid prices listed in the Bluesheet cycle, serves as an effective representation of the sight-unseen certified market. The CMI, as well as the 19 underlying chart indices, provide a quick way to evaluate the activity of the previous week - a task that really cannot be accomplished by a counting of plus or minus signs (although we still get excited by a chart full of plus signs). While Gold Comems continue to suffer from a lack of Bidding support, all of the other charts in this week's CCDN showed advances. Every professional in the market knows that the index numbers still reflect the declines witnessed since January 5, 1990 (when all the indices were set to 1000), but the current levels are a fact of life, and it is good to see them begin the long climb back.

It has become more apparent that the late year rally has not been felt uniformly by all dealers. There are still many teletype messages from dealers who are complaining that their retail sales are down substantially from year-ago levels. Other dealers are reporting quite a resurgence of buying from their customers. While we haven't noticed any particular geographical component to the question, it seems intuitive that some areas of the country are being hit harder by the recession than others. And now that sufficient bureaucrats are willing to admit to the "R-word", it almost seems that a burden has been lifted among the coin buyers - as if now that I know that we are in a recession, and that it isn't quite as bad as I had feared. I am feeling more comfortable about buying more coins at these wonderfully attractive prices.

It also seems likely that this late-year rally had the short term effect of rapidly raising prices. When sight unseen prices are falling, who is brave enough to 'step in' and try to support the declining market? But just as soon as it looks like the bottom has been reached and prices are beginning to rise again, everybody wants to be back in the game. Injecting all that demand into the marketplace that may not be fully stocked (as any dealer that could afford to hold his best coins off the market has done so) can result in some pretty dramatic price increases.

As has become a numismatic tradition, the New Year will be kicked off by the FUN Show. A few of the numismatic wags have commented that 'at least 1991 will start with some FUN'; if the market continues to build on the strengths evidenced during December, 1991 may still turn out to be more FUN than they are predicting. Certainly we have seen the market healthier and happier than it is now, but please just remember how much better it is now than most would have anticipated only three short months ago. Judging from some sneak previews we have had of upcoming auctions, there will be plenty of choice material coming onto the market. Coins will find new buyers, as they always have and dealers will be involved in the formation and dispersal of great collections.

The Bluesheet

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter reports the national market for certified coins only following the most active areas for the most active grading services. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the sight-unseen bid prices shown. In the absence of current market bids, the CCDn will formulate an approximate bid based on prior bidding levels and current market activity. Individual buy and sell prices will vary from dealer to dealer and are strictly the responsibility of the dealer, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn represents only that the bid prices listed were the highest known to us at press time.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

PLASTIC CAPSULE: PCGS was the first grading service to utilize coin encapsulation as a method of reinforcing its Guarantee of Grade & Authenticity. The new NumisCap™ coin holder from PCGS couples state-of-the-art technology with an aesthetically pleasing design to allow optimum protection for your coins. Like its predecessor, the injection molded capsule is engineered of inert optical grade plastic, and will not react with coin metals. NumisCap™ also incorporates a domed "window" for maximum clarity in viewing both obverse and reverse.

HOLOGRAM & EMBLEM: Utilizing the same technology successfully implemented by the credit card industry, PCGS's NumisCap™ incorporates a multiple-image hologram to deter counterfeiting, and to assure consumers of the integrity of each PCGS-graded coin in the marketplace. In addition, our handsome gold emblem is a symbol of the highest standards in the rare coin industry.

CERTIFICATION TAG: Perfected for this highly specialized application, the PCGS certification tag bears complete data pertinent to each coin. This information includes the date, denomination, grade, individual certification number and a bar code for each coin.

RETENTION RING: A soft plastic retention ring holds every coin snugly within the capsule to prevent the coin from turning or rattling in its case. The translucent retainer "suspends" the coin inside the NumisCap™ to allow viewing of the coin's rim, while protecting the coin from contact within the domed case.

BAR CODE: PCGS is the first grading service to introduce bar code technology to the rare coin industry. This innovative system utilizes bar code convention interleaved two of five, and provides an unprecedented method for the inventory of coins. As an added measure of security, the bar code provides for the verification and tracking of PCGS coins by their certification numbers.

STACKABILITY: Interlocking NumisCap™ components allow PCGS coins to be stacked for convenient storage.

TAMPER-RESISTANT SEAL: Once each coin is expertly graded and carefully placed in its capsule, it is ultra-sonically welded to create a tamper-resistant seal. After this step is completed, our quality control personnel examine each NumisCap™ to ensure it meets our high standards. So long as all NumisCap™ safeguards remain intact, PCGS guarantees the grade and authenticity of every coin we certify.

Certification by PCGS does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.

The Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter
announces a new monthly publication
featuring Lowest Asks or Last Trades:

the CCDn ASKSHEET

With the sight-unseen market beset by controversy over declining Bids, dealers need to have more complete information now, more than ever! Responding to the requests of scores of dealers, we are pleased to provide an important new source of necessary information. Even if the sight-unseen Bid reaches unrealistically low levels, having wholesale Low Ask or Last Trade information available will allow dealers to make more informed buying and selling decisions. And the spread observed will also give a strong indication of market liquidity.

The CCDn ASKSHEET will provide subscribers with the Lowest Ask or Last Trade prices seen during the preceding month in the dealer-to-dealer, wholesale marketplace. While we are offering this publication separately from the Bluesheet, we must point out that neither publication alone will give a complete picture of current wholesale market values. In fact, every page of the ASKSHEET will contain a caveat to that effect. After all, the Lowest Ask doesn't necessarily represent market value any more than the Highest Bid. But together, they should define the parameters of wholesale market value.

Hopefully, access to these dealer-to-dealer offers to sell will help stabilize the market price of coins. Uncertainty of value in a supply/demand marketplace means that fewer transactions can occur, and that benefits neither potential buyer nor potential seller.

Subscribe now to the CCDn ASKSHEET. Compiled by the same staff that has made the name Bluesheet synonymous with accuracy, timeliness, and reliability.

CONSIGN YOUR CERTIFIED COINS to our weekly telephone certified coin auctions and.....

reach a wide base of collectors & dealers through Legacy Auctions.

We invite you to become a consignor to our Certified Telephone Auctions. Our CONSIGNOR FEES ARE ONE OF THE LOWEST IN THE INDUSTRY AND THE AVERAGE TURN AROUND TIME IS 5-6 WEEKS. (We also allow our consignors a minimum bid at no cost for buy backs.)

Legacy offers a CASH ADVANCE OF UP TO 50% OF THE CURRENT MARKET VALUE OF YOUR CONSIGNMENT with reasonable rates.

When you consign coins to Legacy THERE IS AN ACTUAL SALES REPRESENTATIVE PROMOTING YOUR COINS TO OUR BIDDERS.

Our bidders contact their personal account representative during each weekly auction to receive PROFESSIONAL DESCRIPTIONS AND ADVICE ON EACH LOT they wish to bid on.

Because of our "PERSONALIZED ACCOUNT REPRESENTATIVES," our certified telephone auctions now have over 1000 active bidders.

This "Legacy Personal Touch" drastically REDUCES THE SIGHT UNSEEN ASPECT AND INCREASES THE HAMMER PRICE BROUGHT FOR EACH COIN LOT.

To facilitate our bidders, A COMPLETE LISTING OF OUR TELEAUCTION INVENTORY is published weekly in both Coin World and Numismatic News (Full page ads).

THOUSANDS OF COIN COLLECTORS, DEALERS AND INVESTORS that do not subscribe to these publications RECEIVE OUR WEEKLY MAILINGS.

We accept coins certified by PCGS, NGC, HALLMARK and ANACS

Give us a try: We will work hard for you to achieve maximum prices for your certified coins.
